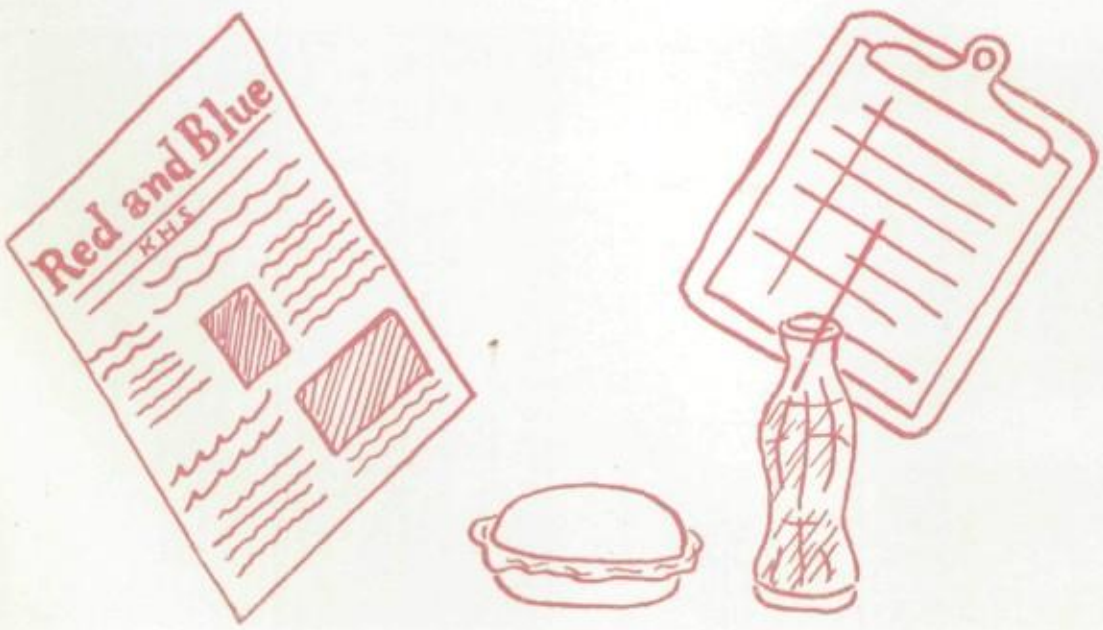
SIGNS OF TEENAGE LIFE



Cool ivy leagues! Jazzy pop records! Souped-up cars! and daffy ducktails! These signs of life tagged us as Kokomo teenagers. Because KHS was the only high school in the city, all our abundant friendship and youthful activity whirled about it.

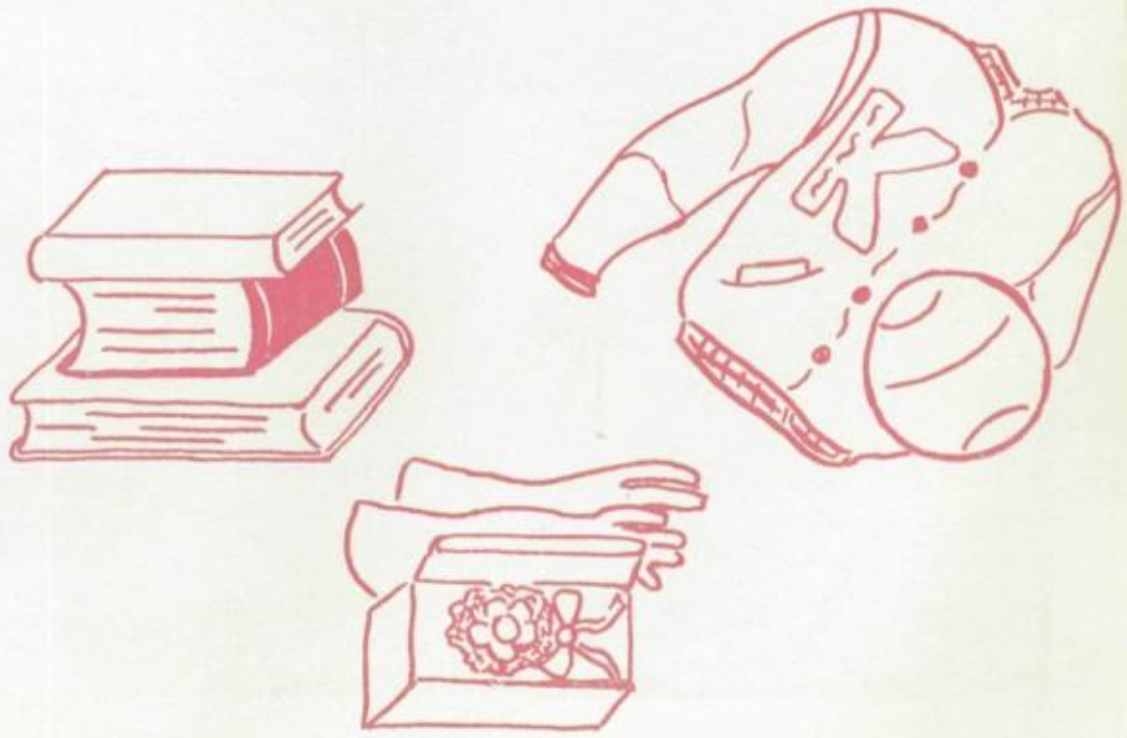
A locker full of beat-up books and contagious yawns signified that we concentrated on our four or five brain-teasing classes a day.

That work plus friends equals signs of academic life was proven by Marjorie Poynter, Barbara Mitzelfelt, Bob Coates, Chris Kellum, Joe Van Dorn, Carol Turner, Vicky Carnes, and Jerry Woodward as they gathered around a colossus of books, papers, pencils, and food.

AT KOKOMO HIGH SCHOOL

During the hurry-scurry of free periods and after school hours, we hustled to busy activity centers where we brought to life extra-special projects. While the KHS Band played a rousing "Onward Kokomo," we raced to ball games where brilliant red and blue streamers showed that the mighty Wildcats would soon appear.

Come with us as we review our 1957-58 signs of teenage life at Kokomo High School.



A DULL PENCIL AND A DOG-EARED BOOK

Physics class buzzed with activity as up front Dave Standt, Sherril White, and Bob White developed a scientific outlook at the falling body apparatus.

Loaded with books, we scurried to a variety of classes! We might spend the morning drafting, then the afternoon reading Shakespeare. The 3:30 bell often found us hustling to a teacher's room for makeup work, advice, or guidance. At nighttime, we burned the midnight oil getting our lessons at home.

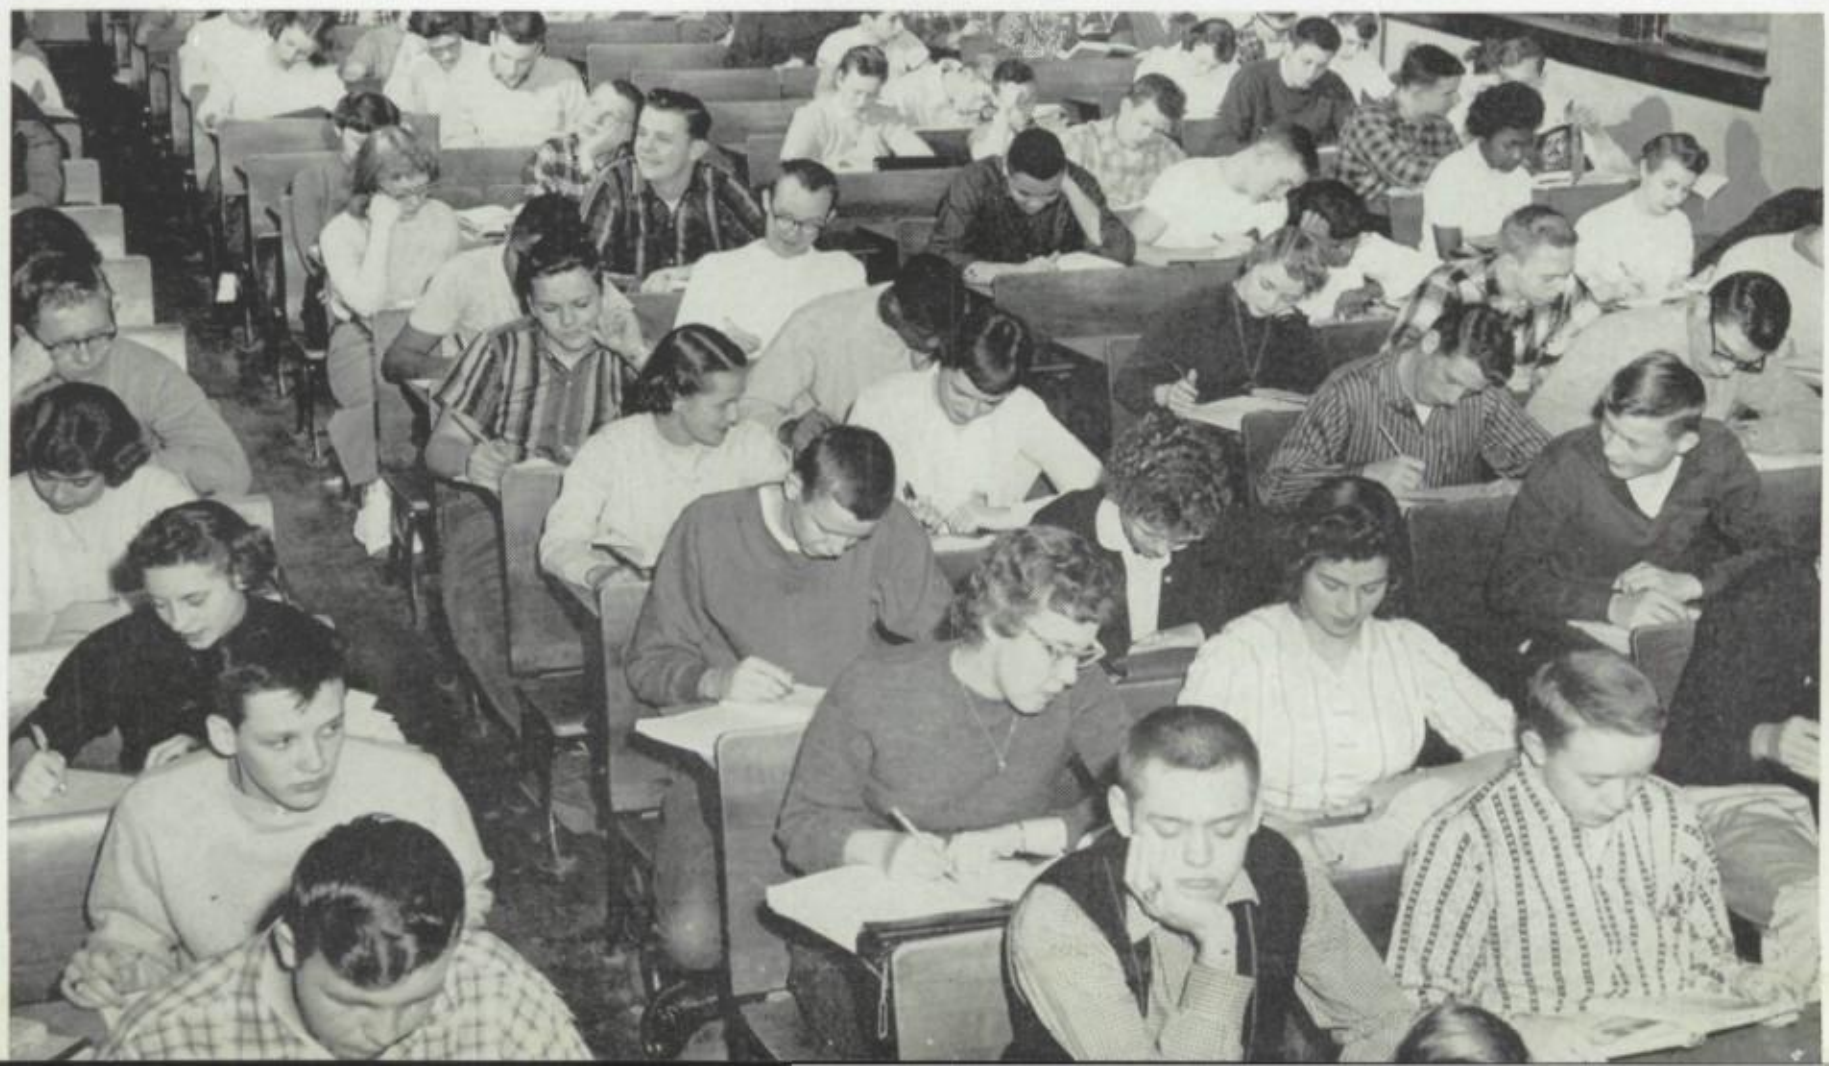
"Extra! Extra! Read all about it!" Julia Horsman passed out Red and Blue's news and views to anxiously awaiting students in roll room 100 A.

WERE SIGNS OF LESSONS WEL PREPARED

"A teacher's work is never done from early morn to setting sun!" thought Mrs. Dione Mustard as Jeanne Walton, Bob Camden, Herb Hummert, Pauletta Thatcher, Don Campbell, Bill Massingill and Louis Phipps crowded around her during the eighth period for make-up work and advice.

For thirty-six staggering weeks, we crammed, memorized, and fearfully awaited those little white cards which would rate our efforts. Because our studies were guided by a good school system, signs of intelligence shone through the maze of our hard work, with an average of 160 honor roll students each 6 weeks.

Paper wads, pennies, and paper clips had no place in this study hall as these students hammered away at daily chores.



TEACHERS, THE SIGNPOSTS TO OUR EDUCATION,

Science and music merged as Business, Industry, and Education Day found Mr. Douglas North and Mr. Joseph Ragains peering into the mysteries of radio at Delco.

Hurry! Scurry! Hither and thither! The busiest of all at KHS were our teachers. We often saw them hustling through the halls on important missions, reprimanding troublemakers in study halls, educating each of us during classes, and supervising club meetings.

Although they kept us frantic with seemingly heartless tests, our teachers were human too. They filled their spare moments with extra hobbies such as knitting, fishing, painting, or gardening, and with tireless efforts, they became the guides of our high school life.

Relaxing with her knitting, Mrs. Jane Hall rounded out a busy teaching day with her chess-playing sons, David and Donald.

BUSIED THEMSELVES WITH CLASSES, CLUBS, AND HOBBIES

Oh, it was a weary day in 108 as Mr. Kenneth Craig pensively plowed through piles of paperwork.

Phyllis Aldridge "polished the apple" for Miss Elizabeth Handley and Mr. Warren Muncie as the Girls League saluted our teachers on Apple for the Teacher Day.

"Do si do and around you go!" These peppy teachers converted the George Dunbar's home into an energetic square dancing center for friendly relaxation after school hours. Enjoying their favorite pastime were, on the left, Mrs. Alice Himelick, Mr. George Dunbar, Mr. Al Himelick, and Mrs. Betty Dunbar; on the right, Mrs. Julia Meritt, Mr. Curt Lester, Mr. Olin Meritt, and Mrs. Blanche Lester.

THE SCHOOL PROVIDED FOR MANY OF OUR NEEDS

The choir inspired us with the Christmas spirit as they proceeded down the auditorium aisle blending talented voices in "O Come All Ye Faithful.."

Standing in the halls chatting with our friends, we sleepily began our day at KHS. Interesting convos sometimes diverted our attention from studying during roll room time. In the five minutes between classes, we hurried to our lockers, exchanged friendly notes, and skidded off again shouting, "Meet you at the flagpole for lunch!" The efficient cafeteria cooked mouth-watering food for ravenous students, and the bookstore filled our lockers with academic supplies. This youthful friendship, good food, and gay fun endeared our school to us.

The flu bug brought an epidemic of absentees whose return filled the front hall initiating Mr. Roland Dubois into a dean's rigor at KHS.

GIVING US THE BEST OF FOODS, FRIENDS, AND FUN.

Old Mr. Sun highlighed a picture of gregarious students as we congregated at our favorite meeting place before yellow school busses and hot rods whisked us home.

Crushed in and panting for air, we fought our way to the front of the bookstore for the supplies to add to our already stuffed lockers.

A ROARING CROWD AND A FIGHTING SPIRIT

"The team got in a huddle, the captain lowered his head," and our spirited basketball team gathered get-up and go to win another well-played game.

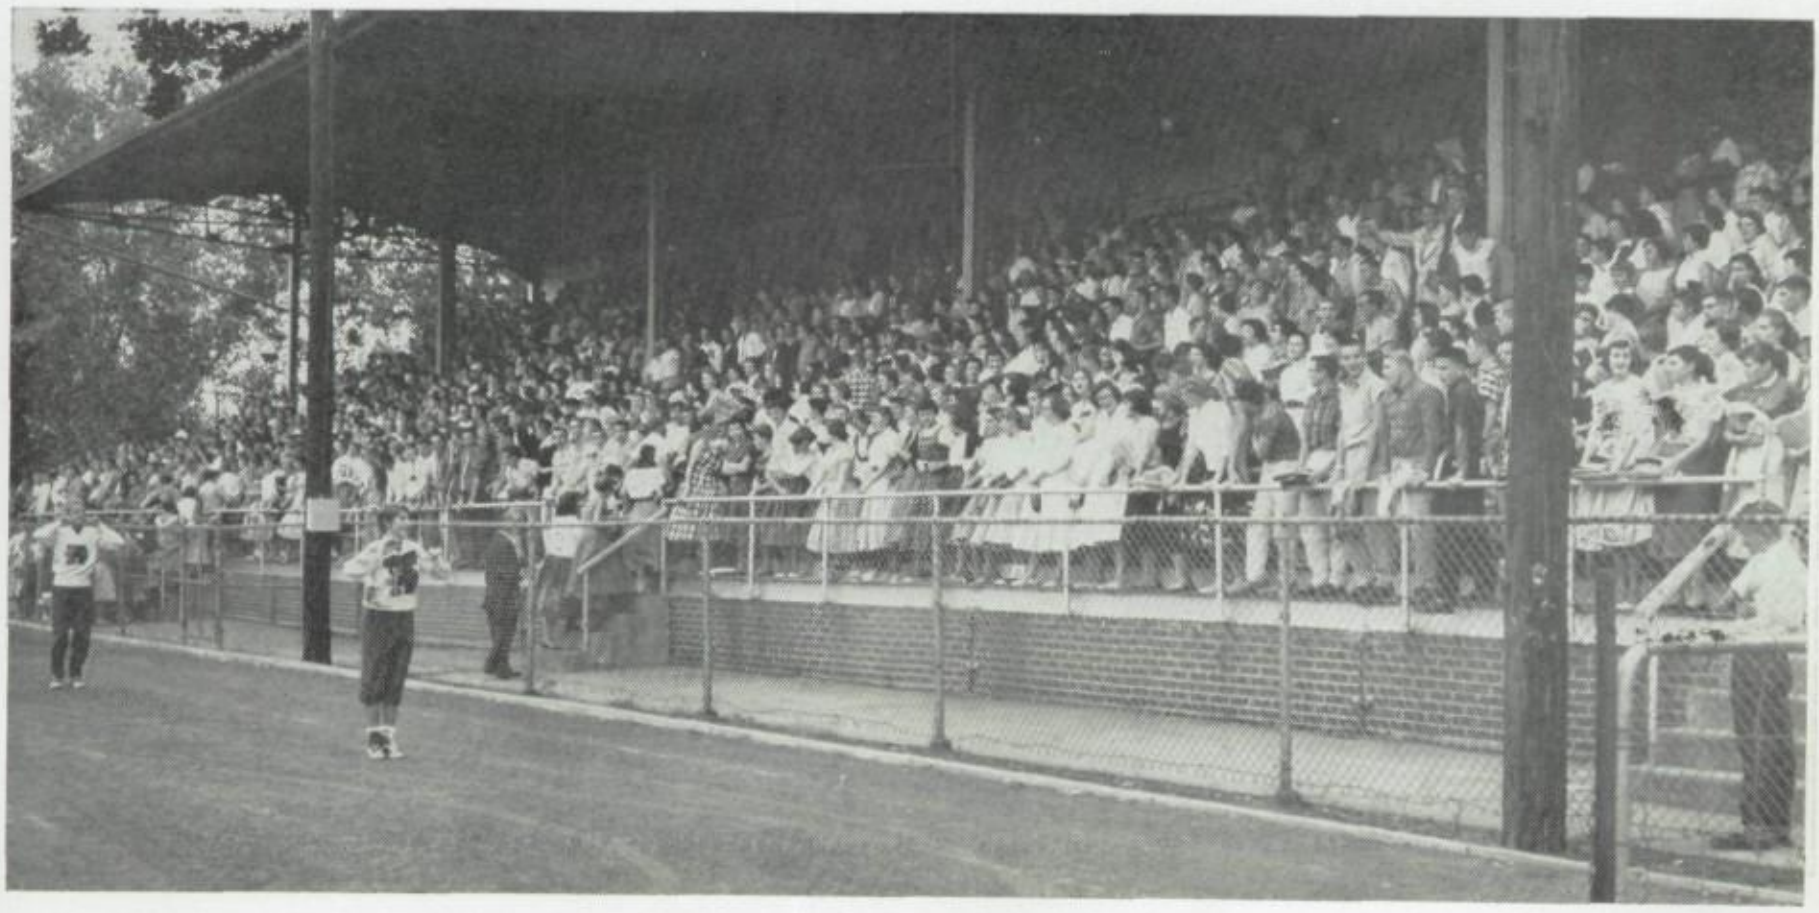
Skilled technique and lightning speed downed the opponent as a Kat grappler wrestled towards another victory.

SIGNIFIED THE KOKOMO WILDCATS

"We want the Wildcats!" whooped the yell group every Friday night as school spirit transformed into abounding energy. With butterflies of excitement, we waited for each game when our school's skilled players entertained us royally. We were proud of these boys' fighting spirit signified by an undefeated football squad, a spunky basketball team, plus all the other athletes' energetic efforts. With a great sports record for the 1957-58 season, these ambitious boys placed Kokomo high in state acclaim.

Triumphantly, Fred Granson, E. J. Meissnest, Dick Wood, Russell Bergman, and Lynn Davenport roughhoused in the locker room after a victorious encounter.

Kautz field echoed with our hoarse yells as we spurred our Kats on to victory during a powerful pep session.



THE NIGHTS SPARKLED WITH ENTERTAINMENT AS

Stars twinkled as we hustled and bustled about preparing for one of three annual dances! In frilly formals and classy sports coats, we dreamily waltzed away the hours with our favorite belle or beau. After a breathtaking coronation ceremony, we joined arms in a grand, grand march. If our toes weren't mashed and we weren't exhausted, we cruised off to a noisy party or an out-of-town rendezvous. These exciting nights thrilled us and freshened our daily routine.

Linda Moss, Geraldine Meyers, Doris Webster, and Kay Mitchell turned back the centuries as they painted the medieval banner of the Autumn Prom theme.

After tapping his head with an enchanted sword, Phyllis Aldridge, Girls' League President, declared Fred Preston "The Knight to Remember" of the Autumn Prom.

WE GAVE PRODUCTIONS AND WALTZED TILL MIDNIGHT

"Wait for me! You can't see those Indian dancing girls without me along!" shouts Marilyn Williams portraying Mrs. Fix as she makes a running jump, bloomers and all, after Detective Fix in Around the World in 80 Days.

"There's no business like show biz!" The KHS stage buzzed with activity as talented students worked towards perfection in creating characters, dancing, singing, and designing. Spotlights burned brightly while Dramatic Club whirled us Around the World in 80 Days, Hullabaloo transported us to gay Broadway, and the Thespians, Seniors, and Choir members held us in awe with remarkable showmanship. "Life on the wicked stage" provided us with enjoyable work, highlighted our night life, and satisfied our productive talents.

"Singing in the Rain" didn't dampen these energetic performer's spirits. Virginia Miller, Barbara Bitner, Becky Heltzel, and Alice Burt's spirits soared as they danced at the sparkling Hullabaloo premiere.

SPICY PIZZA TASTED WONDERFUL

The spicy aroma of tempting pizza lured Mable Shelley, Jan Roe, Becky Hamilton, and Sue Stratford straight to the hot oven.

The YWCA was jammed to the hilt after every home football and basketball game as we rocked and rolled extra energy off.

AFTER A WEEK OF HARD WORK

Hoboes feasted two by two

On milk, carrots, and mulligan stew!

Decked out fit to kill, Bob Coates, Carol Finley, Roger Thurston, Janet Fawcett, Dick Kitchell, and Carolyn Allsop enjoyed an evening of lackadaisical life.

After five days of studying, we hit the weekends with a boisterous explosion. "Open house at Janet's!" and "Hullabaloo ticket sold here," reverberated throughout the halls. "See you at the drive-in," we shouted, scurrying to Koky's Corner, to aftergame dances, and on dates. While tasty pizza spiced up our parties that came a dime a dozen, music whirled our world around wherever we went. These memorable weekends prepared us for that next groggy Monday morning.

That cool bop with the smooth beat rocked out of local record shops as crazy kats and kittens like Dick Beck, Mary Davis, Barbara Mitzelfelt, and Jeanne Mason bought the latest platters.

WITH OUR EXPECTATIONS OF HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETED

As we seniors looked back on the massive front door, we visualized all the friends and fun the past four years had afforded us.

WE PEER INTO THE FUTURE WITH A FRESH OUTLOOK

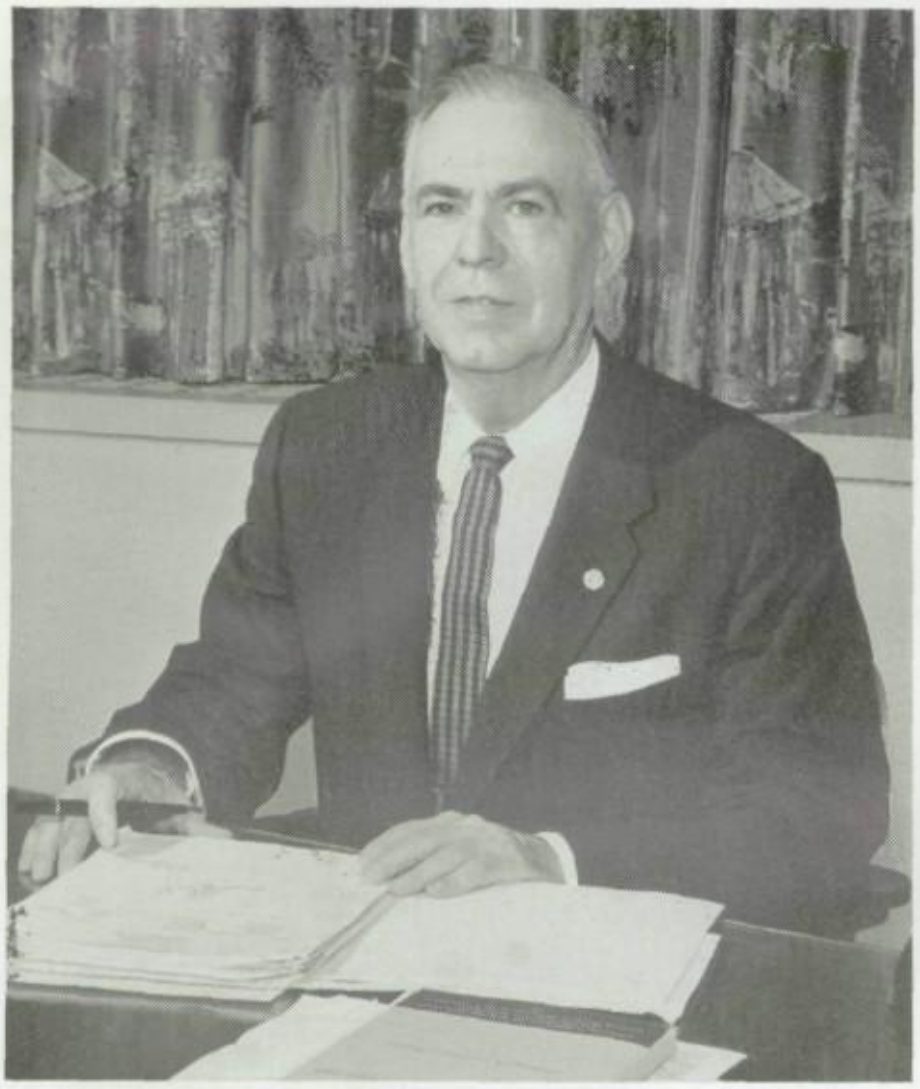
"Gosh, look at those senior cords!" Recognize yourself? We found our senior year breathless with leadership, respectful freshmen glances, and heavy responsibilities. As we gaze back upon our KHS building, the old school door signifies to us the wonderful friends and experiences which have passed within our school's domain. But the beckoning future intrigues us, and we look to the wide, wide world with many expectations. We hope that we can stand tall in the world and repay you for everything, Kokomo High.

"Thanks for the use of your face," grinned Mr. Evart Adams after snapping Karen Yenna's senior picture; and the Sargasso says, "Thanks for the use of your camera, Mr. Adams."

We senior Wazoo Kats ripped and rioted at our last basketball blast, the Has-Been, Will-Be game. In coon tails and straw hats, Mary Dempsey, Sharon Hall, Sandy Beck, Diane Lushin, Brenda Magealson, Sandy Gardineer, Kay Hankins, and Ron Wines cheered their senior team on to victory.

CLASSES

AN EFFICIENT SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION



Every day Mr. O. M. Swihart faced many important school problems. After carefully studying the information, he made the final decision.

The Chief Engineer of Kokomo's school system was Mr. O. M. Swihart. His long title, superintendent of Kokomo-Center Township Consolidated School Corporation, places on him the responsibility for keeping the whole system in tip-top shape.

He investigated and recommended applicants for teaching vacancies, planned an all-over budget, and helped solve administrative problems. Mr. Swihart worked also with the School Board in the improvement and expansion of the school system.

Mr. Swihart, who served as President of the Indiana State Teachers Association last year, received his A.B. degree at Manchester College, his M.S. in education from Indiana University, and did graduate work at Columbia University.

Doctor Walter Kent, the Assistant Superintendent of Curriculum and Instruction, handled mostly the problems of what and how we will teach in Kokomo.

It is fitting that the only Doctor residing at KHS acted as "Physician of Kokomo Education". Taking the pulses of Kokomo classes, he analyzed their ailments and attributes. Some new courses and new ideas were Dr. Kent's prescription for the improvement of the school city as he charted the course toward better education.

From De Pauw University he received his B.A. degree; at Michigan University he earned an A.M. degree; and he received his doctorate from Indiana University.

Dr. Walter Kent endeavored to improve the school curriculum as he checked his statistics before making a report to the school board.

PROVIDED THE KEYS TO EDUCATION

The School Board's good organization of the Kokomo-Center Township Schools paved the way to our successful school system. The seven School Board members, working with our school superintendent, Mr. O. M. Swihart, acted as the chief organizers in establishing a sound introduction into education for Kokomo youngsters.

Many important matters were brought to their judgment and guidance—determining teachers' salaries, budgeting school funds, planning the school term, and instituting such school improvements as the new elementary schools which have recently sprung up.

Mrs. Katharyn Fell presided over this board whose other competent members were Mr. L. O. Williams, secretary; Mr. Max Comer; Mr. J. O. Finley, treasurer; Mr. C. O. Simpson; Mr. Merrell A. Brunk; and Mr. Charles Hathaway. The City Council appointed five of the board members while a Superior Court judge and Circuit Court judge chose the other two.

These seven people through devoting a great deal of their time and efforts have become the Seven Keys which unlock the doors to Kokomo Education.

They spent long hours developing and improving the school system.

Top Row: Mrs. Kathryn Fell, Mr. Merrell Brunk, Mr. Otho Simpson.

UNDER THESE GUIDING HANDS

Mr. O. I. Farmer was responsible for our smooth functioning high school. He always found time to answer questions and to help students with their problems.

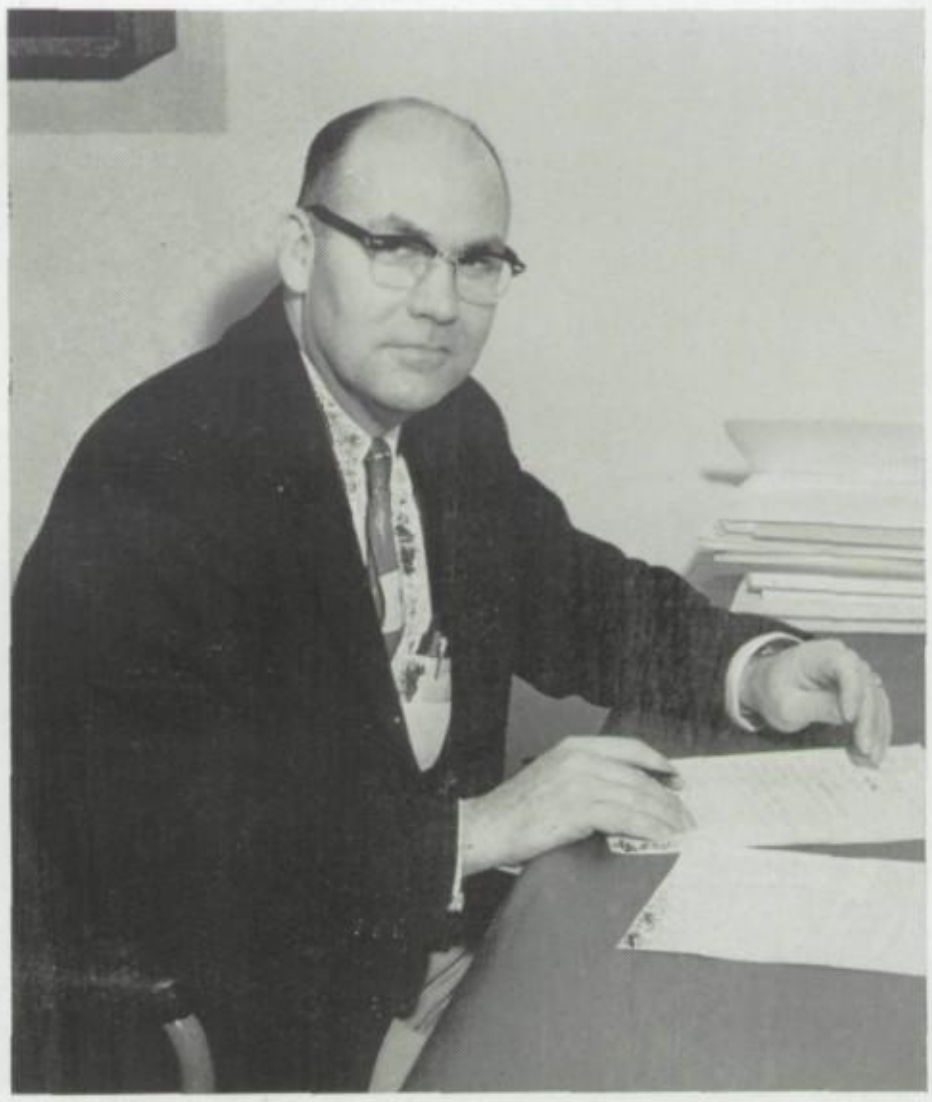
Organizer! Supervisor! Ambassador to the public! Administrator! Mr. O. I. Farmer, principal of our own KHS, had to be four persons at once during the busy school year. With a bachelor's degree in social studies and a master's degree in education, he is certainly well-equipped for his tough job.

Planning programs and schedules, seeing that all plans were carried out successfully, checking classes, ironing out difficulties, talking with parents, directing all activities, and overseeing all school records left Mr. Farmer only a few spare moments.

Always calm and collected, Mr. Farmer graciously answered students' questions and offered his help. We are certainly grateful to Mr. Farmer who, though burdened with many school responsibilities, always came up with a smile.

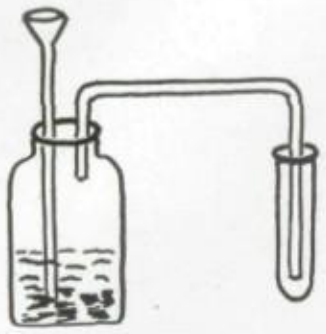
One of the busiest men around KHS was found in 207 scoring tests, planning our programs, and looking out for our future. Mr. Kenneth Crook, Assistant Principal and Guidance Director, acquired his B.S. degree at Manchester College and his M.A. at Ball State Teachers College.

In his administrative duties he helped to plan the curriculum for the year. The testing program, Freshman Day, College Night, and the Scholarship Committee fell under his auspices as Guidance Director. If we were in doubt about plans for the future, Mr. Crook was the man we saw.



Our testing program was under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Crook. The results from the various aptitude and scholarship tests were recorded on permanent records and sent to colleges of the student's choice.

SCIENTIFIC APPETITES IN THE GEOPHYSICAL YEAR



Biology provided a springboard into science as Mr. John B. Riggs, Mr. Walter Cross, and Mr. Charles Franklin brought out inside information on the inhabitants of the earth with laboratory dissections, and they added versatility to the course with sunny field trips. Mr. Haven Jones and Mr. Douglas North oriented future Steinmetzes in beginning chemistry, while Mr. Lory Coy taught the senior physics students how the elements of the earth and the universe reacted. Through the efforts of the science teachers, directed by Mr. Lee Dixon, science became an understandable reality instead of a vast realm of unknown and unexplainable phenomena.

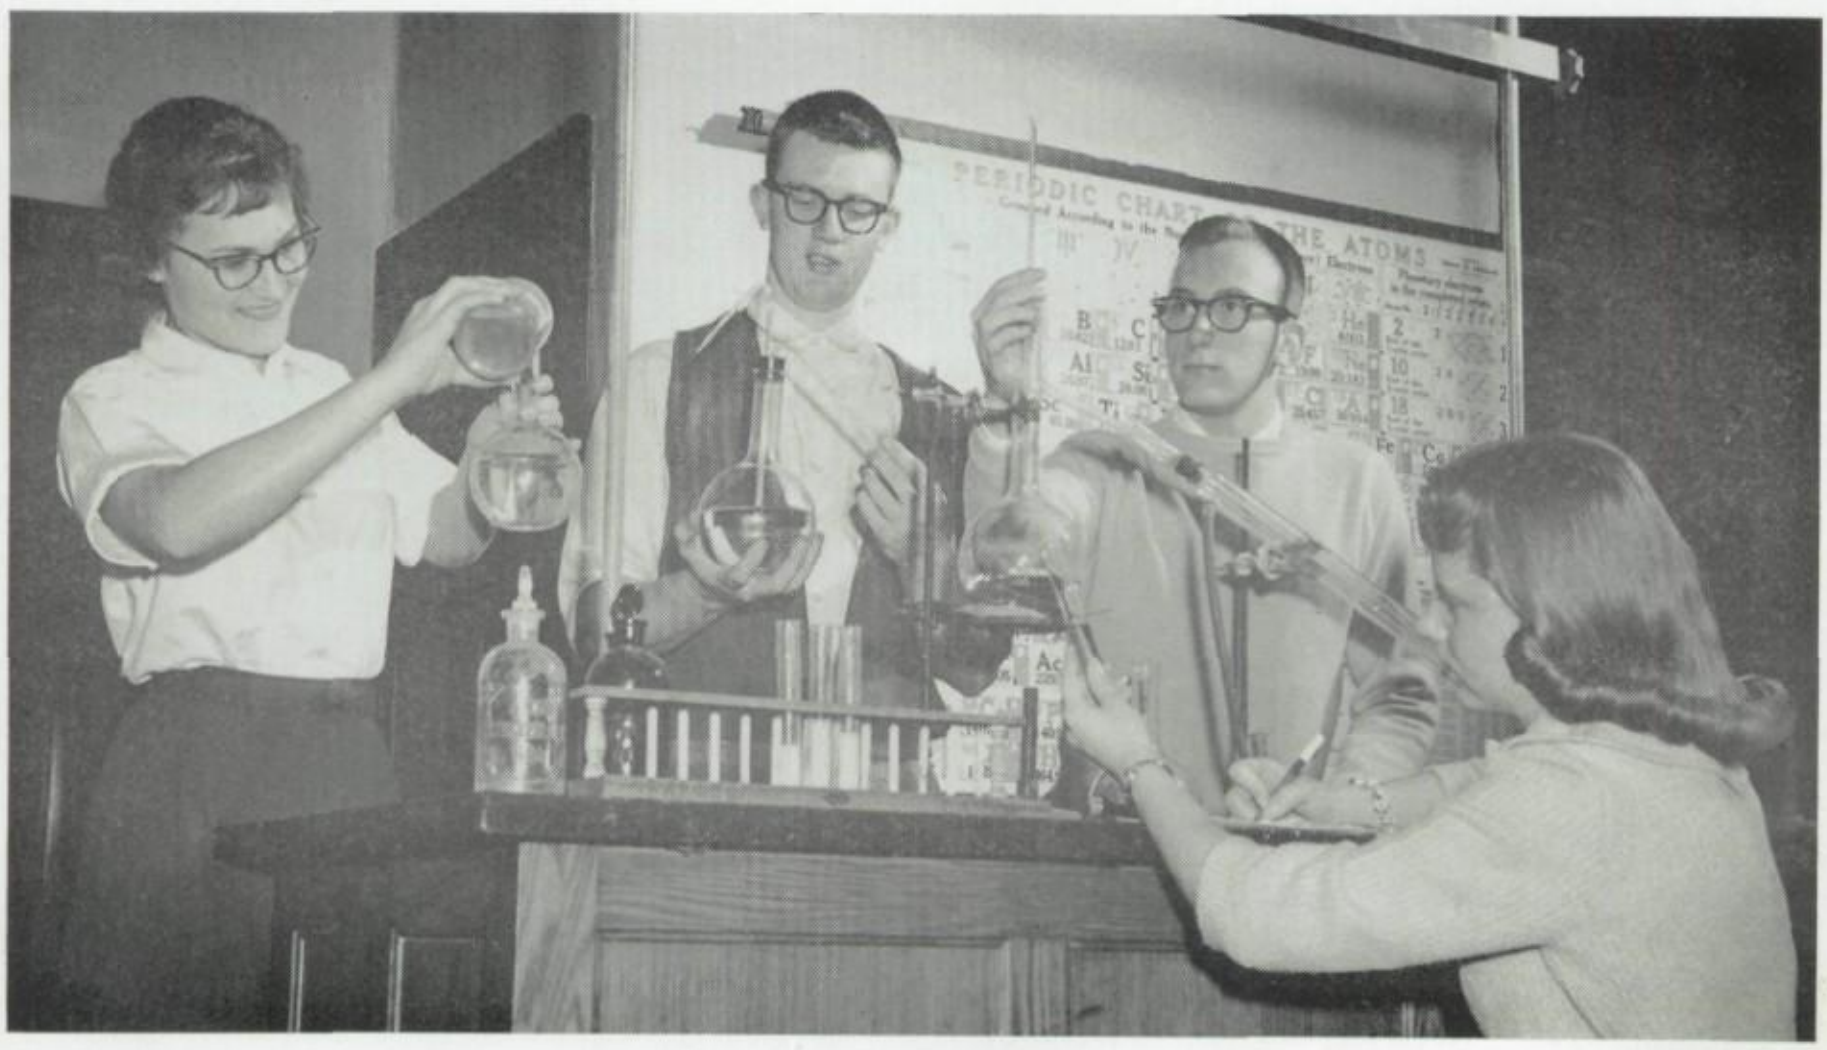
JOHN B. RIGGS, B. S., M. S., Purdue University; Science; Science Club.

HAVENS JONES, A. B., Beloit College; A. M., University of Chicago; Science; Science Club; Social Committee.

DOUGLAS L. NORTH, A. B., M. S., Indiana University; Science, Mathematics; Hullabaloo.

JAMES O. TAPPAN, B. S., Ball State Teachers College; Science, Mathematics; Hall Supervisor.

Scientific seniors busily worked on chemistry experiments. Shielia Flick carefully poured sulfuric acid into a flask while David Tigrett and John Hutto intently checked this distillation equipment. Carolyn Davis wrote down the results of her sulfur test.



Latin anyone? Alen Kennedy, Phoebe Poppas, and Charlotte Trueblood illustrated for the class the working of various Roman structurers with replicas.

FOREIGNERS BEGAN TO INTRIGUE US AS WE

Los coloridos trajes espanoles prenderon la atencion de las muchachas. (Colorful Spanish costumes caught the attention of the girls.) Carol King and Merita Stevenson related the history of Spanish customs and traditions. Shirley Lacey had a question about the costumes.

Spanish and Latin students were comparing ideas. Judy Irwin and Richard Girton explained the use of this Roman movable tower while Barbara Carlson displayed her sparkling Spanish dance costume for Romans Elizabeth Waggaman and Linda Hawkins.

UNRAVELED MYSTERIES OF THEIR LANGUAGES

The Romance languages, French and Spanish, plus the basic tongue, Latin, didn't always seem so romantic when KHS students had to memorize long vocabulary lists and verb conjugations.

Mr. Urban Steckler's French students translated short dialogues like Around the World in Eighty Days and struggled to achieve true French accents with authentically trilled r's.

A new faculty member, Mr. Edwin Low, led aspiring senors and senoritas in writing Spanish essays and translating stories.

In 215, Mrs. Elsie Seagrave's room, Latin leaped alive as scholars wrote newspapers and Christmas cards in Caesar's own tongue and translated Greek and Roman myths.

Foreign intrigue crept into KHS as every language student studied histories, cultures, and customs of such countries as France, Spain, and Italy.

ELSIE T. SEAGRAVE, A. B., DePauw University; Latin; Dramatic Club, Thespian Society.

RICHARD ABNEY, B. S., Indiana University; English, Latin; Student Council.

ELLEN GARRISON, A. B., Ball State Teachers College; English, Spanish.

M. EDWIN LOW, A. B., Indiana State Teachers College; Spanish, English

URBAN F. STECKLER, A. B., Evansville College; M. S., Indiana University; French, English, Driver Education.

NEW FIELDS OF ENDEAVOR – ART AND

A master piece was every art students' desire! Sketches and paintings of the future artists were exhibited in the showcase on the first floor.2 Barney Fetterhoff helped Mike Volikas arrange examples of his work in the showcase.

Aspiring Van Goghs, Grandma Moses, and Rembrandts sketched designs for their future careers in the eight semesters of art taught by Miss Bernice McKinley in 103.

These artists dabbled in ink, oils, water colors, and pastels, preserving their inspirations in animal and flower studies, figure drawings, portraits, and perspective drawings.

Greg Harmon, Marta Heckman, Barney Fetterhoff, and Larry Patmore each entered his masterpiece in the National Scholastic Art Contest displayed at L. S. Ayres, and Larry's gold-key exhibit reached the large contest at New York.

While spring fever bloomed in May, the KHS walls also flowered with all the colorful works that these artists had drawn during the year.

Ronnie Roe had a tip for other members of his art class, Nancy Carnes, Trudy Miller, Ronnie Goudy, Virginia Miller, Bonnie Holden, Susan Mangel, Peggy Gentry, Joyce Teeters, and Gloria Waldmann.

BERNICE McKINLEY, Graduate, Chicago Applied Arts School; Fine Arts; Palette Club: Social Committee.

MUSIC – BROADENED OUR VIEWS OF LIFE

Music, music, music flowed from 315 as Miss Mary A. Fausset directed a choral group. Her many choral activities include directing the KHS choir, glee clubs, and mixed chorus.

MARY A. FAUSSET, B. M., DePauw University; Choral Music.

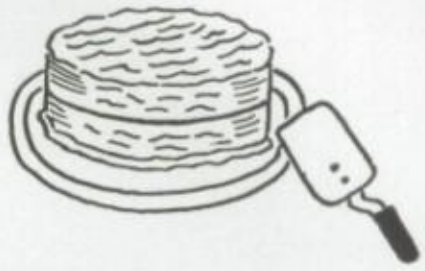
JOSEPH M. RAGAINS, A. B., Indiana Central College; M. A., Jordan College of Music, Butler University; Head, Music Department; Band.

Sweet sopranos and booming basses could be heard as Miss Mary A. Fausset lead thirteen glee clubs a week Do Re Me-ing up the musical scale and vocalizing their favorite melodies. From the glee clubs, talented crooners were singled out for the KHS Choir.

Music appreciation and music history classes taught by Mr. Joseph Ragains analyzed recorded suites and symphonies. They studied rhythm and scales, the lives of famous composers, and the history and uses of the brasses, woodwinds, strings, and percussion instruments.

These music classes were invaluable electives because they offered more technical knowledge to the musically inclined and augumented the regular student's education.

"Make mine music," echoed the voices of music history and music appreciation students. Rhythms of music from around the world were analyzed and enjoyed in class. Mary Beth Webb has a question for Mr. Joseph Ragains about a Christmas album.



The hostesses with the mostest in KHS were the girls enrolled in Social Living classes. A Japanese welcome was extended as Mrs. Ray (Ayako) Barnett demonstrated the proper Japanese method of serving tea by pouring Carolyn Allsop a cup. Marilyn Williams, Barbara Sosbe, Judy Sanburn, and Nancy Utterback seemed intrigued.

SEWING, COOKING, AND NURSING

The way to a man's heart is right straight through his stomach and didn't the home economics class know it! Tantalizing odors drifted forth from 115 to remind all students that the girls were busy preparing to be future homemakers.

Cooking classes baked tasty tidbits to be served at simple meals, wedding receptions, and full course meals. The beautiful homemaking room in a red, green, and gray color scheme designed by the girls served as a family dining room

ARCILLE OVERTON, B. S., Ball State Teachers College; Home Economics Director; Future Nurses; Booster Committee, Critic Teacher.

BERNICE DOODY, B. S., University of Illinois; Home Economics.

LOUIE BLANCHE GREENLEE, B. S., Ball State Teachers College; Home Economics; Junior Class.

PAULINE OREM, A. B., Earlham College; Home Economics; Cafeteria Director.

Visions of Paris, New York, and London flashed through the minds of KHS fashion designers. Mary Vaughn watched in the mirror while Sondra Conwell fitted her skirt. Janet Sweeney dreamed of a modeling career as Lillian Whitefield measured the hem. Other girls were busily working on their special projects.

CHALLENGED FUTURE HOMEMAKERS

for the KHS cooks. If Duncan Hines had visited KHS, he surely would have approved of the girls' kitchen techniques and their delectable dishes.

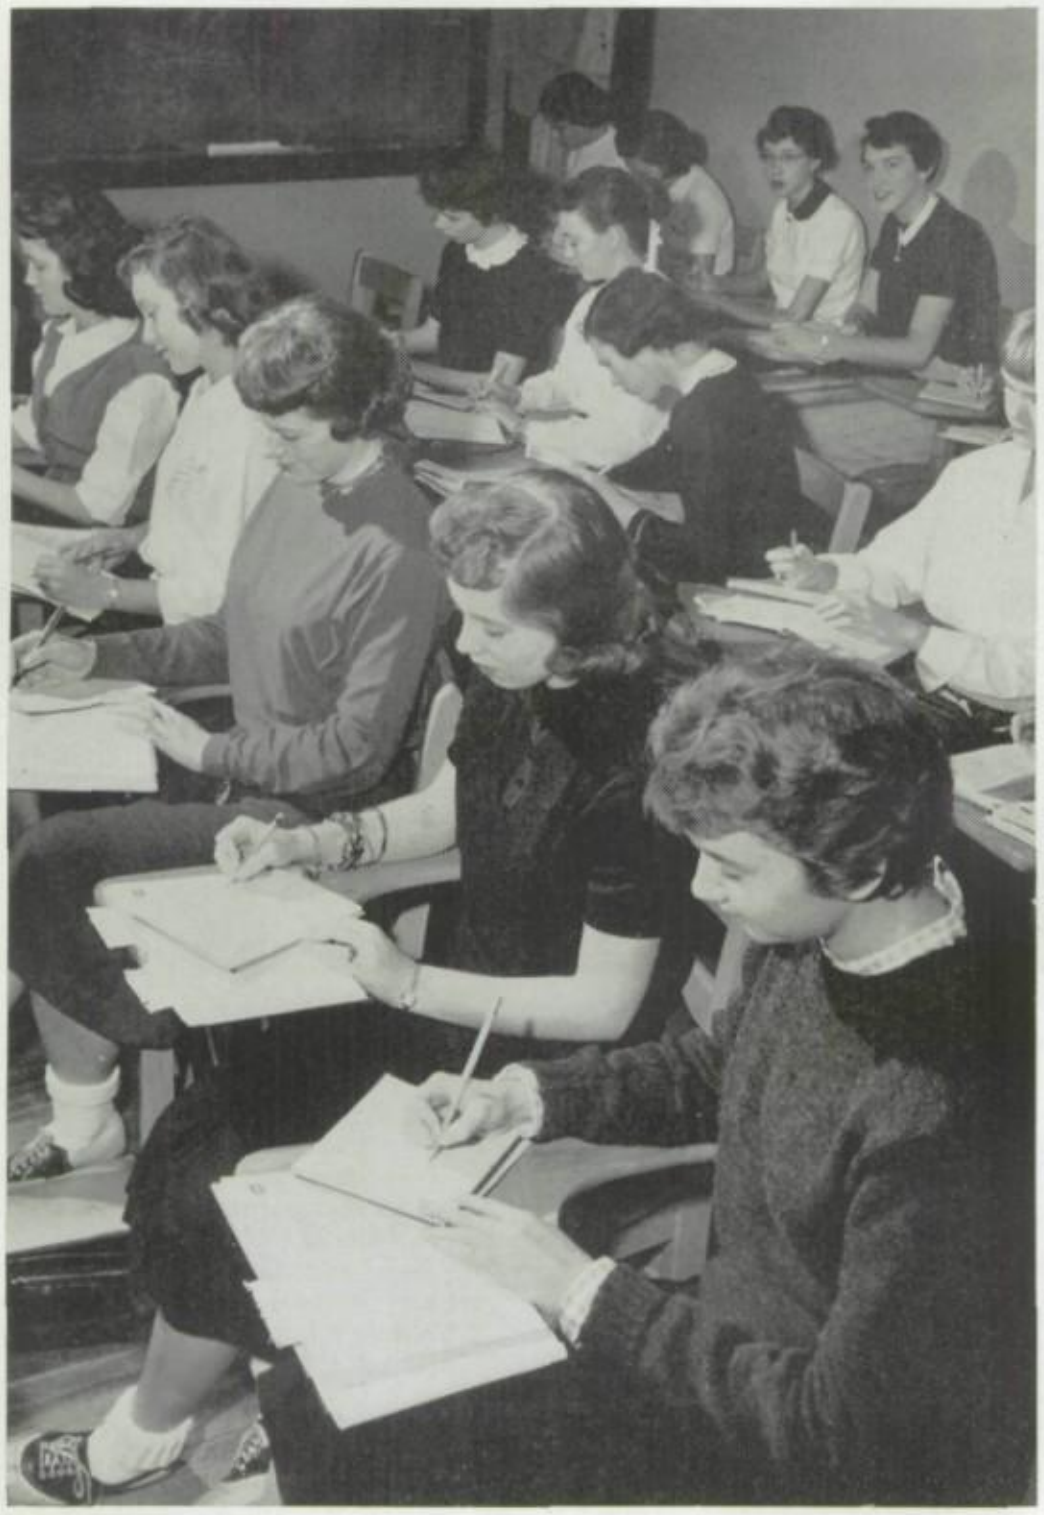
Fashion and Vogue had nothing over KHS seamstresses who stitched cloth into million dollar blouses, skirts, dresses, and suits.

The course also offered training in child care, home nursing, and family problems.

Mrs. Arcille Overton, heading the department with Mrs. Louis Blanche Greenlee, Miss Bernice Doody, and Mrs. Pauline Orem, produced a fine Home Economics program.

Pulse! Temperature! These were familiar words as girls in Home Nursing classes learned the fundamental nursing skills. Practicing taking of the pulse are Sharon Heiny, Colleen McKee, Shirley Jones, Mary McClain and Shirley Pherson. In instances of emergency the blanket has several useful purposes. Carolyn Walker and Georgann Mustard brushed up on these uses as they helped Nonna Krause adjust a blanket robe.

WE STUDIED AND PRACTICED TO BE



The foreign "lingo" of the business world attracted many future secretaries. Becky Turley, Marilyn Halmage, Judy Snyder, Sue Williams, Pat Herron and other shorthand students found that practice was the byword for perfection in class.

Through a fresh new program, Distributive Education, the Commercial Department projected its students into the business and professional world. Students earned while they learned salesmanship and developed skill in meeting the public at local stores.

Meanwhile, back at the school, peck, peck, peck went the typewriters; scratch, scratch, scratch scribbled the pencils of the shorthand class; and click, click, click worked students' brains as teachers transcribed paragraphs, read debits and credits, and taught a new language called Business English.

RUSSELL BRATTON, B. S., Central Normal College; M. S., Indiana University; Head, Commercial Department; Coach, Freshman Football, Assistant Basketball, Golf; Health and Recreation Committee.

STANLEY R. DUNCAN, B. A., Ball State Teachers College; English, Commercial; Speech Club, Auditorium Committee.

WILLIAM A. GATLIN, B. S., M. S., Indiana University; Commercial.

ROBERT W. HAMILTON, B. S., M. S., Butler University; Commercial; Head, Football, Wrestling, Tennis Coach.

THE BACKBONE OF THE BUSINESS WORLD

ISABELLA LEGG, B. S., M. A., Ball State Teachers College; Commercial, Counselor; Scholarship, School Service Committees.

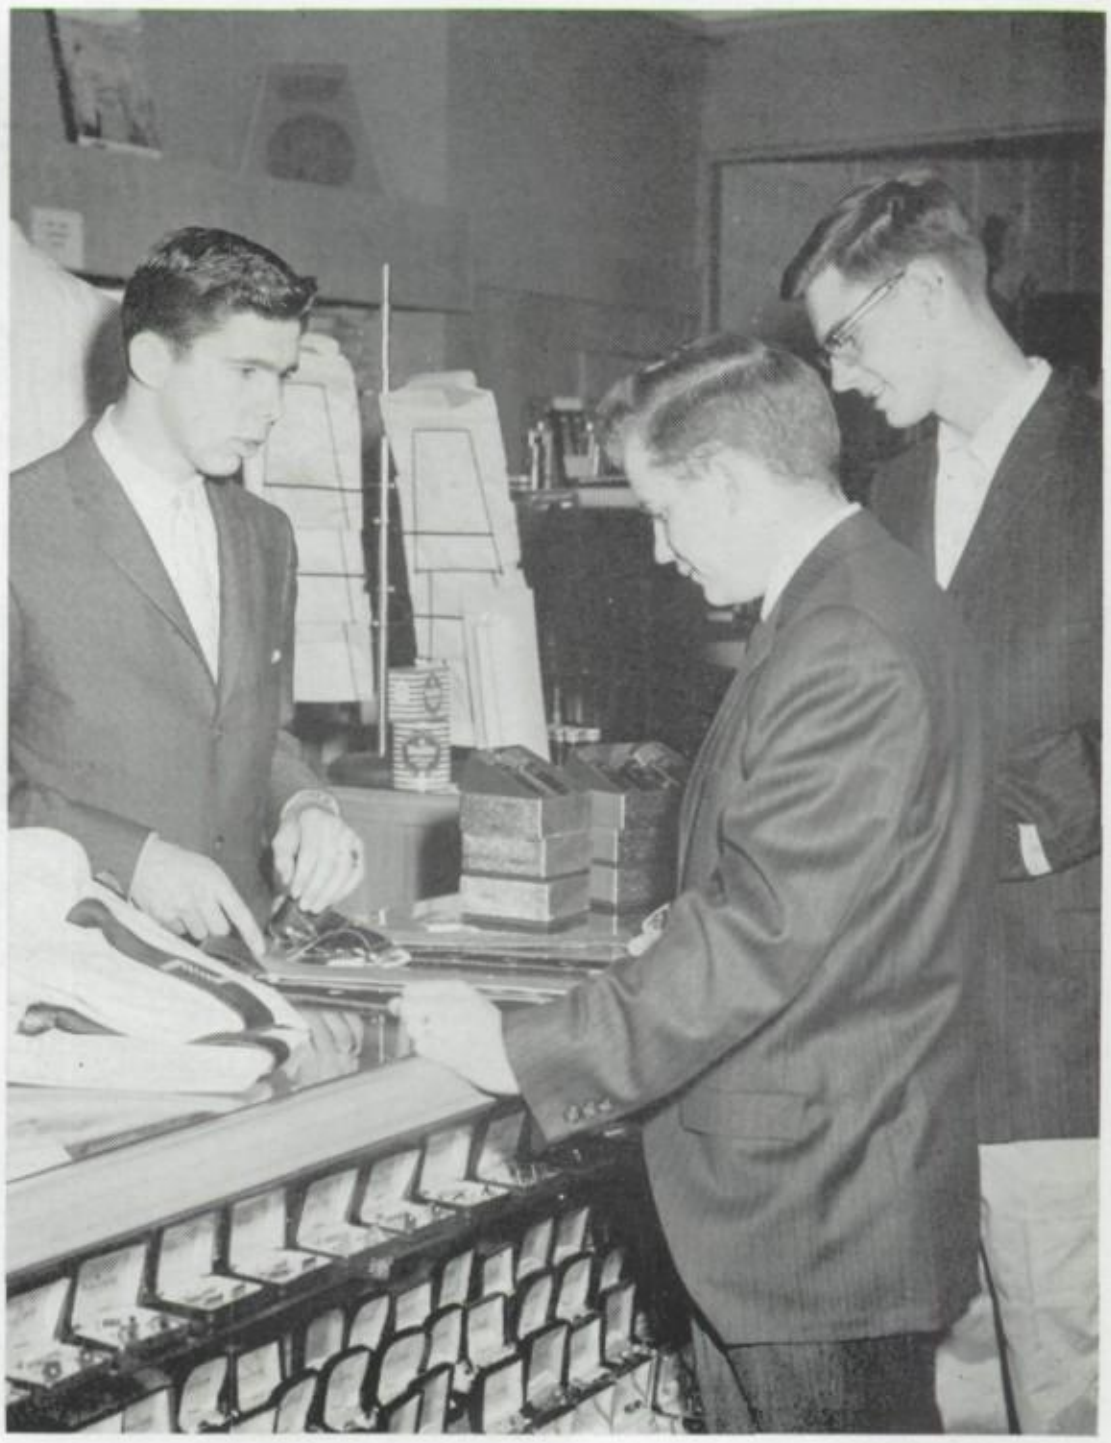
PEGGY McCLUNG, B. S., Ball State Teachers College; Commercial; Future Teachers Club.

MATTHEW F. PAVLICK, A. B., Marshall College; M. A., University of Pittsburgh; Commercial; Scholarship Committee.

KENNETH W. WARTHEN, B. S., Central Normal College; M. A., Ball State Teachers College; Commercial; Distributive Education.

GERALDINE FLANAGAN PHILAPY, A. B., Ball State Teachers College; Commercial; Junior Class.

Skills in salesmanship were developed by students enrolled in Distributive Education. Bob Summers practiced his salesmanship on Mr. Dick Jackson and Rodney Wolfcale.



Future typists pecked towards sixty words a minute and shorthand students proved their ability after filling notebook after notebook of signs and figures which looked like hieroglyphics to untrained students.

The Commerical department, under Mr. Russell Bratton, produced students who would become the backbone of future business.

Cooperation was the keyword in mechanics as Charles Brinson, Gail McMain, Ronnie Good, and Lorce Hinson mechanized, tested, and checked this car to put it in good shape.

PAMPERING PISTONS AND PERFECTING PERSPECTIVE

Deeply engrossed in a drafting project were Joedy Russell, Dave Miller, Richard Lee Smith, Ken Summers, and Ernest Hurst. With T-Squares and technique, these future engineers drafted themselves into various construction skills.

A touch of Indian lore was found in Arts and Crafts class as the students created pottery, jewelry, and leather goods. Kenneth Duggan, Bill Gillam, Bill Grose, Steve Lushin, Harlem Sheely, Doyan Eades, Pauline Canady, Franklin Jones, Ronnie Howard, Dave Lawson, Ralph Howard, and Carolyn Harper added the final special touches to their creative work.

VOCATIONAL CRAFTSMEN LEARNED SKILLS FIRST HAND

A brisk walk or a mad rush across the school brought many of the students to the Haworth Vocational Building, where Mr. A. A. Himelick and his staff converted green recruits into skilled mechanics and craftsmen.

Specialized industrial skills and general knowledge were acquired through the vocational course in a dual program depending on the student's desire for learning and future aspirations.

Although some students sought to develop skill in one particular subject and studied it for only one period a day, juniors and seniors who planned to enter industry after high school graduation studied technical subjects which required as many as three periods a day.

DON BARTLETT, B. S., Indiana State Teachers College; Mathematics; Bible Club.

A. A. HIMELICK, B. S., Ball State Teachers College; M. S., Stout State College; Director of Vocational and Adult Education.

REX CLINGENPEEL, B. S., Ball State Teachers College; Electronics.

THE BUZZ OF SAWS AND THE WHIR OF MACHINES

Hundreds of parts go into a radio. Paul LeMasters, Bill Wallace, Jerry Fivecoate, and Bill Thomison examined the diagrams while other students repaired the radios.

Chests, tables, what-nots, and other furniture were all made in wood-shop. Busily at work on their projects were Oliver Rosselot, Joe Roswog, and Donald Phillips.

As we strolled through our vocational building, we saw boys up to their elbows in grease perfecting projects or learning the ins and outs of the internal combustion engine as they gained practical experience in repairing cars. We saw members of arts and crafts class with clay covered hands molding pottery and boys in drafting class seriously intent upon constructing lines and angles with their T-squares. The hum of machines echoed through the halls from machine shop, wood shop, and printing. Some students were studying related math and physical science while other students were repairing the wires and waves of radio.

EARL K. HOOVER, B. S., Purdue University; Vocational; Bible Club.

WILSON F. CORN, B. S., Oakland City College; M. A., Ball State Teachers College; Woodshop.

MAURICE B. MANN, B. S., Indiana University; M. A., Ball State Teachers College; Arts and Crafts; Public Relations Committee.

RESOUNDED THROUGH THE HALLS OF THE BUILDING

EVERETT MASON, B. S., Indiana State Teachers College: Printing.

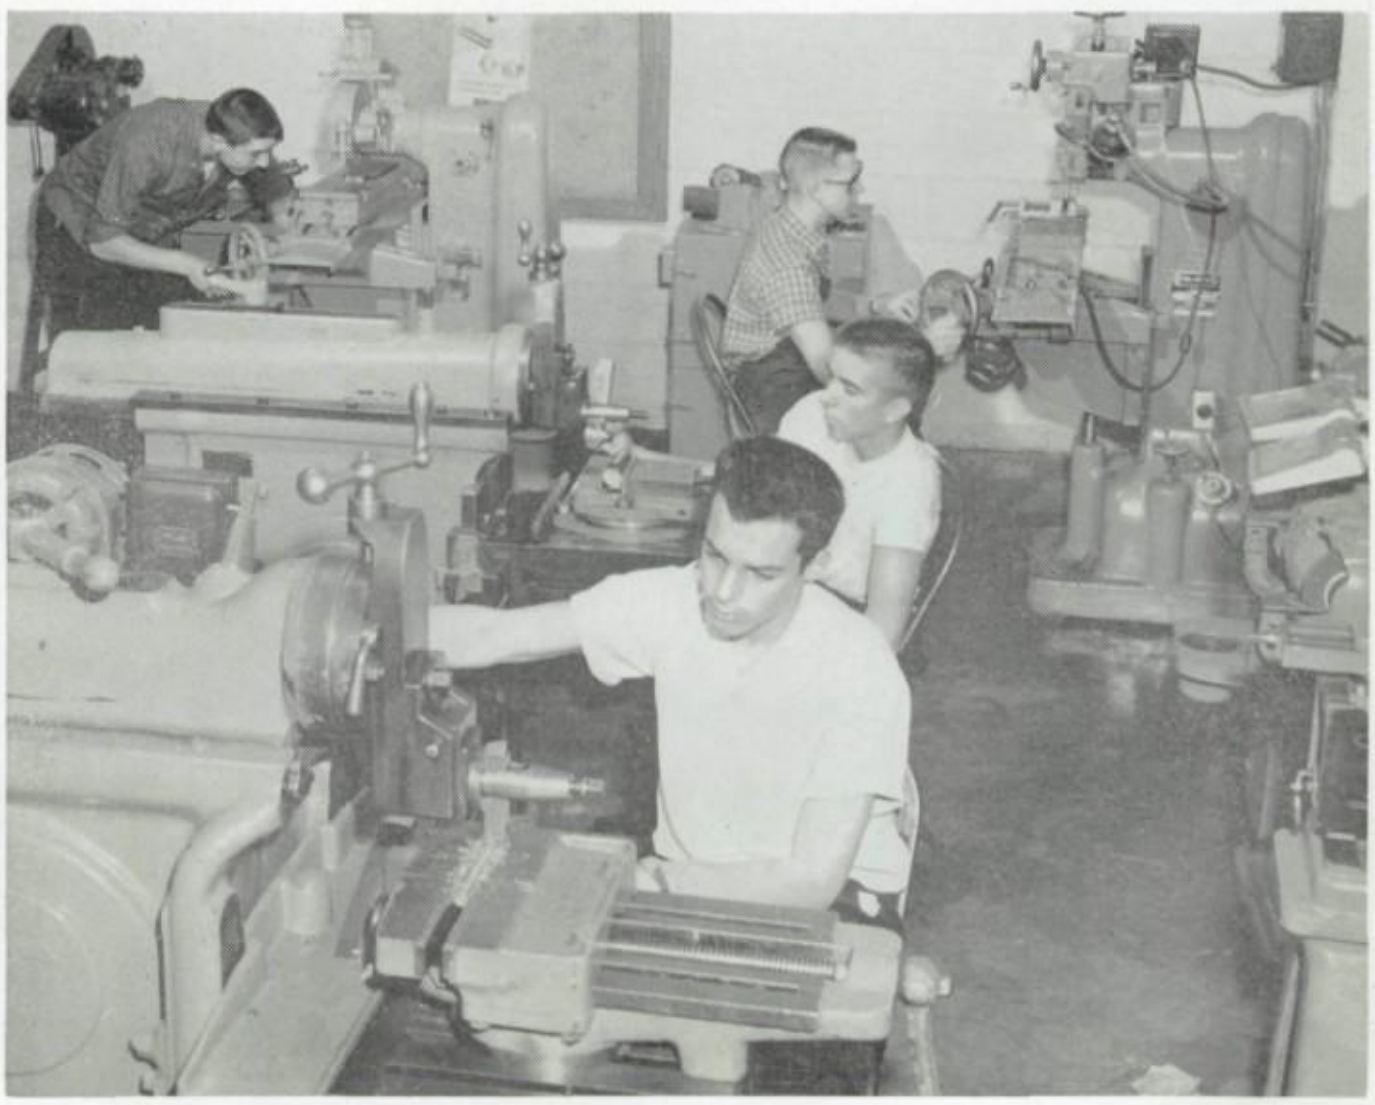
F. G. MOORE, B. S., Ball State Teachers College; M. S. Stout Institute: Drafting: Public Relations Committee; Hi-Y.

CHESTER H. THOMPSON, B. S., Purdue University; M. S., Indiana University; Machine Shop.

RUSSELL THOMPSON, B. S., Ball State Teachers College; Auto Mechanics.

Brains as well as skilled hands were requirements of these courses as the students in the vocational course developed these attributes into money-making ability. After all the machines had been oiled, and the sawdust had been swept off the floor, vocational students were ready to tackle the jobs held for them by Kokomo factories and industry.

Setting type was an exacting task for boys enrolled in printing classes. Larry Welsh, Bruce Moyer, Richard Robertson, Danny Snyder, Jimmy Wiles, and Curtis Wiles were intently working.



Nuts, bolts, and everything necessary for the smooth operation of machinery was used in machine shop. John Benningfield, Loren Sitzer, Charles Helvig, and Ron Spane gave these machines a final check over.

WE EXERCISED OUR BODIES AND

Up—one, down—two! This was the count as Mr. Robert Bushong and his gym assistants led the boys in jumping-jack exercises.

Everyone like to play basketball, that Hoosier madness! In gym classes, boys engaged in fighting games and learned to enjoy Indiana's favorite pastime.

Push ups and pulled tendons signified peppy pupils participating in gym maneuvers. After a busy winter of basketball, tumbling, and volley ball, the boys' gym classes, taught by Mr. Gene Turner, Mr. Robert Bushong, and Mr. Richard Donovan, once again headed for the wide open spaces. They were seen high jumping, broad-jumping, running relays, shot-putting, playing softball, or taking part in the team track meets.

Required to take four semesters of phy. ed., KHS boys learned sports and sportsmanship as they developed strong bodies.

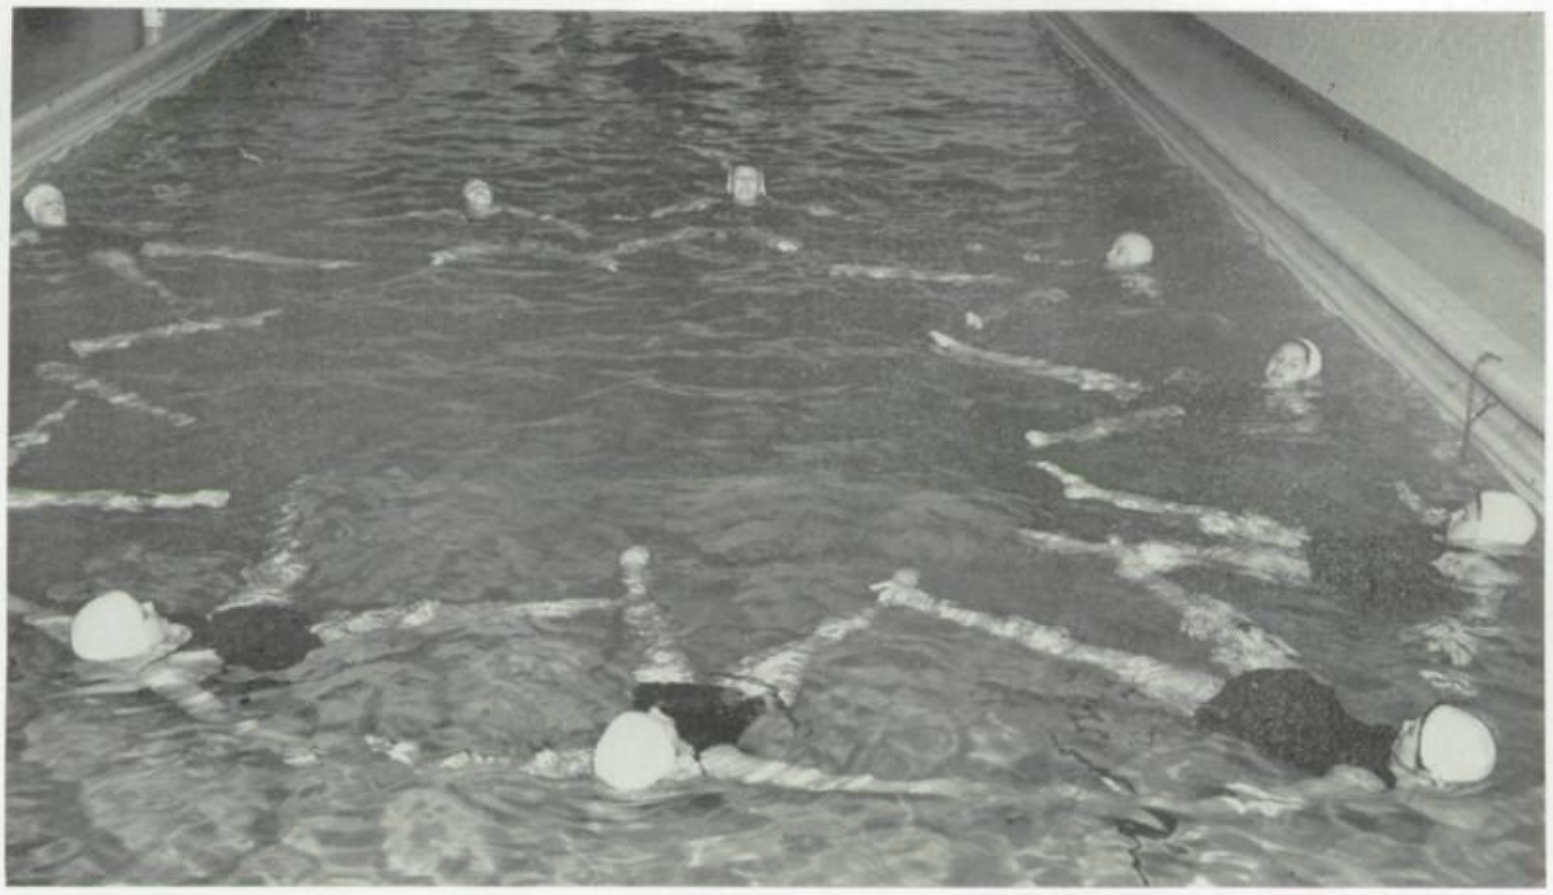
FRANK OVERTON, B. S., Western Michigan State College; M. S., Indiana University; Director of Athletics.

ROBERT S. BUSHONG, B. S., Ball State Teachers College; M. S., Indiana University; Physical Education; Coach, Football, Track; Critic Teacher.

RICHARD W. DONOVAN, B. S., M. A., Ball State Teachers College; Health, Physical Education, Driver Education; Assistant Coach, Football, Track.

GENE TURNER, B. S., Indiana University; Physical Education, Driver Education; Coach, Baseball, Freshman Basketball.

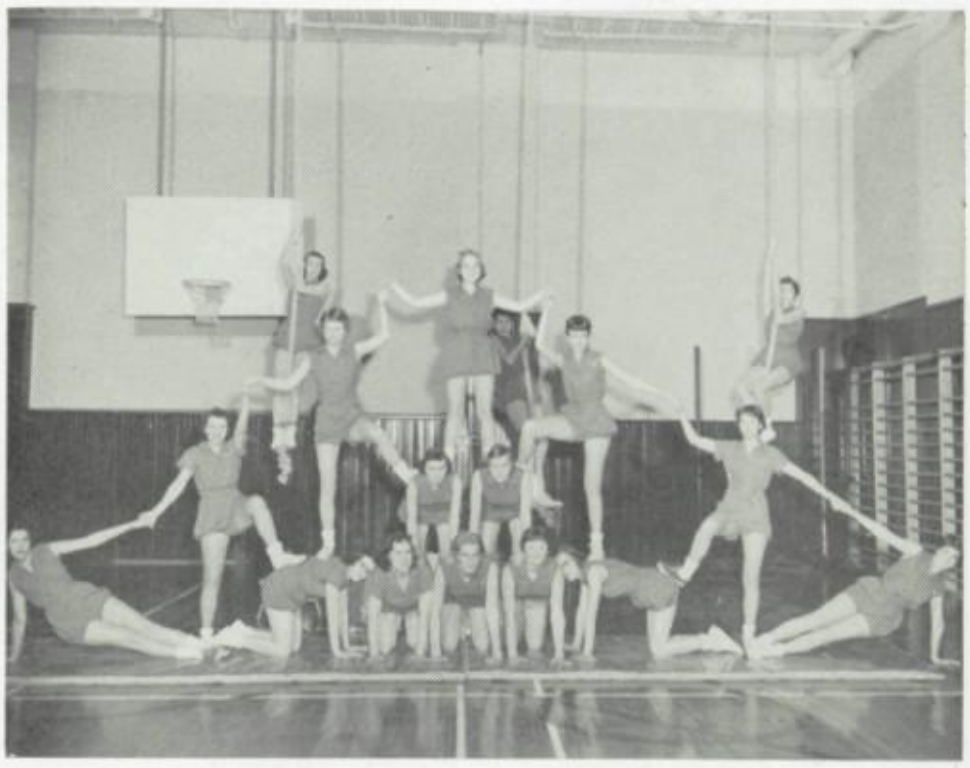
ADDED STRENGTH AND CHARACTER



How about a swim? Girls enrolled in swimming classes didn't have to wait till summer. Twice a week they developed swimming skills and learned water formations at the Y.M.C.A.

"O.K. Line up your squads, girls. Let's go!" shouted Miss Imogene Winslow and Mrs. Marilyn Friedrick as they tried to create order from chattering chaos. These women kept freshmen and sophomore girls physically fit and trim. With the falling leaves girls also fell into routines of soccer, basketball, volleyball, then tumbling, square-dancing, and ring-toss. Smitten with spring fever, girls scurried to the practice field for relays, softball, and tennis.

Dampened tresses didn't dampen buoyant spirits for swimming at the YMCA. Mrs. Friedrick taught eager beavers swimming, life-saving, and water ballet.

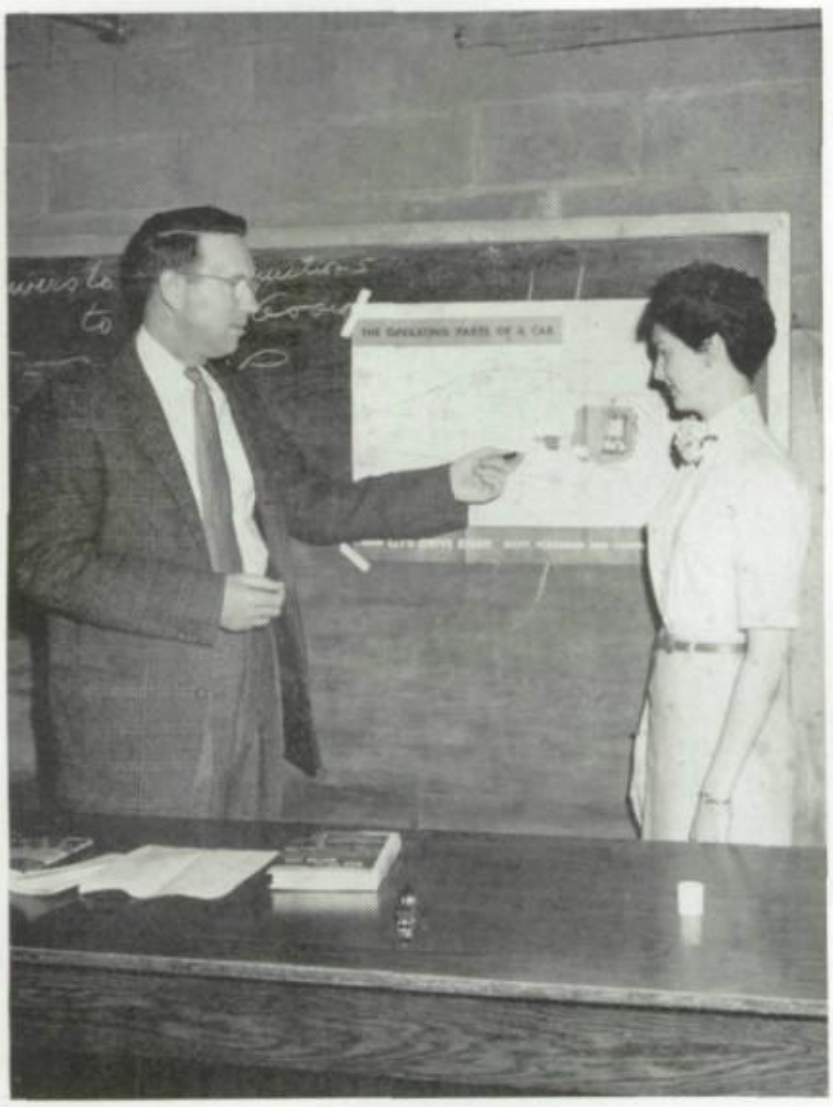


Working out intricate pyramid formations in gym classes taught girls to balance, or else, and to cooperate to the utmost.

MARILYN D. FRIEDRICH, B. A., University of Nevada; Physical Education; G. A. A., Booster Committee; Athletic Board, Health and Recreation Committee.

IMOGENE WINSLOW, B. S., Central Normal College; M. S., Indiana University; Physical Education; Booster Committee, Yell Block, G. A. A.

THE BEST SAFETY DEVICE IS A GOOD DRIVER



Where's the rear axle? Do you put water in the carburetor? These and other questions were discussed once a week during classroom instruction. Mr. Gene Turner cleared up a few points for Mary Ann Springer's confused mind.

"Watch out for that telephone . . . Screech! . . . pole!" bellowed Mr. Robert Bushong as one of his driving students took to the berm. He, Mr. William Fox, Mr. Urban Steckler, and Mr. Gene Turner risked their lives in taking KHS students out driving two days a week, teaching them everything from shifting gears to measuring oil; even the girls learned to change a tire! Eleven classes proved that KHS students were interested in good driving ability.

One period a week, the class met together and learned such facts as that speed, centrifugal force, and gravity on a curve might equal a ditched driver. That student driving courses provided valuable training in the prevention of accidents is proven by the insurance cut given to graduates of the subject.

Through actual driving experiences, would-be drivers learned not only how to shift gears and pass cars but also to care for the three sharp new cars donated to this worthy cause by local agencies.

Directing and supervising the Audio-Visual Department in KHS was Miss Fay Cover. To start the day, she looked over her lists of scheduled films.

As the Attendance Director, Miss Bette Bannon visited the homes of many delinquent stundents. Miss Barron verified the addresses before leaving the high school on her daily duty.

THESE DIRECTED AUDIO–VISUAL AND ATTENDANCE

Snap! Quick, the splicer! Lights flashed on, an efficient operator made a fast repair, and the movie flashed on again.

With her A. B. and M. S. degrees from Indiana University, Miss Fay Cover ably directed the activities of the Audio-Visual Education Department. She ordered educational films and records while she organized movie and sound technicians in order to further KHSers' education.

We learned the basis of subjects in the classroom, but the Audio-Visual Department broadened and extended our knowledge by giving us a vivid view of our studies.

Asian flu? Cold weather? or Spring fever? Are your absences necessary? On an average school day, between eighty and ninety students are missing from our KHS classrooms. Miss Bette Bannon as Attendance Director has an important job. Her duty is to visit the homes of pupils, referred to her by the deans or the principals, to determine if prolonged or constant absences are excusable. Miss Bannon has an A. B. degree from Butler University. With her warm and understanding smile, she helps to make our school system one of the most efficient.

SOME PROVIDED PILLS AND SPECIALIZED SKILLS

At least once during their high school career, KHS students had their hearing tested. Miss Norma Gillman wrote down the results of a hearing test being given to Sergio Comarella by Mr. Robert Pardue while Ronald Name waited his turn.

The speech and hearing department, headed by Miss Norma R. Gillam and Mr. Robert L. Pardue, helped those who needed speech and hearing therapy. Once a week, KHS students needing help in speech correction or lip instruction were taught how to improve the production of speech sounds, develop more adequate voice production, and eliminate difficulties due to stuttering.

Another important part of the departmental work was the annual hearing tests given to sophomores and new students. They were tested to determine who needed help because of a permanent hearing loss.

Got a headache? The nurses in 204 will take care of you. Miss Esther Edwards, Mrs. Esther Locke, Mrs. Dorothy Stahl, and Miss Marlene Parrish attended to students enrolled in the school system.

"Do you have a headache or feel ill after an exam? If so, drop in room 204 where you will find just the right pills for your ills." Many students followed this advice and found Miss Esther Edwards, Mrs. Esther Locke, Mrs. Dorothy Stahl, and Miss Marlene Parrish eager to help. Students assisted these nurses in keeping the student body in a healthy condition, and Dr. Fredrick Schwartz, school physician, visited KHS every Thursday from 11:00 to 12:00 A. M.

We are indeed fortunate in having this splendid medical group as part of our high school.

WHILE OTHERS PROCESSED PAPERS AND BILLS

Smooth functioning offices were the responsibilities of these secretaries: Mrs. Gertrude Collins, Miss Melda Hutchcroft, Mrs. Mary Ann Livingston, Mrs. Julia Sonafrank, and Mrs. Ruth Wickersham.

Keeping a close tab on the business affairs of our high school were Miss Sharlot Critchlow, Mrs. Barbara Thrasher, and Mrs. Beverly Maddox.

The secretaries form one of the most important cogs in the office mechanism of the school system. Keeping accounts of the money that rolled in and out of the offices, filing records for the school system, and KHS especially, and performing various stenographic duties were the women in the office of the Superintendent, the Principal, the Athletic Director, and the Vocational Director.

The bookstore workers kept all 2400 of us in books and supplies.

Pencils! Paper! Text-books! All the equipment necessary for classroom study was provided in the bookstore.

They kept records of the school city's dimes and dollars: Miss Neva Bourne, Mrs. Dorothy Hopkins, Mrs. Edith Dixon, and Mrs. Helen Machin.

A friendly smile aided Mr. Forrest Roe in performing his duties as the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

SPIC AND SPAN CORRIDORS AND

While sitting in a clean, comfortable classroom, have you ever stopped to think who was keeping it so neat? Mr. Forrest Roe or any of the busy janitors could answer this question.

Besides keeping up the high school, Mr. Roe oversees nineteen other schools. He has an A. B. degree from DePauw and an M. A. degree from Butler University.

Even though an average of 5,000 feet passed through the halls each day, the high school was kept spic and span; our maintenance men have a large task, but they do it well.

The custodians of the halls worked to keep our school clean.

"Too many cooks spoil the broth." This was not true in the KHS cafeteria. Mrs. Pauline Rogers, Mrs. Julia Merrit, Mrs. Hazel Hancook, Mrs. Ruth Stockdale, Mrs. Zona Harbaugh, Mrs. Gladys Lacy, Mrs. Mary Miller, Mrs. Eileen Varnadora, Mrs. Margarette Clark, and Mrs. Opal Pavey worked to provide good economical meals.

A CROWDED CAFETERIA WERE THEIR PRIDE

Ring! stampede! and famished students crowded into the school cafeteria where enticing aromas sharpened their appetites for tempting well-balanced meals. Meeting friends at the snack bar, in the regular line, and at the cafe tables was half the fun of eating lunch. Over trayfuls of delicious food, scuttlebutt quickly circulated from table to table and the cafeteria became a beehive of news.

The cafeteria workers under the direction of Mrs. Pauline Orem supplied delectable food for a hungry army and kept the cafeteria clean, pleasant, and well organized.

Tempting aromas and delicious displays attracted hundreds of students each day to the KHS Cafeteria.

ACTIVITIES

Sorting Sargasso sale envelopes, choosing a theme, hurrying to the printer with copy, mounting class pictures, and organizing a Sargasso Sock Hop were just a few of the varied activities of these students, who formed the hard-working nucleus for the 1958 Sargasso. Georgann Mustard and Dick Chegar handled the sales end; Susie Badger, and Ed Seagrave, co-editors, kept the book on its toes; and Judy Beane and Diane Fenn took care of every picture that was taken.

THIS BOOK IS YOURS - THE 1958 SARGASSO

The places — Rooms 211 and 116X. The people—the staff and editors. The event—the production of the 1958 Sargasso. Working and cooperating with each other produced a review and memory book of the people, places, and activities of Kokomo High School in 1958.

It all started in the summer of 1957 when our editors, Susie Badger and Ed Seagrave, attended a Yearbook Workshop at Bloomington, Indiana. Then fall arrived and the work began at 7:00 a. m. coffee and donut sessions. First came the laying out of the Sargasso's 216 pages and the choosing of an appropriate theme. Racing in high gear throughout the year, Judy Beane and Dianne Fenn, pictorial editors, and their staff lent a hand with the pictures which were taken by Mr. Evart Adams and Paul Himelick, school photographer, their motto being "one picture is worth a thousand words." The annual's business staff, advised by Mr. Warren Muncie, and managed by Dick Chegar and Georgann Mustard, scurried through the school and uptown advertising and selling the book. To boost sales they sponsored a sock hop at the gym. Scrambling through this busy-iness were the section editors clamoring desperately to meet the deadlines imposed by the engraver, Mr. Herbert Barth, and printer, Mr. Russell Humphrey. At last, the final picture was taken, the final page proofed, and our annual was licked.

The ink-smuged dummy of co-editors Susie Badger and Ed Seagrave; the nervously chewed erasers of Julianne Conner, index editor; the quiet thoughtful expression on class editor Kay Hankin's face; the tired but always smiling appearance of David Avery, sports editor; the furrowed brow of Martha Henry, activities editor; the split fingernails of typist Sharon Grable; the diligent concentration of Janet Miller, academic editor; the migraine headaches of Miss Elizabeth Handley, editorial sponsor—all were but temporary conditions relieved by the gratification and thrill of producing a book, bound, printed, and delivered—for you—yours to autograph and leaf through, to chuckle over as you show your friends, to put away on a bookshelf to gather dust, and then to open again—reminiscing and dreaming. Shelved and opened, this book is yours, the 1958 Sargasso.

EDITORS IRONED-OUT PRODUCTION PROBLEMS

Typewriter bells, the roar of the press, and the whir of pencil sharpeners provided the background music for the staffs of KHS's bi-weekly newspaper, the Red and Blue.

Room 219, general headquarters for the staff, buzzed with new ideas from the National Scholastic Press Association and hard work which made these dreams become realities. One such idea, pondered and planned, was finally formulated. On November 22, the "Voice of KHS" saluted the NCC football co-champs in a special publication edited by sports co-editors Robert Fell and Jerry Jackson.

Scott Thatcher, editor-in-chief, supervised every faction of the paper and led business meetings every other Friday. Janet Hines, news editor, and David Pierce, assistant, spent long hours getting news scoops and page make-up to suit them; Marshall Jackson, editorial editor, brought many controversial topics to light such as "Teenage Movies are Unfair." Carol Turner, feature editor, wrote humorous happenings and teen-age trends of KHS lads and lassies. Dick Allsing, photograhper, and Jerry Coles, assistant, were seen everywhere with camera in hand getting timely snaps. Mrs. Mildred Kern, editorial advisor, made the final page proofs and sent them to Mr. Everett Mason and his printers, who handled the print shop technicalities.

Keeping the "Voice of KHS" out of the red and in the blue was the business staff headed by Mr. Charles Franklin. Vicky Carnes, business manager; Bob Coates and Mike King, advertising managers; Georgann Treida, circulation manager; Carol Finley, corresponding secretary; and Haven Jones, Jr., production manager handled the financial end of the newspaper. Jeanette Kerns and Ruth Ann Pine were the flying-fingered typists.

Working along side of the Red and Blue was High School Carrousel, a fifteen-minute radio broadcast of KHS news and views. Ed Seagrave, editor, and David Peters, assistant, told of newsworthy activities and recorded interviews; Bob Hicks and Ray Meyers related sports activities. Marilyn Williams and Barbara Ehrman described the latest in fashions for the feminine angle.

All of these staffs produced an honor-winning paper, gained an accurate knowledge of journalism, and acquired a personal satisfaction in working together.

QUILL AND SCROLL EXACTS AMBITION IN JOURNALISM

Love for the excitement of a scoop, printer's ink in your blood, and a certain knack for writing—these are qualities of Quill and Scroll members. The Robert Coughlin Chapter, named after an alumnus of Kokomo High School now on the staff of Life Magazine, is an honorary society for students ambitious in journalistic fields. Eligibility for membership requires eighty inches of published material, being in the upper one-third of the junior or senior classes, a recommendation by the sponsor, and approval by the National Secretary of Quill and Scroll. On May 24, an initiation banquet was held to honor the former members and to initiate the new Quill and Scroll juniors and seniors. Mr. Charles Franklin, sponsor, encouraged these aspiring journalists to continue in the writing field.

A "lens" serves to focus or form an image. By looking through a LENS, a student can clear his images of KHS and focus his views correctly.

This information guidebook was a necessity to all freshmen who had not previously encountered the rules and regulations of KHS, but these new students did not monopolize the LENS, for KHS veterans also referred to this Student-Council-edited book for routine changes and new teacher listings.

Working through the summer, Nancy Maher, editor-in-chief, and the editorial staff perfected the handbook for publication; and Fred Preston, business manager, and his sellers kept busy promoting advertisements to finance it. Mr. Charles Klinger also worked with the staffs in sponsoring the LENS.

NO-ACS AWARDS, THE LENS, AND COLLEGE NIGHT

A democracy on the march! Student Council, a gathering of democratic thinking, was chaired this year by Sara Shuss. Nancy Maher, secretary, accurately transcribed the minutes; Dick Chegar, vice president, stood ready to help with the agenda; and Fred Preston, treasurer, tallied the Council's funds.

KHS students became familiar with the fine work of the Council's committees. When we picked up a Kat Kaller, we were reminded of Mike Hickman's Student Relations Committee, and we thanked Barbara Mitzelfelt and the Student Welfare Committee for College Night.

The No-Acs awards showed that Bob White and the Public Relations Committee had executed a worthwhile program, while Carol Coe and the Extra-Curricular Committee tackled the basketball seating problem and decorated the front hall Christmas tree.

The smiles of Miss Estella Pearce, Mrs. Martha Hawkins, Mr. Richard Abney, and Mr. Roland DuBois were more than justified; from the guidance of these sponsors and the cumulative thinking of this group, our school became a place of which we were proud.

Sorting the Kat Kallers, KHS telephone directory, were Mike Hickman, Miss Lyla Sill, Lynn Vance, Ethel Thompson, and Sondra Rodgers.

No-Acs stickers were awarded to KHS safe drivers by Mr. Leon Orr following a convocation discussion by Mike Maher, Paul Stanley, Carol Coe, Kay Scott, and David Peters.

SIGNIFIED THE STUDENT COUNCIL ON THE MARCH!

Christmas cheer came to many needy families when KHS students gathered boxes of food. Nancy Maher, Mike Hickman, Dick Chegar, and Mr. Roland DuBois surveyed and sorted the overflowing boxes.

The officers and four committee heads of Student Council formed an Executive Council to iron out the groups' problems. They were, seated, Carol Coe, Sara Shuss, Nancy Maher, and Barbara Mitzelfelt; standing, Bob White, Mike Hickman, Dick Chegar, and Fred Preston.

FEMININE CREATIVENESS SIGNIFIED GIRLS' LEAGUE

"I could have danced all knight," As the guys and gals danced to the music of Earl Newport, the KHS Girls' League produced the first big social event, the eleventh annual Autumn Prom. Themed as "A Knight to Remember," the dance converted the gray walls of Memorial Gymnasium into a medieval ramparts with torches, shields, and chandeliers.

For American Education Week, the Girls' League sponsored An Apple For the Teacher Day to honor our KHS instructors.

Supporting the American Field Service Drive, these girls sold cookie dough and candy; and at Christmas time, their tinseled wrapping paper, holly, and mistletoe sales brightened the holiday festivities.

As basketball tourney time came around, the Girls' League supported our Wildcats by printing bright tags and painting red and blue poster-murals. They circulated red and blue Kat corsages and shaker streamers also that sold like wildfire.

Climaxing the year was the Mother-Daughter Reception on May 11 with Janet Hines and Carolyn Davis as co-chairmen. With an Oriental setting of Sayonara, the evening was highlighted by the announcement of officers for next year.

This year was a whopping big success for the sponsor, Dean Estella Pearce, and all the girls of KHS.

Up went the Medieval tapestry on the castle wall as KHS girls gathered to decorate the gym for the annual Autumn Prom, "A Knight to Remember."

Holly and mistletoe brightened the school and homes during the Christmas season. Sara Shuss inspected Holly branches as Pat Adair and Glenda Gray, co-chairmen of the Girls' League sale, encouraged her to purchase some.

The lightness of spring brightened the climaxing event for Girls' League, the Mother-Daughter Reception.

ORGANIZATION BOARD IS THE CLUBS' "BIG BOSS"

The Organization Board is the "big boss" of the clubs of Kokomo High School. Keeping them operating smoothly, checking the club constitutions and programs, making rules and regulations, and scheduling meeting dates are all a part of the Board's duties. A new club must meet the Board's standards before it can be officially recognized.

The Board regulates club meeting nights so that a student may belong to several clubs and still attend the meetings of each one. During the year, the Board visits meetings to see that they are carried on in a constitutional manner. At the close of the school year, the Board checks and summarizes the reports from all the clubs, and makes a survey of the extra-curricular activities for the school administration records.

Each spring, a sophomore girl and boy are elected by the Student Council to serve on this Board during their junior and senior years. Faculty advisors, Miss Elizabeth MacIntosh, Miss Elizabeth Calhoun, Mr. Donald Bartlett, and Mr. Earl Utterback, were appointed by Mr. O. I. Farmer. The Organization Board has a big responsibility and intricate problems which they handle expertly.

Behind-stage jitters found Dick Wood, Carol Coe, Janet Miller, and Ron Wines watching Geraldine Meyers putting the finishing touches on Georgeann Trieda's makeup and Jim Hudson and Ed Maynard setting the stage for Act I.

Hey, Daddy! Look at us in front of a New York skyline! These Hullabaloo night club performers led their cute little dolls in a mimic chorus line for a versatile dance.

It was a "Grand Night for Singing" as these hardworking Hullabaloo troopers climaxed their colorful show with a smashing finale.

"Hello, hello here!" sang the emcees of the 1958 Hullabaloo, Tom Ryan, Ronnie Wines, Joe Van Dorn, Janet Miller, Carol Coe, and Mike King, as they opened their Broadway musicale.

BROADWAY VARIETY SPICED THE 1958 HULLABALOO

Broadway is not "easy street." So all Hullabaloo workers realized after try-outs, script writing, scenery and costuming, rehearsing, learning lines, and finally finishing the production—the 1958 Boys' Legion Hullabaloo.

With scenes ranging from a hillbilly backwoods to a swanky New York night-club, this KHS show troupe was led by emcees Joe VanDorn, Janet Miller, Carol Coe, Mike King, Ronnie Wines, and Tom Ryan. The story centered around the six emcees who were "local talent" trying to become broadway stars. But upon their arrival in New York, they were sadly disappointed for producers wouldn't audition their show, designers wouldn't finance costumes, and a stage couldn't be rented. But by determination and a bit of feminine persuasion, all their trouble dissolved and their sparkling show became a Broadway hit.

Song and dance routines sprinkled variety and spice throughout the two delightful evenings as the Band and Choir blended their variation of "My Fair Lady." Robert Fell, general chairman, Mrs. Mildred Kern and Mr. Douglas North, directors, and the Boys' Legion skyrocketed to a Broadway success with the 1958 Hullabaloo.

A legal office paddle or pass slips were the necessary items to get by one of the alert monitor captains. Seated: Julia Graves, Carol Coe, Carolyn Davis, Berdina Reynolds. Standing: Mike Hickman, Jim Hudson, Russell Bergman, Paul Cossell, Ron Baber, and Tom Beety.

THE MONITORS POLICED THE HALLS OF KHS

As policemen of Kokomo High School, the monitors controlled traffic through the halls of our school. Each period there were 26 monitors, stationed at principal locations, with faculty members and monitor captains as supervisors. Trespassers attempting to journey through the halls were "ticketed" for not carrying a pass paddle or a signed slip, as KHS monitors were constantly on the alert for these unauthorized persons illegally passing their posts. Besides minimizing confusion in the halls, the monitors helped teachers, ran errands, took call slips, and assisted visitors. Thus the monitors played a prominent part in keeping the order of KHS.

Carl McElfresh wasn't writing notes to his lady fair, only picking up attendance slips for the office from Mrs. Barbara Thrasher, one of the monitor captains' many duties.

Articulation and enunciation were the key-words of speech for these members of Speech Club.

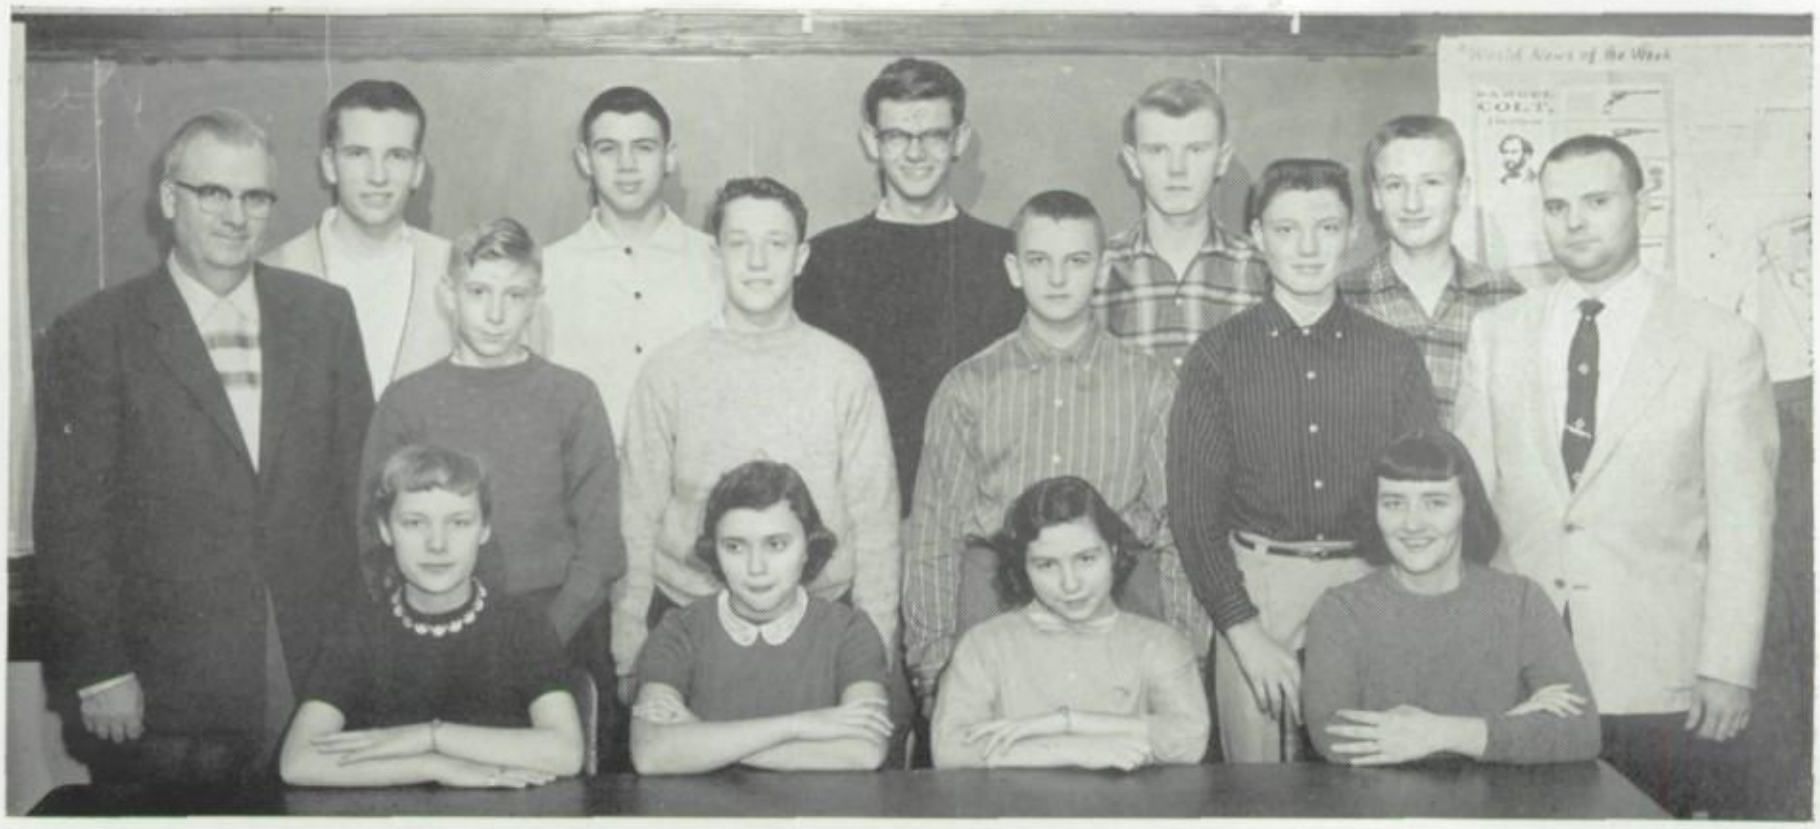
SELF EXPRESSION OF EACH INDIVIDUAL

Self expression of the individual is the goal of the Speech Club. Students specializing in radio announcing, dramatics, and oratory belonged to the KHS Speech Club sponsored by Mr. Don Turner.

Activities other than contest trips to Butler and Ball State Colleges, South Bend and Columbia City included hosting a speech tournament in January and attending the Purdue Legislature, where Speech Club members acted as senators and representatives.

To be able to say what you want to as you want to, is a characteristic of a well-adjusted individual. That was the goal of the Speech Club.

Sue Gibbs, Mr. Don Turner, and Lanny Fields traveled to Purdue University for a two-day legislature.



Twenty-five debating points qualified these students for the National Forensic League, the Thespian Club for debaters.

Second Row: Mr. J. Paul Kendall, advisor; Bill Frangos; David Vaprin; Joe Dunbar; Bill Kimberling; Mr. Stanley Duncan, advisor.

Back Row: David Peters, Joe Phillips, Rodney Wolfeale, Ron Baber, Frank Chapel.

SIGNIFIES THE GOAL OF THE SPEECH CLUB

National Forensic League membership is the ambition of all debators and speech club members. To become a member of NFL a student must earn twenty-five points from speech entries or debate activities. Debators or gentlemanly arguers obtained NFL points by learning to think quickly and well on their feet, meeting the arguments of their opponents. Teams traveled to Peru, New Castle, and Purdue University for contests. In April, the club hosted the National Forensic League State Tournament. The general topic "Foreign Aid" was successfully debated throughout the year under the direction of Mr. Paul Kendall, sponsor of Debate Club and National Forensic League.

In arguing back and forth, quick answers and rapid-fire retorts are these debators' specialties.

SCIENCE CONSCIOUS

In this era of space travel and submarines, our nation has become very science conscious. The KHS Science Club is aware of the vital crusade for scientific minds and is directing the natural curiosity of the members to significant and beneficial scientific study through experiments, field trips, and guest speakers. Mr. Lory Coy is the sponsor.

AERONAUTIC ANTICS

Off they go into the wild blue yonder flying high into the sky.

A new club was organized this year to give the air-minded KHS students an opportunity to learn about all phases of air travel and gain a better understanding of what it involves. Mr. Earl Hoover was the sponsor of this Aviation Club which has an average attendance of forty, including both boys and girls.

Second Row: Jim Nulf, Ronald Hagy, Timothy Coleman, Glen King, Joe Spradlin, Ted Wade.

Third Row: John Snider, Russell Pogue, Ronnie Chapel, John Coffey, Mark Green, Joe Phillips, Dan Dunn.

LIGHTS IN THE DARK

Lights! Camera! Action! These familiar words are often tossed about by the Operators staff supervised by Miss Fay Cover. This volunteer staff of boys rotate to assist the teachers in running projectors, setting up public address systems, and operating the stage lights. Whenever the need arose, the Operators were ready, well-trained, and efficient.

RELIGIOUS FELLOWSHIP

"An inspirational influence during my high school days," said one KHS graduate about the Bible Club. Completing its twelfth year, the club promoted interest in Bible study and reading and provided a center for Christian activity and fellowship. This year Mr. Donald Bartlett and Mr. Earl Hoover sponsored this group which numbered over thirty members.

Bible Club was a stabilizing interest in the school life of these students.

THE "BOOKKEEPER" CLUB TIDIED UP THE LIBRARY

"Read Books" was the password into our KHS world of literature. Our library was operated by the "book-keepers," Mrs. Ruth Gosma, Mrs. Barbara Rees, and their assistants, who formed the KHS Library Club. Behind the muffled rustle of study, this club checked books, filed pamphlets, stamped newspapers, and conducted a lost-and-found department, besides creating seasonal displays and giving a Christmas open house for the club and their mothers. On October 19, Penny Harper and Cynthia Knaack represented KHS at the Indiana University Hoosier Student Library Conference. During National Library Week, "Wake up and Read Week," the club made bookmarks. Officers were Elizabeth Henderson, pres.; Penny Harper, vice pres.; and Janice Hartman, sec'y.

The Book Week Tea filled the library with an adventurous mood as teachers Mr. Charles Klinger, Mrs. Phyllis Smith, Mrs. Peggy McClung, Mrs. Elsie Seagrave, Mr. Robert Barngrover, and Mr. O. I. Farmer "Explored With Books."

KHS consuls and ambassadors joined together in the International Relations Club to gain knowledge of foreign lands.

Front Row: Sharon Grable, pres.; Vera Teixeira, vice pres.; Marjorie Poynter, sec'y.; Mike Maher, cor. sec'y.; Ronnie Young; Glenda Smith; Adair Main; Sue Gibbs; Sue Walker; Sally Shrock; Julie Kent.

ADVERTISERS OF WORLD PEACE AND FRIENDSHIP

Peace between the nations of the world, friendship spread internationally, understanding throughout every race—these ideals make the creed of the International Relations Club.

In October the club entertained DePauw University's exchange students at a convocation and a tea. At the Christmas party, KHS exchange students, Vera Teixiera, Brazil, and Peter Volkert, the Netherlands, gave a resume of their native countries' Christmas celebrations.

In March, at the United Nations Assembly in Anderson, Indiana, high school students assumed foreign delegates' positions presenting the views of their respective countries.

Under the guidance of Mr. Fred Mustard and Mr. Alexander Bell, the club attained a greater knowledge and understanding of international affairs, imperative in our confused, complicated present-day world.

"Model U. N. Assembly, here we come!" Roger Masquelette, Kay Hankins, Mr. Alexander Bell, Sue Walker, and Sharon Grable checked off their names with Mr. Fred Mustard as they boarded the bus for this International Relations Club convention.

Third Row: Jim Malone, Bob Hall, Ronald Hagie, Bill Decker, Gary Kinder, Robby Simmons, Bob Fischvogt, Tom Broadley, Bruce Horsman, Jerry Collins.

COMBINING ENTHUSIASM AND HARD WORK

Continuing to grow in Christian ideals, these sophomore boys endeavored to observe world friendship.

Y CLUBS HAD FUN THROUGH CHRISTIAN IDEALS

These four smiling KHS students, Bert Fridlin, Georgann Mustard, Mike Hickman, and Susie Brown, ruled over the Sno-Ball Dance, sponsored by the Y clubs, as its Queen and King candidates.

After-game dances during ball game season, the Sno-Ball during Christmas holidays, collecting money during the March of Dimes Drive—these are a few of the many Hi-Y and Y-Teen activities this year. Enthusiastically the Hi-Y members rang bells for the Salvation Army Campaign, helped the Y-Men sell Christmas tree tickets, and planned the "Murder on the Hardwood" basketball game.

As part of the Y-Teen activities, girls sold TB bangles. Helping to collect money for this fund were, left to right, Judy LaFollette, Bonnie Larrison, and Trudy Miller.

AS THEY JOINED FORCES TO HELP OTHERS

Telephoning was part of many committee's work for the Sno-Ball Dance. Left to right, Scott Thatcher, Prudy Wilkinson, and Jane Dunn were busy looking up names of Hi-Y and Y-Teen prospective helpers.

Y-Teens felt a sense of happiness and satisfaction after participating in a scavenger hunt of canned foods for needy families, stuffing TB letters and selling bangles, and assisting in the Covered Bridge Campaign. The Y-Clubs combined forces to hold a dance after every home-town ball game. Observing world friendship, the Hi-Y and Y-Teens joined with our neighboring high school, Eastern, to produce the biggest annual Sno-Ball ever held.

Through Christian ideals, Y-Teeners and Hi-Y-ers had fun by just being good. Completing a cram-packed schedule, these eight clubs enjoyed a wonderful year helping others.

Ronnie Hughes, Karen Bone, Dick Chegar, Georgeann Trieda, Betsy Schwartz, Bert Fridlin, Kent Dunn, Alice Burt, Prudy Wilkinson, Tom Morr, Carol King, Dick Campbell, and Mr. Frank Moore, sponsor; made up the Interclub Council which brought a close association between Hi-Y and Y-Teens.

Good fellowship began with these girls' freshman year in Y-Teens as the girls began to get acquainted.

WITH TALENT THE PALETTE CLUB TRAVELED FAR

To further art interest and to serve both the community and the school were the achieved aims of the Palette Club. Collections from the Halloween window painting helped needy Kokomoans; and the Club gave their Christmas party for the County Home.

The club had its fun, too. At the Beaux Arts Ball, initiates gave comedy skits. During the year, a water color landscape by W. Harold Handcock was purchased. Entries in the Kokomo Art Associations exhibit and the Indiana Scholastic Art Contest proved the artistic abilities of this Club. Ability, resourcefulness, and service combined with the artistic know-how of Miss Bernice McKinley paint a picture of the 1958 Palette Club.

Decorating store windows added to the festivities of Halloween in uptown Kokomo as Palette Club members such as Marcia Barthelemy, Mike McGaffney, and Barney Fetterhoff combined ability with paints and brushes to produce eye-catching cartoons.

The Future Nurses Club members assisted the school nurses in giving the TB patch test to freshmen and seniors.

KHS FLORENCE NIGHTINGALES STUDIED NURSING

The Future Nurses Association of KHS, or the Florence Nightingales of tomorrow, learned about the opportunities in nursing, approximate salaries, responsibilities and duties, and required education necessary to become a nurse.

Organized in 1955, FNA is sponsored by Miss Esther Edwards, Mrs. Arcille Overton, and Miss Marlene Parrish. The meetings featured lectures from doctors and medical professional persons. Field trips were taken through the St. Joseph's Hospital and to the Logansport State Hospital. Assisting with the Tuberculosis Patch Test program, making bandage dressings for the Cancer Society, and sending gifts to hospital patients at Christmas time kept the Future Nurses Club busy helping our school and our community.

Nursing is a vital interest to these future nurses.

CRYSTAL GAZING REVEALS A FUTURE IN TEACHING

The little sisters of the Future Teachers Association, the Teachers of Tomorrow, are the freshmen and sophomore students interested in a career of teaching. This club, formed in 1956, was formerly a part of the junior-senior Future Teachers Association, but because of the club's popularity, it was divided. As a result of this close relationship, these two groups combined for some of their activities, such as the box lunch supper in the early fall, and provision of clothing and household goods for a needy family.

Each meeting provided appealing programs with guest speakers, panel discussions, and films on teaching and classroom methods. From the helpful advice from their sponsors, Mrs. Cornelia Chapel and Mrs. Dione Mustard, the members gained an inside glance at what may lie ahead for a future teaching career.

The Exploratory Teaching program gave experience in the teaching field to these girls as they helped in the grade school classrooms. Left to right, they are Mrs. Cornelia Chapel, advisor; Mrs. Dione Mustard, advisor; Barbara Ehrman; Gail Lacey; Carol Coe; Kay Hankins; Mrs. Lena Coombes, advisor; Julie Kent; Mrs. Peggy McClung, advisor; Arlene Lewis; and Georgeann Mustard.

EXPLORATORY TEACHING TRAINED FUTURE TEACHERS

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." KHS Future Teachers Association is creating an interest in the teaching profession by offering opportunities to teach in the classroom. The seven exploratory teachers, Julie Kent, Gail Lacy, Kay Hankins, Barbara Ehrman, Arlene Lewis, Carol Coe, and Georgann Mustard, turned in weekly progress reports to sponsors, Mrs. Lena Coombes and Mrs. Peggy McClung, and kept a diary for their own personal reference.

A Valentine's Day Party for underprivileged children, films, and special speakers featured FTA activities. This club realized the need for good training of students—"Just as the twig is bent, the tree's inclined."

Barbara Ehrman gained much teaching experience as she helped the third grade pupils of Mrs. Ruth Bolton at Columbian School. They enthusiastically volunteered answers to her questions.

School and community programs kept these KHS Choir members singing.

Second Row: Carole Huston, Joyce Harrison, Sharon Wright, Martha Hendrix, Jephaline Shirar, Jane Miller, Carol King, Barbara Ehrman.

THE CHOIR'S SONGS ECHOED THROUGH KHS HALLS

Tick, tick, tick—the metronome counted the seconds, minutes, and hours of our KHS Choir students' sixth period practice sessions. Their songs echoed and disappeared down our halls, but the pleasure and joy brought by this choral group won't be soon forgotten.

Under the expert direction of Miss Mary A. Fausset, the Choir was kept busy throughout the year giving programs for various service clubs and community groups as well as for school activities. One such activity was the presentation of a Christmas Cantata of the "Song of Christmas" with the living tableaus to enliven the beautiful portrayal of the well-known story. A memorable annual event was the caroling of the Choir and student body around the Christmas tree. The Choir entered "show business" as it appeared in the Boys' Legion Hullabaloo. That was surely a grand night for singing.

Spring brought the Four City Festival in co-operation with the KHS Band, and the Cavalcade of Music combined with the Band and Glee Clubs. On this night the graduating seniors sorrowfully, but with much dignity and pride, gave their treasured stoles to the newly-chosen Choir members in the traditional robing ceremony.

Choir officers were Carol Coe, president and accompanist; Joe Van Dorn, vice president; Phyllis Aldridge, secretary; and Janet Fawcett, treasurer. As the metronome ticked out hours of hard work necessary to hold the high respect of the community and KHS, it also ticked out the pleasure of knowing a job was well done.

Golden tones rang from the auditorium as the choir caroled for Christmas convocations.

Front Row: Saundra Baugher, Becky Turley, Eva Sauve, Jayne Lee, Dixie Johnson, Dee Dee Johnston, Delonna Reed, Gloria Pyke, Carol Coe.

Third Row: Dan Horsman, Jerry Silence, Ronnie Reynolds, Wilson Burns, Jeff Kelly, Jack Heflin, John Snider.

BRINGING PLEASURE THAT WON'T BE FORGOTTEN

The outstanding Christmas event for KHS students was the Choir's melodious convocation, impressing upon everyone the religious serenity and joy of Yuletide festivities.

Dressed in red and white, the choir blended their voices in song as they lent an air of musical color to the 1958 Hullabaloo.

These Band members brightened many school activities.

PRACTICE WORK-OUTS SPARKED OUR BAND

Rhythm, melody, harmony, and counterpoint are the four elements of music. But the most important factor of good music, clear solid tones and even balance, comes as a result of practice, practice, and more practice. Mr. Joseph Ragains directed the Kokomo High School Band through many sessions to achieve the right musical effect. Sparking the drive for our football victories and leavening the basketball games besides leading the Halloween, Veteran's Day, and Santa Claus Parades kept the Band stepping high.

AS THEY REACHED FOR MUSICAL PERFECTION

The Hullabaloo was accompanied by the Band's version of "My Fair Lady." On May 4, the KHS Band was the host for the Four City Festival which included Logansport, Peru, and Marion. Combining with the KHS Choir, the Band presented the Cavalcade of Music. Climaxing the active year, the Band ushered in the graduating seniors with their rendition of "Pomp and Circumstance." Rhythm, melody, harmony, and counterpoint, with practice under capable direction made perfection, the KHS Band.

These Color Guard members, left to right, Dan Dunn, Jim Stodgell, Ernest Munson, Vincent Holt, and Marvin Reichenback, carried the flags to lend smartness to the band.

These students contributed more than 5500 hours for Dramatics.

THESPIANS UNFOLDED THE WORLD OF MAKE BELIEVE

Into the world of make believe—what better source of adventure could be found than the theatre? Troupe 979 of the National Thespian Society, KHS's Thespian Club, unfolded entertainment galore throughout the year as the members presented their annual three-act "The Night of January 16" on April 23, and the "Hoosier Schoolmaster" in co-operation with the Dramatic Club on March 3 and 4.

Students fullfiling the requirements for membership into this honorary organization, 100 hours of dramatic production apprenticeship, were initiated at one of two initiations.

Learning lines, painting scenery, sewing costumes, selling tickets, planning programs—all these functions were performed with an air of authority as the Thespians journeyed into the world of make believe to advance Dramatic Arts in KHS.

TWO PLAYS KEPT AUDIENCES IN SUSPENSE AND LAUGHTER

On the Night of January 16th Linda Moss took court notes as Dick Chegar shook a warning fist at Ed Seagrave. The judge, Jerry Coles, heard the evidence for and against the indicted Marilyn Williams while Susie Badger observed the dramatic scene. Was Karen Andre guilty or innocent?

Paula Akemann and Sandra Hamilton angrily bickered back and forth, expressing their opposite views in the Hoosier Schoolmaster.

Barbara Jonsson (Granny Saunders) wildly gestured at Bob Hicks(Dr. Small) as she emphasized her point in the Hoosier Schoolmaster.

The Hoosier Schoolmaster, based on a novel by Edward Eggleston, was presented by the Dramatic Club and Thespian Society. In this backwoods schoolroom comedy, teachers and students helped and prompted the spelling bee contestants.

THESE BRIGHT LIGHTS PRODUCED STARRY NIGHTS

"Act well your part, there all the honor lies." This could very well have served as the motto of the Kokomo High School's Dramatic Club, a must for those interested in this extra-curricular activity.

With keen competition for membership, the number of students was limited to sixty-five. A series of tryouts were held in the fall followed by a hilarious initiation party at Marilyn William's house.

With the staging of Jules Verne's Around the World in 80 Days, and the two Christmas comedies, Just what They Wanted and Not Even A Mouse, each member had the satisfaction of displaying his dramatic talents.

Projects of these potential actors and actresses included attending the Purdue Workshop plays, producing the Hoosier Schoolmaster in cooperation with the Thespians, and awarding a $100 scholarship to a senior member interested in continuing his education in the fields of speech or drama.

The members and sponsors — Mrs. Elsie Seagrave, Mrs. Jane Hall, Mrs. Martha Hawkins, and Mr. Douglas North—found that hard work which goes into the production of a play is always rewarded by good times, a sense of satisfaction from a job well done, and memories to treasure always.

As Nancy Phillips attempts to strangle Gary Ruppert, Liz Waggaman, Paula Akemann, Ron Baber and Linda Hawkins gasp. This hilarious Christmas comedy, Not Even A Mouse, was presented by the Dramatic Club for student convocations.

Ed Seagrave, Joe Van Dorn, and Janet Miller displayed their acting talent in Around the World in 80 Days.

Old pros in the field of dramatics look on gleefully as Charles Saunders and Sara Shuss clown to meet the requirements of their Dramatic Club initiation.

"You have shown, Phileas, that it is love that makes the world go 'round, not wagers," consoled Janet Miller (Aouda) when the pompous gentleman Joe Van Dorn (Mr. Fogg) believed he had lost his wager.

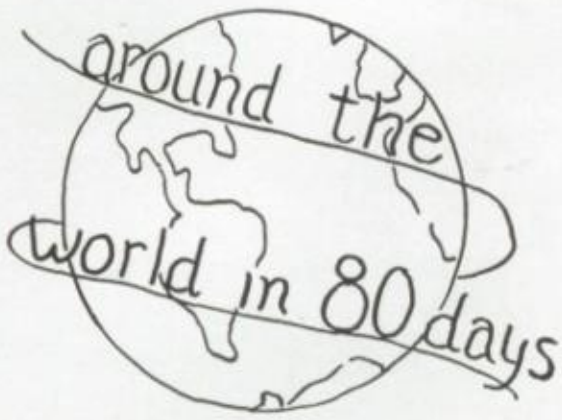
A MAN OF HABIT AND HIS SPARKLING FRENCH VALET

London, Bombay, Hong Kong Harbor, San Francisco, and back to London—this completed the Dramatic Club's trip around the world in 80 days.

Phileas Fogg, a punctual Englishman, bet 20,000 pounds with his whist-playing companions that he could circle the globe in 80 days. Calmly he set out with his fanciful servant, Passepartout, in tow, while Mr. Fix, a Scotland Yard detective, with his flightly wife trailing on his coattails, followed Mr. Fogg to arrest him on suspicion of a Bank of England theft.

A smashing finale with thundering applause climaxed the trip Around the World in 80 Days as cast members took their final bows.

WON A WAGER TO CIRCLE THE WORLD IN 80 DAYS



Passepartout then angered Bombay authorities by entering a holy temple, and Mr. Fogg, himself, halted the expedition to rescue a beautiful Hindoo princess, Aouda. After battling the Indians in America and struggling to New York, the party sailed hurriedly for England. In Liverpool the conniving Mr. Fix jailed Mr. Fogg, but apologetically had to release him. Reaching London at last, Passepartout proposed to Mr. Fogg's maid, Mrs. Murchison, and Mr. Fogg married Aouda, proving that romance also whirls around the world. Mr. and Mrs. Fogg then collected the reward with only seconds to spare.

This three-act production, directed by Mrs. Elsie Seagrave, Mrs. Jane Hall, Mrs. Martha Hawkins, and Mr. Douglas North, combined comedy, mystery, adventure, and romance to blossom into a huge success for the KHS Dramatic Club.

Returning from his eventful itinerary, Ed Seagrave (Passepartout) proposed marriage to Janet Fawcett (Mrs. Murchison). When she accepted, he impishly grinned and retorted, "Ef you knew me bettair, you would not."

These Honor Society members deserve the respect shown them.

HONOR SOCIETY IS A RECOGNITION FOR MERIT

"The quest for the best" is the motto of the National Honor Society which challenges each member to attain the top in scholastic rating, character, service, and qualities of leadership. Honor is a "token of respect; an outward mark of high esteem; recognition of merit." Members of KHS's National Honor Society are worthy of their high respect as this selective group has to maintain a "B" average throughout high school. Fifteen percent of the senior class and five percent of the junior class are eligible for membership. Distinguishing the new initiates are the blue and yellow ribbons which they wear proudly for one week. In the spring, preceding the Honor Society's annual banquet, the newly elected members participate in an impressive ceremony viewed by the entire student body. Here they carry lighted candles, symbolizing the qualities necessary for honor.

WE TOOK TESTS AS WE PLANNED FOR THE FUTURE

The "Magic Moments" that many KHS'ers will remember longest in the years following graduation will be the days their brains were tried and taxed the most. The accumulated knowledge of four years was released on three tests—the Scholarship Qualifying Test, the Vocational Aptitude Test, and the I. U. Achievement Test.

Anxious students braved the chilly weather in late October and early November to trek to the YWCA where lengthy tests awaited them. When April flowers and sunshine were calling most students, some overcame their spring fever and concentrated on the "question and answer" game. Students who took the Scholarship Qualifying Test hoped to gain financial aid in college and the others who took the Vocational Aptitude Test hoped to be placed in a good job after graduation. I. U. Achievement Test state winners received medals and honors after excelling in math, English, Latin, and Spanish.

By our publication date, May 13, 1958, these scholarship winners had been announced.

COLLEGE NIGHT AND VIC - TWO KHS ADVENTURES

Mark up one more first for Kokomo and KHS. In January KHS, Eastern, Northwestern, and Western got a look at college through the first annual College Night. The purpose of this program was to acquaint high school students with basic college facts and to give specific information concerning Indiana schools.

In April, the Student Council sponsored a Vocational Interest Conference, a career conference to explain the different aspects of various careers and vocations. This conference encouraged students to think about an occupational choice and provided first-hand information. Our Student Council chalked up two more adventures for our school of firsts.

Representatives from twenty-five colleges and universities in Indiana were present for a general auditorium session, presided over by Barbara Mitzelfelt, chairman.

Peter Volkert, an Indonesian coming to KHS by way of the Netherlands, points out his home, the land of dykes, windmills and tulips.

Vera Teixeria, our exchange student from our Southern neighbors, South America, designates her native country as she holds the flag representing Brazil.

Dick Chegar, our second KHS ambassador abroad, became an American in the Netherlands last summer. He proudly displays a map of our country, USA.

AFS IS AN INVESTMENT IN WORLD PEACE

"Walk together, talk together, O ye peoples of the earth: then and only then shall ye have peace." This Sanskrit quotation expresses the duty of the American Field Service — promoting world peace through a student exchange program. In the school year of 1951-'52, our first winter exchange student arrived and in the summer of 1956 KHS first participated in the summer program, Americans Abroad. Mrs. Audra Lindley is the local chairman and the AFS Representative for Indiana.

Dick Chegar, Kay Hankins, Jeannie Mason, Mrs. Audra Lindley, Vera Teixeria, Bob White, Mr. O. I. Farmer, Kent Dunn, and Peter Volkert compose the Student Committee and Sponsors for the American Field Service.

ON THEIR MEMORABLE SENIOR HEYDAY

Stricken with sea and swimming fever, Harmer and Buff Masters, played by Jerry Silence and Phyllis Aldridge, kept the play bopping with the teenage beat!

"Mr. Dooley had a fight with another porcupine." The auditorium roared with laughter at this line from the rollicking Senior class play, Fly Away Home.

The independent Masters' children led an unrestricted life on Cape Cod until their estranged father returned to rule his roost. He comforted sea-stricken Harmer Masters and feisty swimmer, Buff, who were worried about their porcupine-fighting dog, Mr. Dooley. He also warded off a battle between Cory Masters and Gabriel, a Portugeuse fisherman over his girl, Maria.

Linda Masters (Janet Fawcett) surprised her parents and her mother's fiance, played by Joyce Green, Ernest Munson, and Fred Preston, when she happily announced that she had eloped with Johnny Heming (Ed Maynard).

THE SENIOR CLASS "FLEW AWAY HOME"

With the return of Nancy Masters, the mother of the boisterous family, things began to spin. After Professor Armand entered the family as Mrs. Masters' fiance, Linda Masters had eloped with Johnny Heming, and Cory had become engaged to Tinka Collingsby, Mrs. Masters reunited with her overworked husband.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Kern and Mr. Karl Kiger, with Carol Turner as general chairman, the success of this play paid for a parting gift to the school.

"There, there Mr. Dooley," comforted Corey Masters (Don Sullenberger) and Tinka Collingsby (Georgann Mustard), an engaged couple in the play, after their pet dog had mixed with a porcupine.

The taxi driver (Richard Downhour) objected to being called and sent back three times. Maria (Judy Irwin) and Gabriel (Chuck Wells), playing Portugese friends of the Masters' family, and the maid (June Kearney) tried to cool him down.

THE RECEPTION HONORED OUR DEPARTING SENIORS

Two questions floated frequently among the Juniors and Seniors of KHS as school drew to a close. "What is the theme of the Junior-Senior Reception? Who will be the king and queen?" This year, tradition stepped aside as the Juniors elected boys and girls to reign as a king and queen.

Co-chairmen of the dance were Karol Stonger, Dick Webster, general; Nancy Phillips, Bob Atkinson, coronation; Joyce Eisinger, David Peters, decorations; Nancy Humphrey, Mike Davis, chaperones; Betsy Schwartz, Ralph Herr, programs; Jerry Coles, entertainment; Rebecca Reed, George Hopkins, invitations; Judy Snyder, David Sturgeon, refreshments.

Junior sponsors were Mr. Robert Barngrover, Mr. Wilson Corn, Mrs. Mary Crook, Mrs. Louie B. Greenlee, Mrs. Jane Hall, Mr. Earl Hoover, Mrs. Jane Jones, Mr. Paul Kendall, Mr. Charles Klinger, Mrs. Audra Lindley, Mr. Ed Maddox, Mr. Allen Moore, Mrs. Geraldine Philapy, Mr. Ed Phillips, and Mr. David Reeve.

CHEERLEADERS, YELL GROUP, AND "K" CLUB 'TIS CLEAR

The Yell Group expressed their glee when a Wildcat cager scored

"Hi neighbor, hi neighbor!" Our girl cheerleaders, Jane Miller, Phyllis Aldridge, and Jayne Murray, greeted our rival visitors in a peppy yell.

"T - E - A - M - - - Team!" This was one of the many yells that echoed over Kautz Field and bounced off the walls of the Memorial Gym as the yell group spurred the KHS teams on to victory.

Established several years ago, the KHS yell group has rapidly become one of the finest in the state as it provided the vocal encouragement and moral support for the Kats. This year juniors and seniors primarily composing it boosted the team, promoted good sportmanship, and entertained the Hoosier fans.

Under the guidance of Miss Imogene Winslow, Mrs. Arcille Overton, and the varsity cheerleaders, the red, blue, and white formations such as WILDCATS and Frosty the Snowman were truly outstanding.

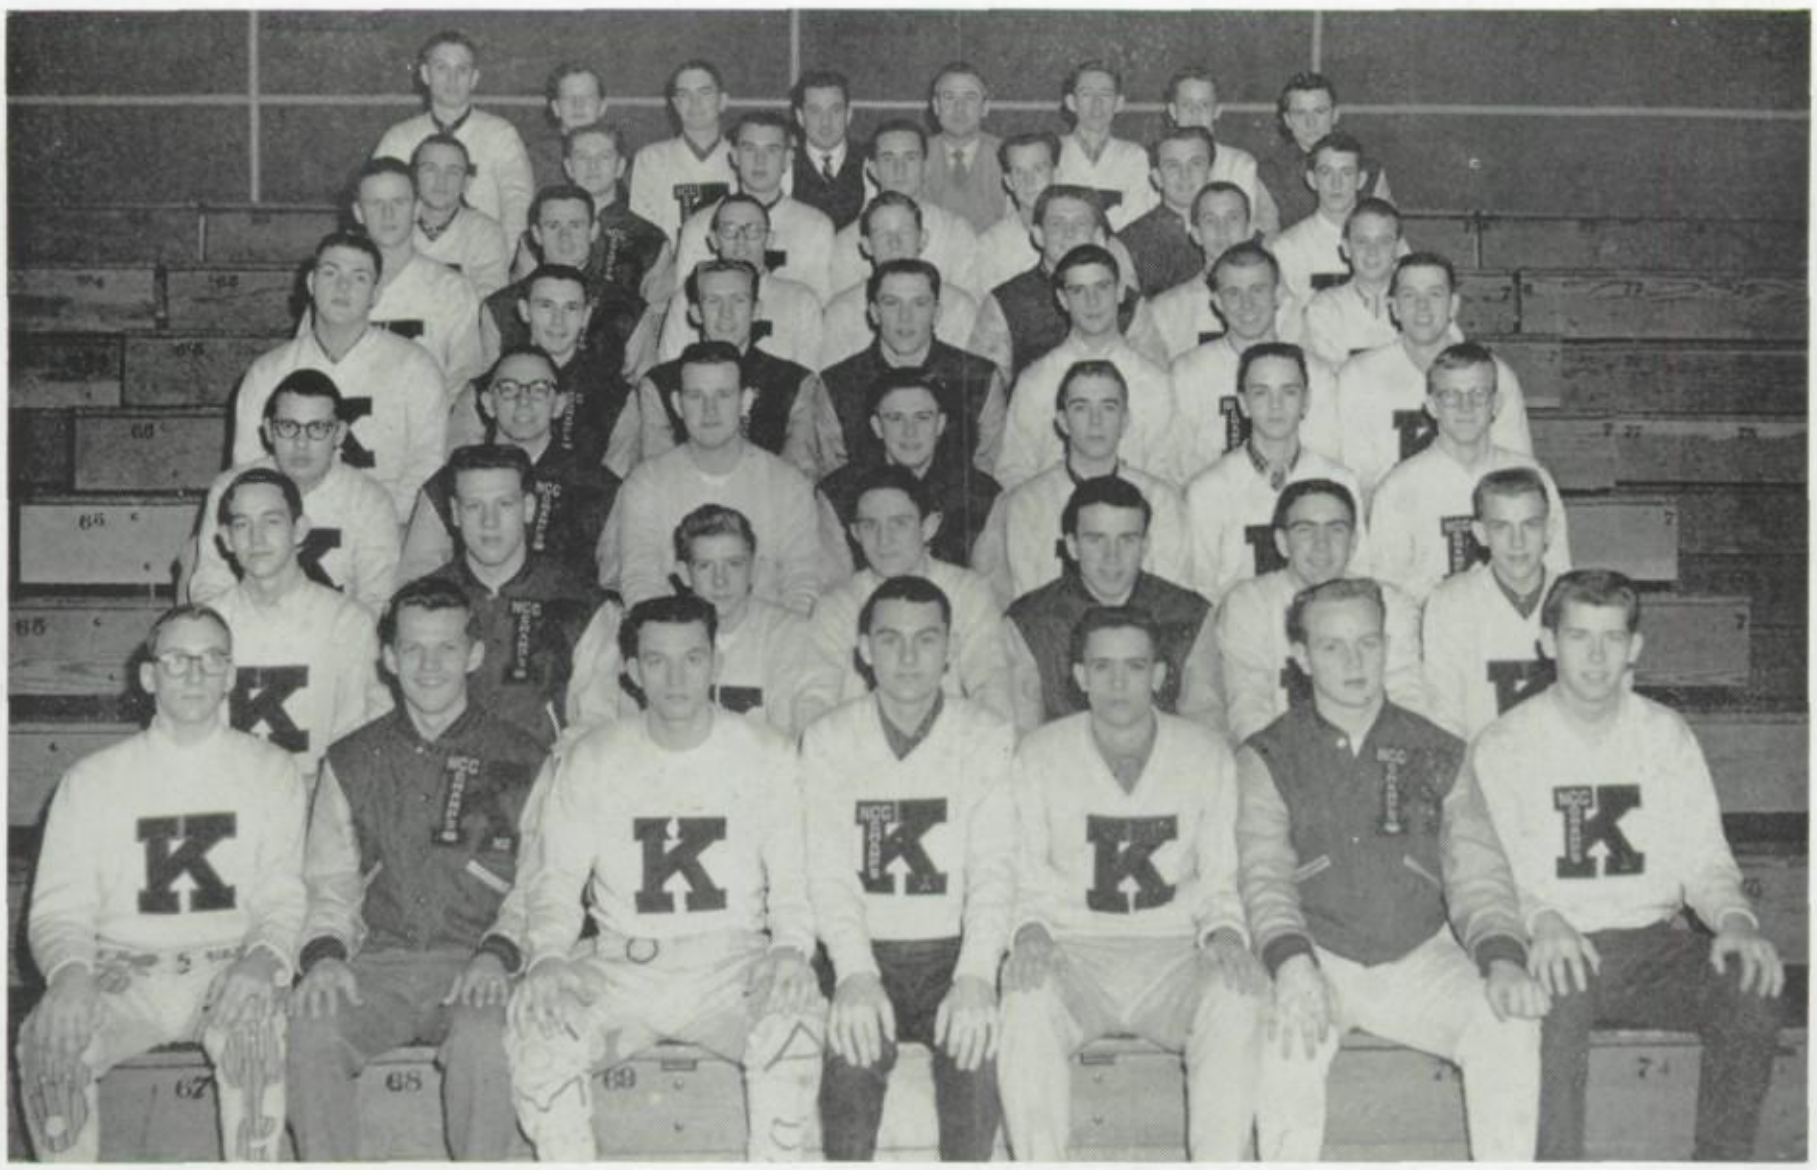
The cheerleaders, supervised by Mrs. Marilyn Friedrick, led the fans in many original yells this year such as "Satisfied" and "Va Va Va Voom". These ace spirit sparkers were Phyllis Aldridge, captain; Ron Wines; Jane Miller; Mike Ashburn; and Jayne Murray.

BOOSTED OUR TEAMS THROUGHOUT THE YEAR

A new club found at KHS this year was the K Men's Club. Under the capable sponsorship of Mr. William Fox and Mr. Robert Bushong, the K Club has taken part in a number of things with one purpose in mind. This was to promote better student interest in school sports. Any boy was eligible who had won a major letter in athletics.

This club headed the dads and Grads' Night festivities during the football season and later in the year they sponsored a sock hop. Arrayed in white sweaters and major letters, they united in a yell block for the basketball games. At certain key games they formed an aisle for the team to pass through as they came out on the floor. The Has Been-Will Be game was also under the club's leadership. It's hats off to a new and valuable club at KHS.

"Wildcats, the Bearcats are after you tonight!" Mike Ashburn and Ron Wines, our boy cheerleaders, demonstrated their agile gymnastic technique for the Hoosier fans.



The masculine athletic leaders possessing major K's formed a spunky K Club this year.

Second Row: Jerry Fiscus, Russell Bergman, Russell Pine, Bob Freed, Brian Cossell, Mike Hickman, Larry Needham.

Third Row: Bill Simmons, Dick Wood, Jim Hudson, Tom Beety, Charles Helvig, David Shrock, Kent Dunn.

Fourth Row: Bill Atkinson, Lynn Davenport, Jerry Ashburn, Chuck Wells, Steve Overton, Jack Shutt, Ed Thompson.

Fifth Row: Ronnie Nutt, Jerry Silence, David Standt, Joe Klein, Tom Swing, David Briney, Chuck Fuller.

Sixth Row: Ralph Herr, Lance Middlekauff, David Long, Virgil Joseph, Dave Sheline, E. J. Meissnest, Chuck Wooley.

Back Row: David Avery, Dan Dunn, Jerry Ousley, Mr. Bill Fox, Mr. Bob Bushong, John Freed, Don Campbell, Fred Dyer.

WHEN THE NCC THE WILDCATS SOUGHT,

In front of the goal posts, our undefeated football team gloried in their triumph.

Second Row: Bill Ross, Joe Granson, Jim Hudson, Russell Bergman, Bob Campbell, Dan Forkner, E. J. Meissnest, Jerry Silence, Dave Ulrich, Loy Stover.

Chuck Wells strained for extra yardage against an Elwood tackler as Tom Swing rushed to the scene of the struggle.

Under the guidance of coaches Bob Hamilton and Bob Bushong, the Kat gridmen tied with Indianapolis Tech for the coveted NCC championship and fought themselves to an undefeated season, something this school hasn't boasted of since 1939.

After winning their first two games from Hammond Noll and Indianapolis Broad Ripple, respectively, the Kats encountered their first NCC opponent, Marion. Thanks to the offensive lineman, Dan Forkner, Gene Cameron, Jerry Ashburn, Roger Miller, and Bob Campbell, who opened up the holes in the line to give Chuck Wells room to plow through, the Kats continued their winning streak.

A TROPHY SHOWED WHAT PRACTICE BROUGHT

The Reserve team ably qualified themselves to fill in for this year's lost seniors.

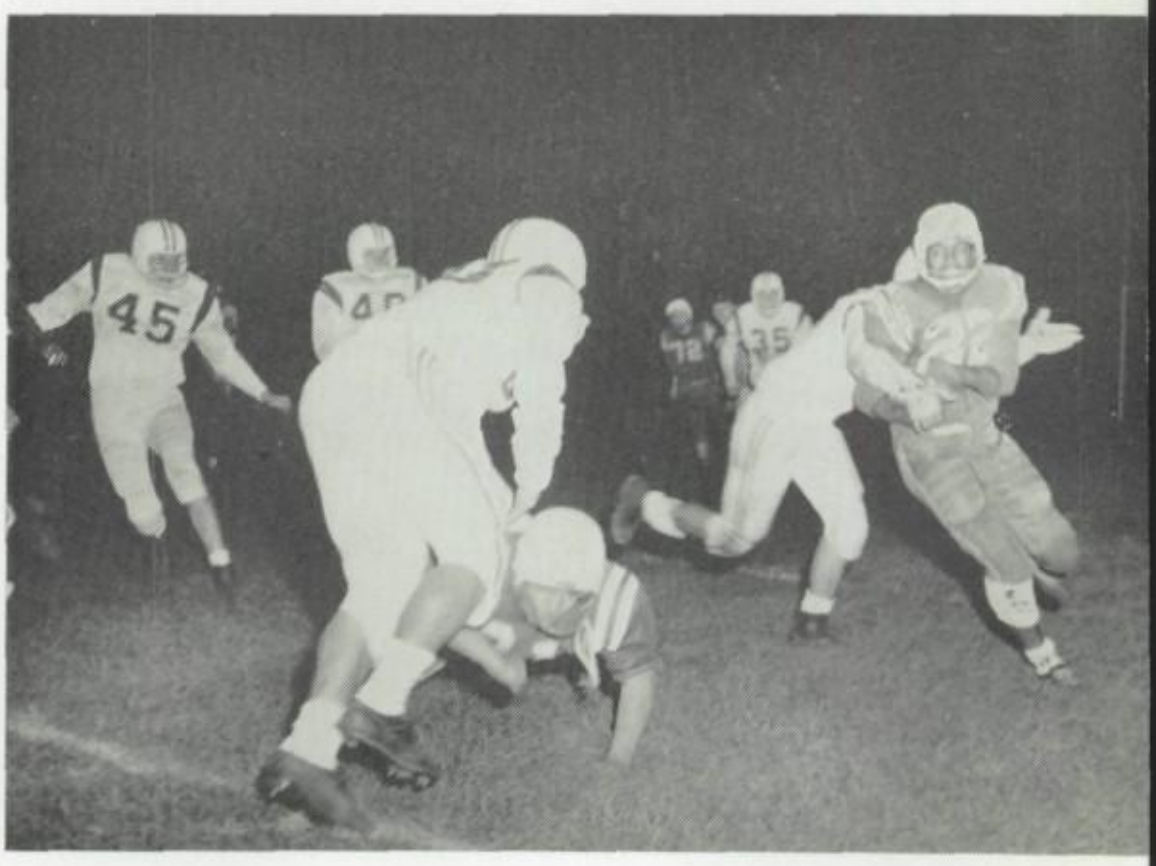
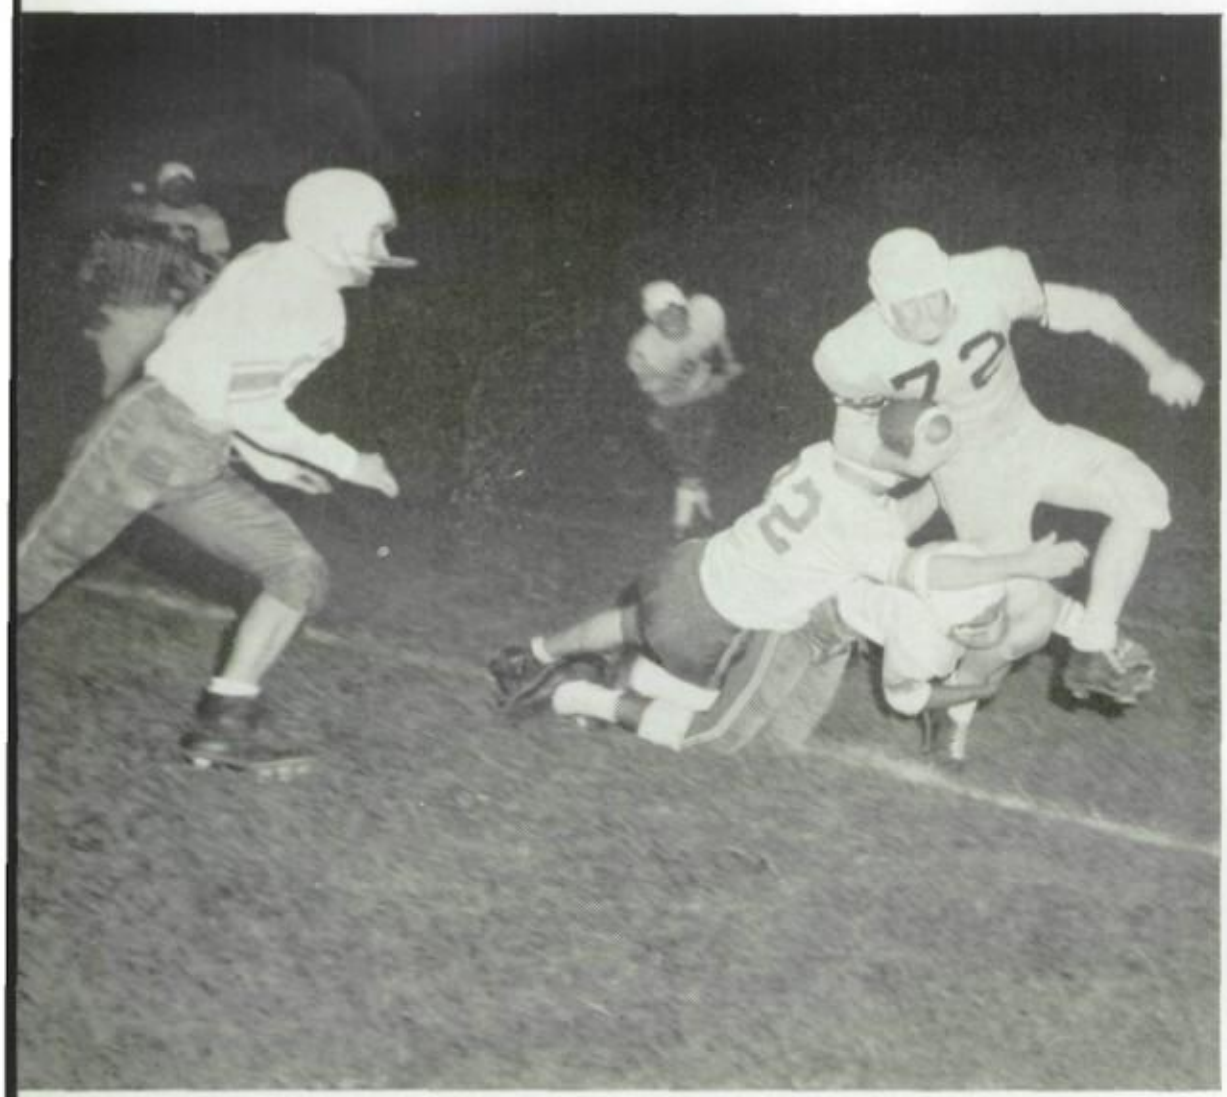
Accompanied by a large number of Wildcat fans, the Kokomo eleven journeyed to Lafayette the following week to meet the Jeff Broncos. With the help of Tom Swing and E. J. Meissnest on offense along with Loy Stover and Brian Cossell on defense, Jeff found that they could supply Ham's boys with very little competition.

The fifth grid match brought the Elwood Panthers to town in a game that saw the Wildcats for the second straight week score over 50 points. It also marked the last time the senior halfback, Walt Ligon, would wear a KHS uniform because of his fast approaching twentieth birthday.

Walt Ligon took one of his gliding sweeps around his own left end as Chuck Wells threw a crucial block to complete the play.



OPPOSITION LARGE OR SMALL,



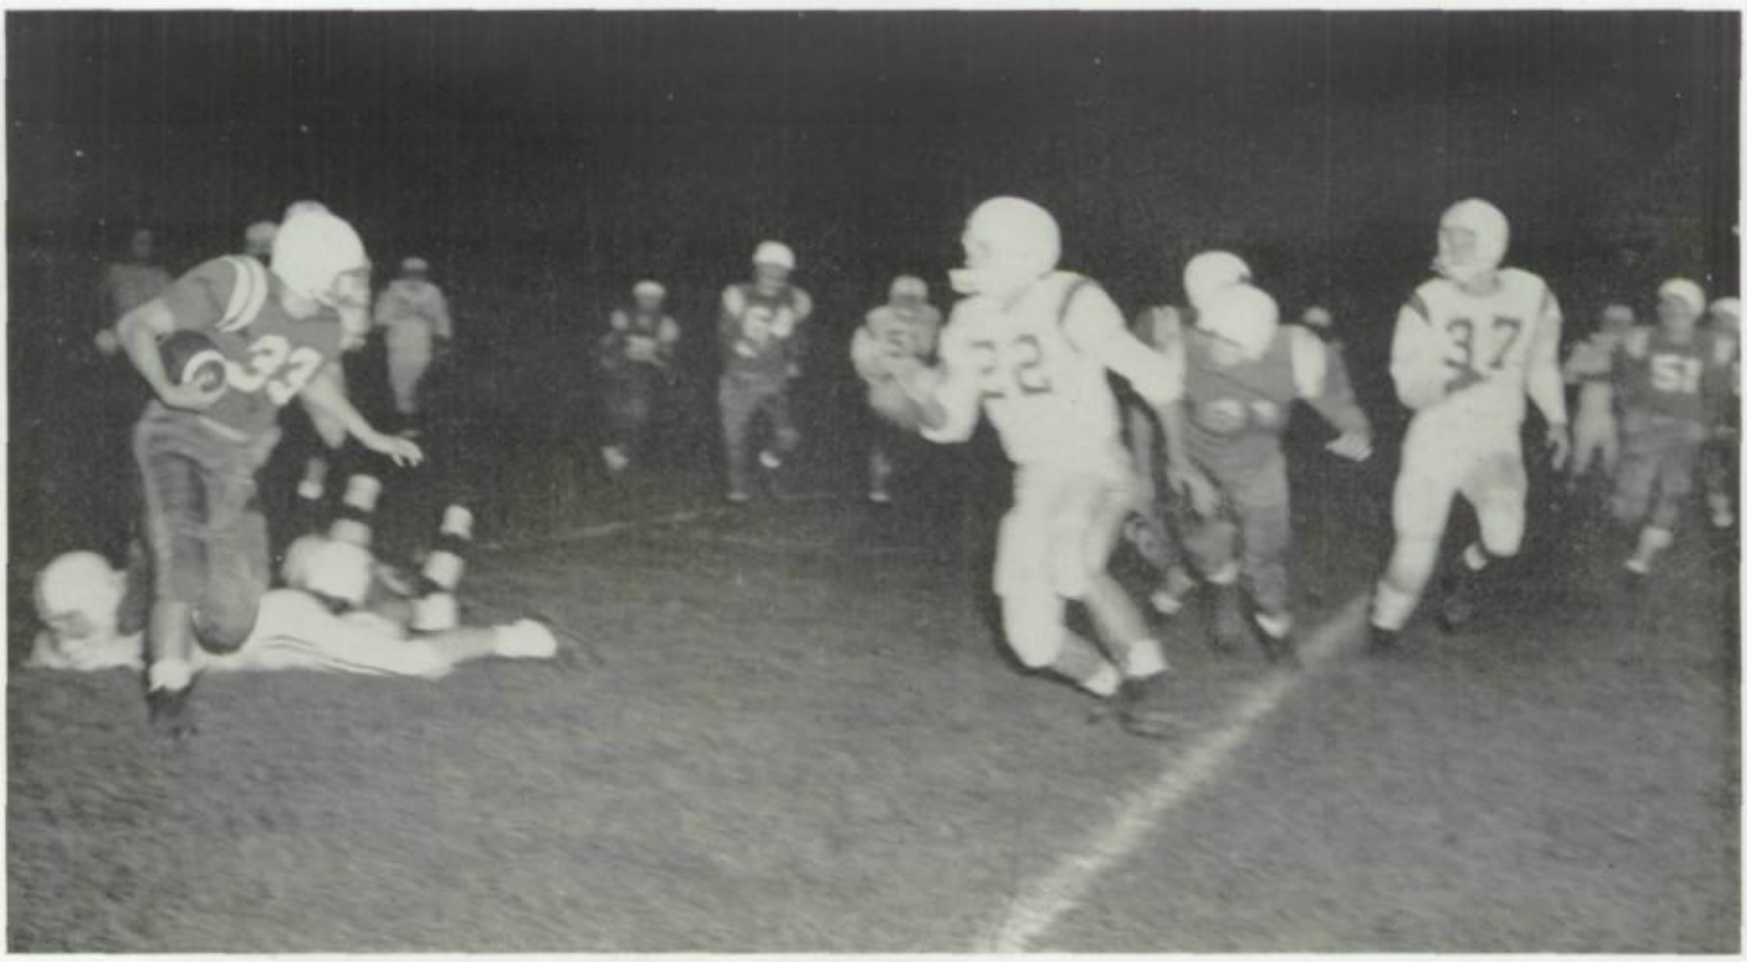
Another Marion scoring threat was brought to a swift halt as the Kat defense led by Fred Dyer stiffened against the onslaught of attack.

Walt, commonly known as the "streak", gave Wildcat followers something to remember him by as he scored three touchdowns and played an outstanding defense.

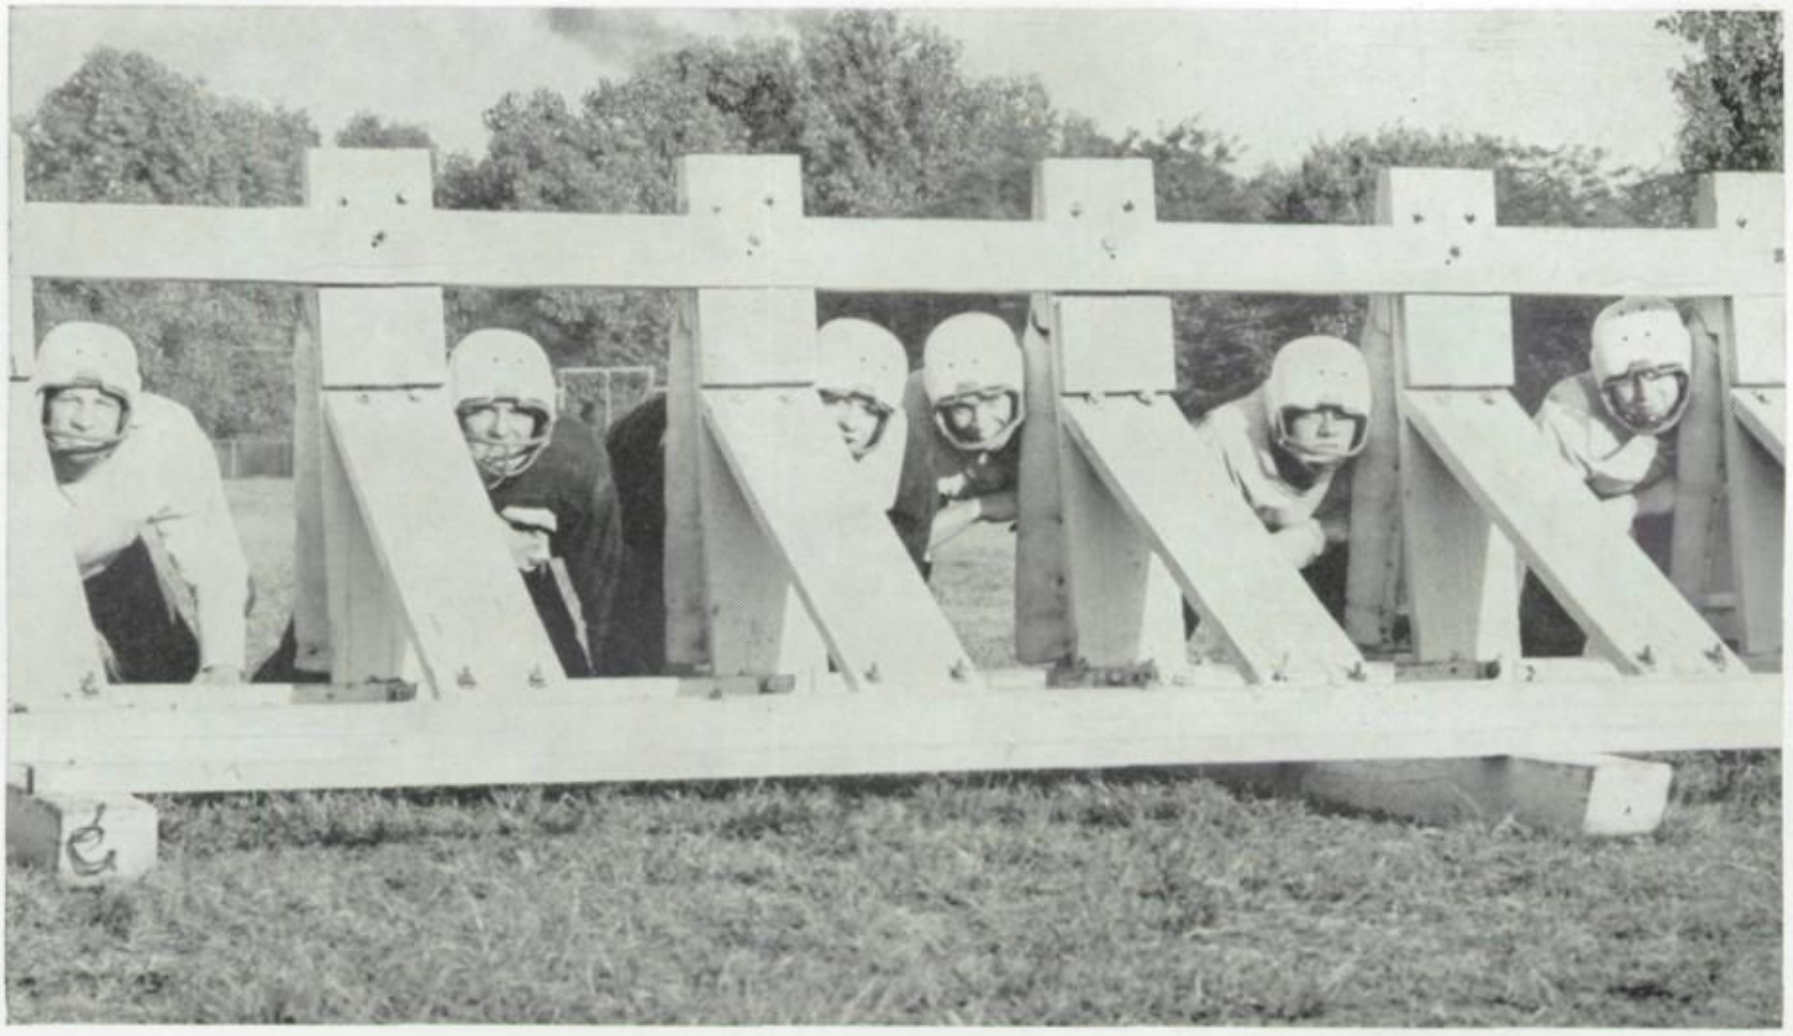
In the two weeks that followed, the Wildcats compiled victories over New Castle and Logansport, respectively, and continued to hold their tie with Tech for the NCC race.

Before a Dads' Night crowd, the Kats kept their unbeaten, untied record alive. This clinched a tie for the NCC and added another gold trophy to the KHS collection. Chuck Fawcett and Lynn Davenport each got a touchdown on runs, while Lance Middlekauff's accurate passing connected with Bill Stifle and Russell Bergman for two more Wildcat rallies.

Chuck Fawcett's speed and versatility looked as if they were about to carry Kat hopes across the goal line as Russell Bergman came up from the side to take out an Elwood tackler.



KOKOMO TRIUMPHED OVER ALL.



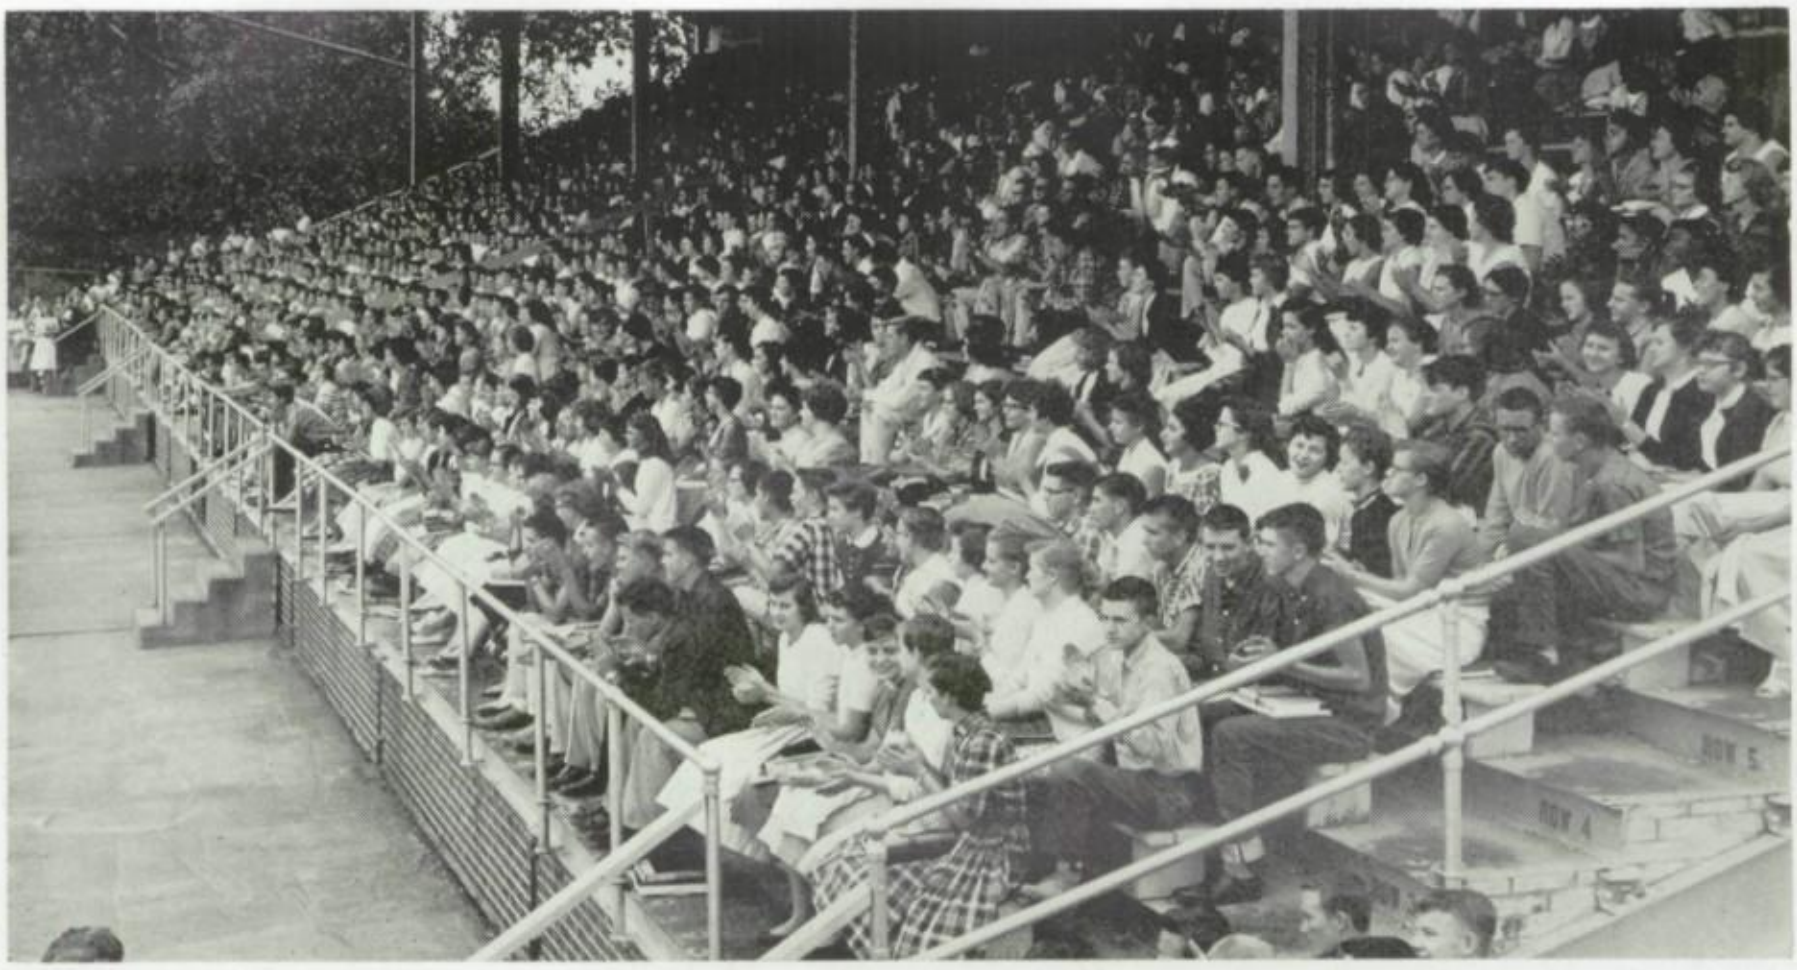
"Hit that boat!" The Wildcat forward wall, consisting of Russell Bergman, Bob Campbell, Dan Forkner, Jerry Ashburn, Bob Atkinson, and Roger Miller, ground out leg and back muscles to tune up for the big game of the week.

"All right, you guys! If you don't slam that boat harder, you'll never come close to Lafayette," hollered Coach Bob Hamilton as Mr. Dick Donovan, Mr. Bill Fox, and Mr. Bob Bushong critically analyzed the team in their afternoon workout.

The following Friday, fans witnessed twenty-two of the greatest football players in KHS history put their helmets on for the last time to wind up the season with Peru. The Tigers were certainly no match for the Wildcats who had definitely lived up to their motto, "We fight."

Although other Wildcat football teams will play on the Kautz Field gridiron, few will equal the record established by the 1957 Kats. Coaches Hamilton and Bushong will always remember Ashburn, Bergman, Cameron, Campbell, Cossell, Davenport, Dyer, Forkner, Granson, Hudson, Kellum, Ligon, Meissnest, Middlekauff, Miller, Silence, Stifle, Stover, Swing, Ulrich, Wells, and Wood. These senior names will echo over the P.A. system and hover over the Kautz Field for years to come.

FANS AND MANAGERS WERE ALWAYS THERE



Go get 'em, Wildcats! A giant size pep session was held at 3:30 on Kautz Field to fire up the Kokomo gridmen with our roaring support.

Brrr! Loyal football fans, led by cheerleaders, Jane Miller, Phyllis Aldridge and Jayne Murray, shivered in the cold northern night as they filed up into the Kautz Field grandstand after huddling at a bonfire pep session on Dads and Grads' night.

TO AID THE TEAM BEYOND COMPARE

The student managers, more commonly known as the "bucket brigaders" or the "towel tossers," are more important than these titles suggest. Actually they are as busy as the boys participating on the athletic teams. Mr. Kenneth Craig is athletic equipment supervisor, but he cannot check all of the equipment and the other miscellaneous items that must be approved, so he chooses student managers to do the odd jobs. A few of the duties of the managers are distributing and distributing and keeping records on equipment, keeping records on participation by team members, administering minor first aid, and operating the whirlpool bath. When the going gets rough, they're always ready to give our players that extra spark of incentive to help them play their best.

Thanks go to the student managers for serving KHS so well. Their co-operation was greatly appreciated by every coach and player.

In a conglomeration of shoulder pads, helmets, and football shoes were football managers, Kent Dunn, and Bert Fridlin, preparing to set our gridmen for another sparkling game.

E. J. Meissnest showed Coach Bob Hamilton just where he thought his name should be placed on the coveted N.C.C. Trophy. Lynn Davenport, Lance Middlekauff, Coach Robert Bushong, and Roger Miller put in their two cents' worth to get a share of the hard-won prize.

THE HARRIERS AND THE GRAPPLERS TOO

The Cross Country squad hustled home with an NCC third-place honor.

Under the able coaching of Walter Cross, the KHS cross-country team experienced another fine season. They were without the services of their number one runner, Bob Fell, but they still had power in senior Dick Campbell and juniors Dick Beck and Dave Long.

The Kats claimed their first victory over Lafayette Jeff, with Campbell taking individual honors. The team then breezed past Wabash and Marion. Muncie Central finally brought the Kats' three-meet winning streak to an end by pushing them aside for their first defeat.

The Kats bounced back by winning over both Ft. Wayne Central and South Side in a triangular meet. In the Shortridge Invitational, the boys took ninth place, with Beck taking individual eighth place. Then facing North Central, our harriers won again.

The varsity was composed of Dick Beck, Dick Campbell, Jerry Fiscus, John Freed, Dave Long, Larry Needham, and Ed Thompson. They took third in the NCC and sent the fifth place finisher, Beck, to the state meet, where he turned in a commendable performance.

Kat harriers, Dick Campbell, Ed Thompson, John Freed, and Jerry Fiscus, limbered up leg muscles as they took a trek around a well-worn cross-country course.

DID THERE BEST FOR THE RED AND BLUE

The Kat grapplers bearhugged and headlocked themselves into a great season.

Front Row: Dan Dunn, Walter Thompson, Ralph Herr, Russell Pine, Phil Pearson, Peter Cone, Bob Freed, Phil McKown, Jerry Silence.

The KHS wrestling team, under the strong leadership of Coach Bob Hamilton, twisted to a 3-to-4 season with one tie in dual meets. The Kats were victorious over two conference teams, Muncie Central and New Castle, and one non-conference team, West Lafayette. The team was out-maneuvred by Anderson, Jeff of Lafayette Southport, and Broad Ripple, while their conflict with Crawfordsville climaxed in a tie.

The grapplers participated in two four-way tournaments. In one, they were victorious over Peru, Logansport, and Marion. In the second, they placed fourth behind Richmond, Bloomington, and Shortridge.

Kokomo placed seventh in the conference and ended the season by tying for third place in the state meet. Russell Pine in the 103-pound class and Chuck Wells in the 165-pound class won both the conference and state championships showing splendid performances.

Although Wells graduated, Pine will be back to lead the matmen through another fine season in '58 and '59.

Jerry Silence proves his point to Bob Freed as Jerry's unique hold leaves Bob helpless.

OUR CAGERS WON THE CONFERENCE CROWN

The '57-'58 net squad ripped through one of the most dazzling seasons in KHS history this year as accurate shooting and excellent ball handling crushed 23 opponents from a possible 27. The hardwood season got off to a roaring start as the Wildcats downed Wabash, Tipton, and Frankfort with a minimum of effort. Rugged Elwood next invaded the Memorial Gymnasium and the first real test of our Wildcats was on, but a seven-point margin separated the two teams at the final gun as Kokomo proved its prowess in the Hoosier sport.

Full of new confidence and the will to win, the Kats traveled to Lafayette, but the home court proved to be too great an advantage as Jeff's Broncos edged out the Kokomo squad for its first defeat. The following weekend the Kokomo quintet rolled over two more victims as Marion and Shortridge more than met their match on Friday and Saturday nights.

This group was the pride and joy of all KHS basketball fans as they upset the sports writers' predictions by winning the NCC championship.

First Row: Tom Beety, Jim Rayl, Chuck Fawcett, Dick Campbell, Don Bowling, and Bill Thomison.

TO BECOME THE CHAMPS OF STATE RENOWN

Dick Graham leaped into the higher atmosphere to deflect the ball away from a Noblesville player as Roger Thurston readied himself for the rebound.

Brilliant defense on the part of Dick Graham and John Gillem had the visitors hemmed in on all sides.

On the following Friday night Crispus Attucks, three-time state champions, traveled to Kokomo, and one of the most explosive contests in KHS history ensued. Sports writers from all over the state acclaimed Jimmy Rayl aonther Oscar Robertson as he gave everyone on the floor a lesson in shooting by ripping 46 points for a new KHS record. The lead switched hands five times in the last three minutes as the powerful Tigers edged out our Kats in the last few seconds.

Next on the Wildcat schedule was the Logansport invitational tournament, and as the nets came down at the Berry Bowl, Kokomo had added another trophy to its already large collection.

With lightning speed, the Splendid Splinter, Jim Rayl, agilely outfoxed his bewildred New Castle guard.

CONSISTENCY IN EVERY GAME

Kokomo fans saw this play often when Roger Thurston jumped close to the basket and Ray Harbaugh waited to take the rebound or to tip the ball in.

Richmond's explosive Red Devils upset the Kats to be the last team to topple them in season play. Then a bounty of success was in store for the net squad as six opponents fell before the onslaught in regular order, before the start of tourney play.

A taste of victory spurred the Kats on to greater heights as a phenomenal shot by Jim Rayl clinched the Anderson encounter, while Muncie and Peru were downed with professional ease. With the NCC crown within reaching distance, the Kats' next weekend was a crucial one. Powerful Tech of Indianapolis and rugged Marion were poised to conquer the Kats and make their bid for the title, but

In a basketball bull session, Joe Platt coached his boys, "Graham play under, Fawcett out, and feed him the ball."

DUBBED THE KATS WITH PRAISE AND FAME

teamwork and excellent coaching soon showed who was the powerhouse of the NCC.

The crown was clinched as the Kat quintet routed New Castle in the season's final game, and Jim Rayl, a scoring ace through the entire season, became the possessor of the NCC individual scoring record with an amazing 216 points.

The Kats now faced an old enemy, the sectionals; but the Wildcats of Kokomo proved themselves beyond the shadow of a doubt as they roared through the tournament for the first time since 1954, averaging a whooping 94.5 points per game.

Flying high into the air, Jim Rayl scrapped with the opposition on his typical leaping layup shot.

"Victory, victory was their cry, V-I-C-T-O-R-Y!" The triumphant Wildcats reveled in their glory after bagging the Regional tourney championship.

THE VICTORIOUS VARSITY HAD PEP TO SPARE

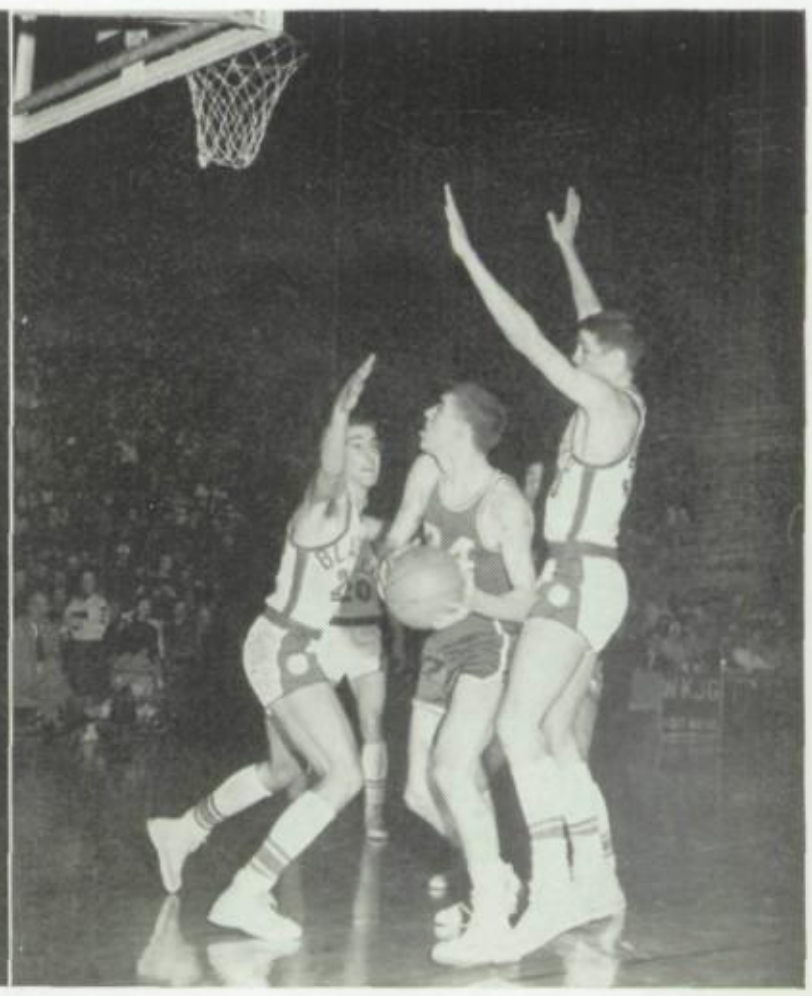
Glimmering in glory, the 1958 NCC trophy signified the successful Kokomo Wildcat basketball season.

The next rung in the ladder of success was the regionals, and Kokomo continued their breathtaking pace as they downed Noblesville in the afternoon and rolled over Wabash in the night session to become one of the "Sweet Sixteen" and secure a ticket to the Ft. Wayne Semi-State.

Elkhart's Blue Blazers shot with phenomenal accuracy at the free-toss stripe to edge out the Kats in the final seconds by a scant two-point margin. The Wildcats lived up to their name through the entire season as skillful play and expert coaching by Mr. Joe Platt turned out one of the finest basketball squads in many a year.

Although Don Bowling brilliantly outmanuevered an Elkhart Blue Blazer for another two points, the semi-state game proved to be the Wildcats' final battle of the season.

Ray Harbaugh found the Blazers' defense a little sticky as he tried to find an opening for his favorite jump shot.



AND WITH THIS PEP THE RESERVES DID SHARE

Dave Long, Dave Minor, Mike Astell, Bill Kessler, and Steve Wood listened to reserve coach Russell Bratton go over the scorebook.

The reserve basketball team came through with a fine season record this past season. The Kat Kubs finished the season with eighteen wins and four defeats. After winning their first two games, Frankfort upset the applecart by defeating the Kubs, 30-28, in a nip-and-tuck battle all the way. The Kubs then clipped an eleven-game winning streak including a win over the once victorious Frankfort team. The Kub cagers then dropped their next three games to Muncie, Tech, and Marion but climbed back on the victory wagon to win their last game with New Castle.

This group is the backbone of the future Wildcat teams, and with more practice and experience, KHS will surely not be disappointed.

These reserves won eighteen games.
First Row: Chuck Fuller, Steve Wood, Don Campbell, Kenny Summers, and Dave Minor.

THE KOKOMO NINE COACHED BY PLATT

In his second year as head coach of KHS's baseball team, Coach Joe Platt compiled a season record of 7 wins and 6 defeats. Three veterans combined with capable underclassmen to form an impressive team that took 7th place in the NCC.

In their opener, the Kats were plagued by costly errors and were defeated by North Manchester. Bill Moloch belted a home run to give Kokomo its only run of the game.

Kokomo then suffered a second defeat at the hands of a powerful Logansport team in their first NCC tilt.

The high spot of the season came when the Kat nine broke into the win column by defeating Winamac in a ten-inning game. Virgil Joseph was credited with that win, thus chalking up another victory for his efforts

Bob Linzey, Wildcat pitching ace, then helped the Kat cause along with victories over Frankfort and Anderson. After graduation, Bob signed a contract with the Kokomo Dodgers and pitched for them during the summer months before starting college.

First Row: Mgr. Bob Philapy, Chuck Woolly, Jerry Woodward, Mike Hickman, Tom Swing, Chuck Fuller, Charles Helvig.

Second Row: Jim Rayl, Bill Moloch, Ralph Herr, Virgil Joseph, Don Howard, Bill Thomison.

Third Row: Coach Joe Platt, Gene Gatman, David Tigrett, Bob Linzey, Kenneth Morgan, Ed Dardin, Fred Dyer, John Gillem, Coach Gene Turner.

OPPOSED THE ODDS WITH BALL AND BAT

As Mike Hickman, catcher, awaited the ball, Virgil Joseph had a different idea and demonstrated his form at the plate.

Kenneth Morgan may not have that Dizzy Dean style perfected yet, but he is still working on it.

While Mike Hickman tries to beat the throw to first, the visiting first baseman waits for the peg, and KHS's first base coach watches the play.

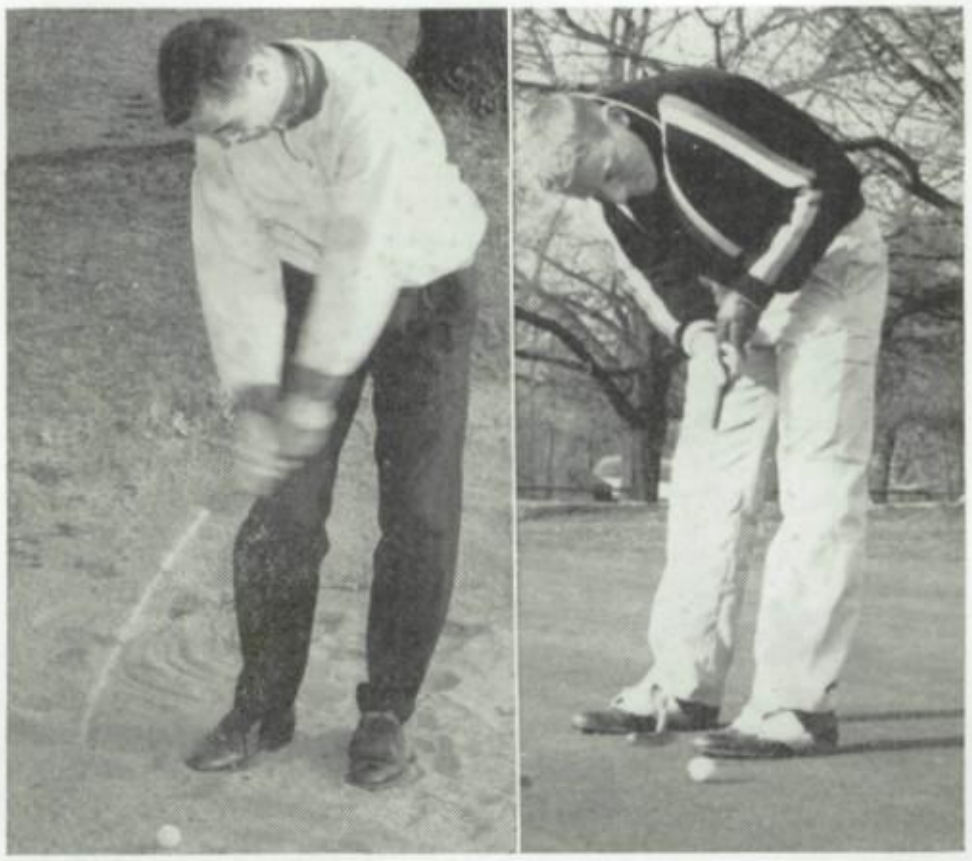
THE GOLF AND TENNIS TEAMS IN THE NCC

NCC Champions! This was the title earned by the KHS Golf team. The squad coached by Russell Bratton, was composed of Jerry Jackson, David Grant, Jerry Ousley, Joe Klein, and Ben Ervington.

The linksmen competed in eight two-way matches and succeeded in winning six. They also locked clubs in four three-way matches and came out on the long end with seven wins and one defeat.

Jerry Ousley remembers when he saved the day by sinking a twenty-foot putt on the eighteenth green against Logansport. Against Tech, Ben Ervington demonstrated the power of a professional as he slammed a two-hundred sixty yard drive on the sixteenth hole. Jerry Jackson and David Grant excelled on the eighteenth hole, when both of their wedge shots just missed the pin by inches in the conference warm-up against Muncie.

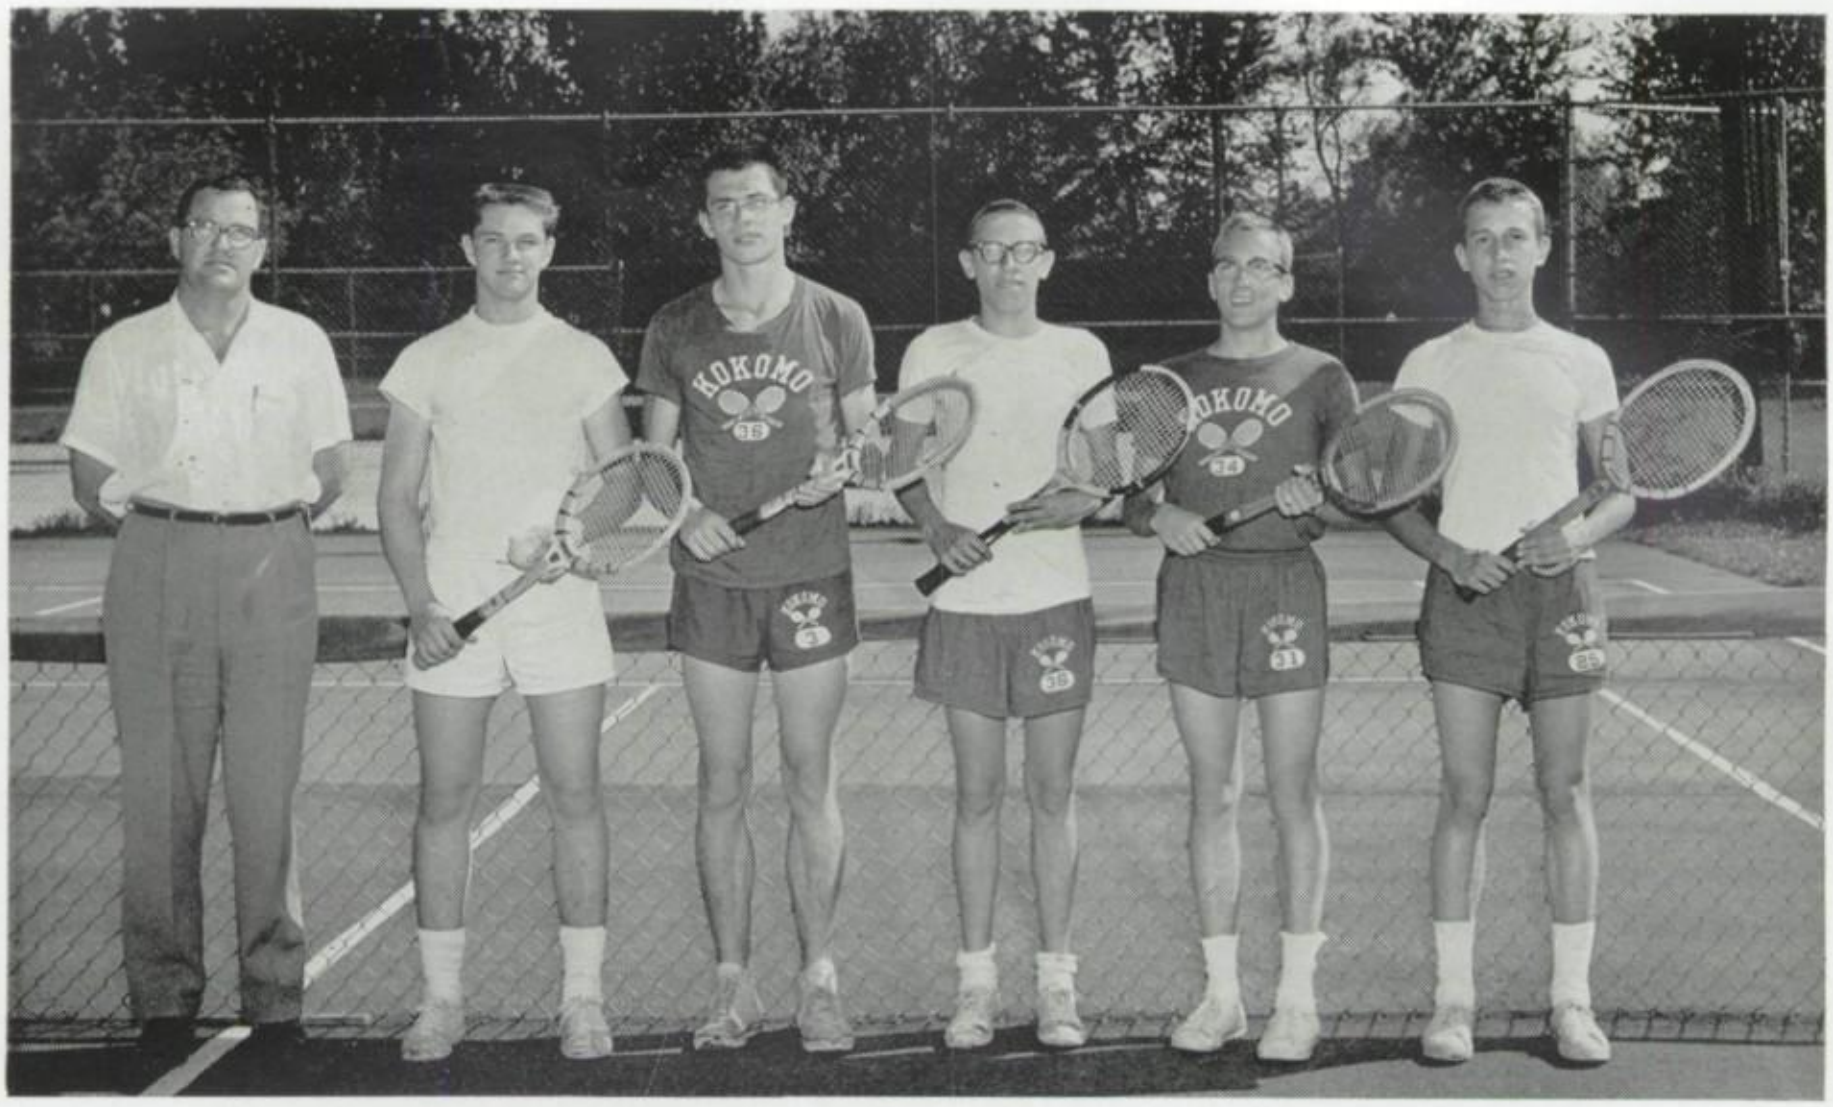
Aided by the consistency of Joe Klein, they finished first in the NCC meet at Muncie, first in the Sectional at Fort Wayne, and sixteen in the State tournament at Indianapolis.



Jerry Ousley (left) battles his way out of a sand trap while Joe Klein (right), sitting pretty on the green, aims at the cup.

KHS golfers teed off at an even stride and swung their way to an NCC championship. They were David Grant, Dean Wilson, Cliff Scheck, David Miner, Coach Russell Bratton, Ben Ervington, Jerry Jackson, Dave Ousley, and Joe Klein.

TOOK FIRST AND SECOND RESPECTIVELY



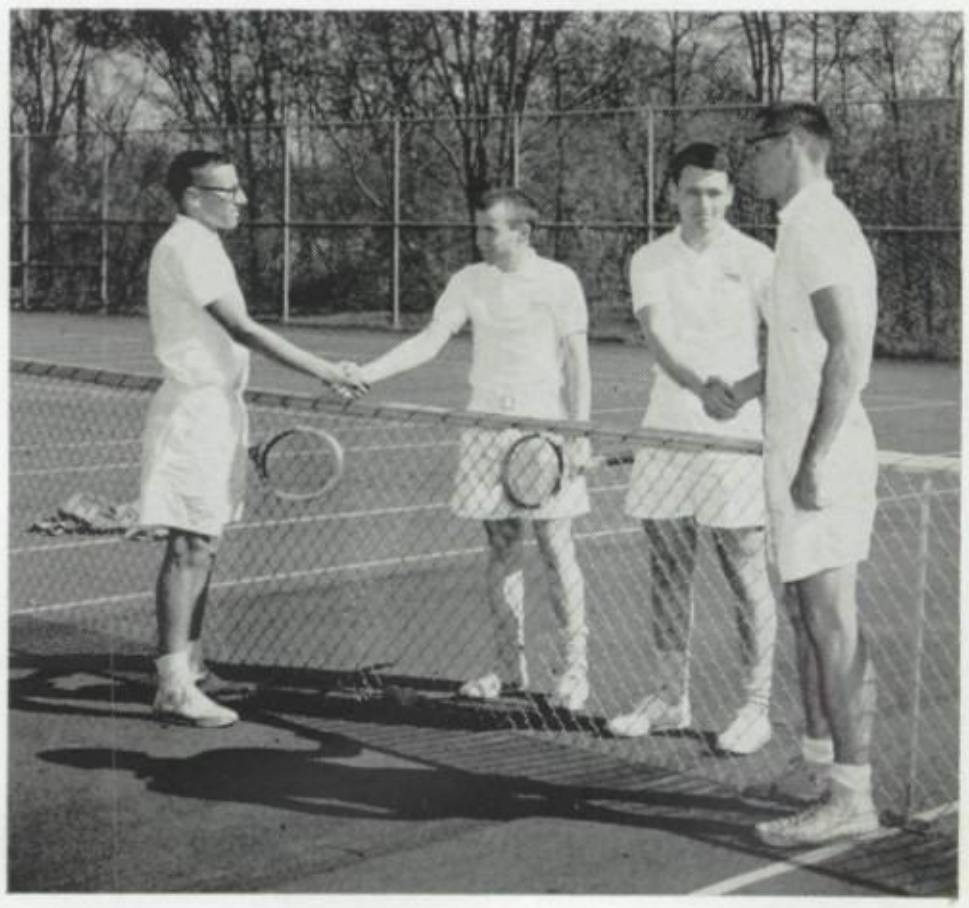
A fast serve and a strong backhand overpowered the opponents of the KHS tennis squad composed of Coach Bob Hamilton, Lance Middlekauf, Paul Cossell, David Standt, John Hutto, and David Briney.

The tennis team experienced a fine season under the leadership of Coach Bob Hamilton. The netmen breezed by several NCC teams to cop a tie for second place. In the match with Tech, Kokomo was forced to forfeit after fourth man, David Avery, broke his ankle and was unable to finish the set. The team record was eight wins, one loss, and one tie. Frankfort was the one conqueror over the Kats as the Hot Dogs came through with a one point edge.

The team also participated in the Muncie Burris Invitational tournament. John Hutto brought home first place in the fifth man division while other team members turned in commendable performances.

Coach Hamilton was expecting great things out of returning first man, Paul Cossell, who was slated possibly to be top man all over the state. Other members of the varsity were David Standt, Lance Middlekauff, and David Briney. All varsity members returned for the spring of 1958 and were favorites in NCC competition.

Dave Standt and Paul Cossell met their opponents before the Tech match.



WARM AIR AND SUNSHINE BRINGS

Coach Bob Bushong's cinder men boasted a very fine season record last year. They won all of their dual meets with one exception.

In the first meet against Tipton, the Kats' attack was led by Russ Bergman, who turned in a fine 20.5 in the low hurdles, and Brian Cossell, who leaped to 5′ 11″ as our high jump entry. Steve Overton and Dave Ingle also turned in fine performances. The track team then traveled to Marion to win their first conference meet. Charles Kraner threw his best shotput mark of 42′ 3″ at this meet. Ed Payton also did exceptionally well for himself and the team. The defeated Muncie Bearcats must have thrown a scare into Bill Stifle, who sprinted off for a 10.1 second, hundred-yard dash. The team was also assisted by Bob Tinder in this battle. The team was then snowed under by Indianapolis Tech despite the vault record made by Steve Overton of 11′ 10″. To make the meet very close, Bob Fell also turned in a fine record. When the Kats invaded Fort Wayne, Lynn Davenport broke the 440 yarn in 52.4 seconds and finished with time to spare. Among the other meets that Kokomo participated in were the Hoosier Relays, the Muncie and Kokomo Relays, and the NCC Track and Field Meet.

Finishing a half of a point out of third place in the NCC were these Wildcat thinlies.

First Row: Jim Main, Steve Overton, Tom Beety, Dick Campbell, Dick Beck, Tom Cestare, Brian Cossell, and Mgr. Ray Klingensmith.

WORK-OUTS FOR THE CINDER KINGS

In the Hoosier Relays, Jim Main shone with an excellent broad jump of 21′ 11½″. Kokomo followed Muncie, Richmond, and Terre Haute Garfield in the Muncie Relays, and then went on to place fourth again in the NCC Track and Field events.

The team was victorious in their last meet against Culver as Dick Campbell used the wings on his feet to glide around the cinder oval, stopping the clock at two minutes 3.6 seconds in the 880-yard run.

This was Coach Bushong's record year as head coach, and we wish him the best of luck with his squad next year. But until that time arrives, we will leave our exhausted cinder men to rest.

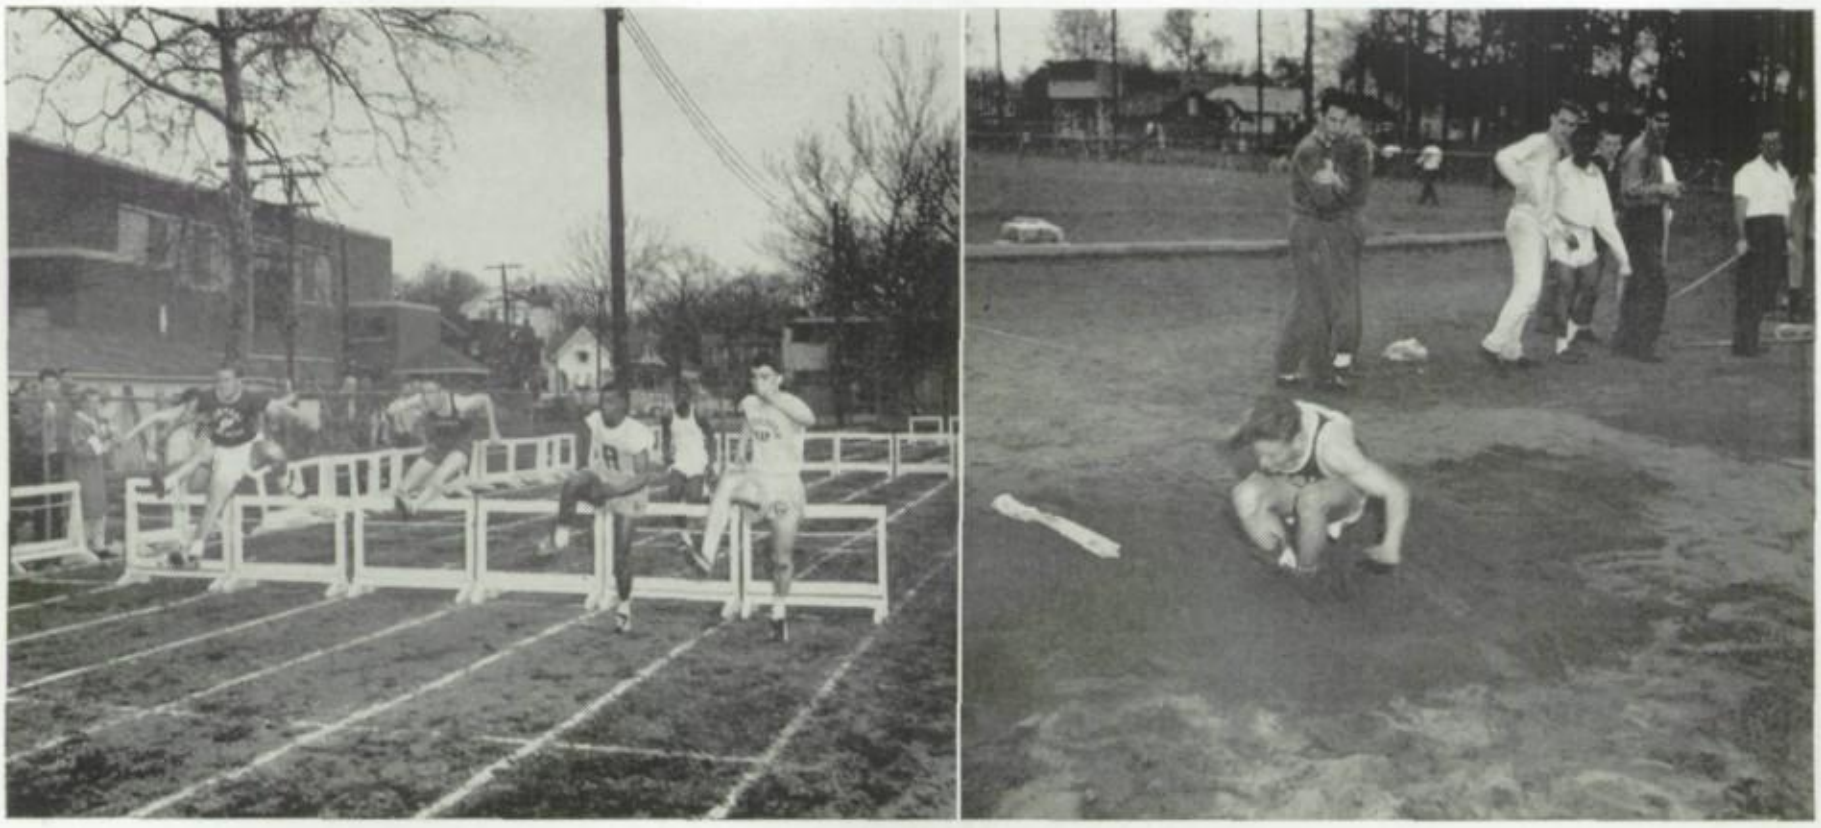
Tom Cestare passed the baton to Chuck Wells in the mile relay (left). Meanwhile the field events were still going strong as Joe Granson tried for a better mark when he tossed the shot-put (right).

AND NOW WE LEAVE THE RUNNERS THIN



The hurdles race was well under way when Kokomo's Russ Bergman was hidden from the camera's eye by a visiting runner just a stride ahead (left). "Fair jump!" exclaimed the official as Jim Main strained every muscle to win (right).

Mr. Chester Hill crowned Jayne Murray Queen of the 1958 Kokomo Relays while members of the court Carolyn Davis, Mary Davis, Nora Scott, and Jill Humphrey looked on.

FOR THE SIDE OF SPORTS MORE FEMININE

Stcerike! The pins crashed when the Girls Athletic Association took over a local bowling alley. Rolling here were Johelen Harrison, Nancy Turnbull, Pat Hunt, and Susan Pancoast.

Every Monday afternoon excited voices could be heard echoing from the girls' Gym. What was this confusion? It was the Girls' Athletic Association, of course, playing an invigorating game of either basketball, volleyball, deck tennis, or even badminton. The GAA played all of these besides engaging in bowling and softball.

With the fine assistance of the sponsors, Miss Imogene Winslow and Mrs. Marilyn Friedrick, the girls held an all-day badminton clinic on Saturday, January 18. Girls from several schools joined KHS girls in learning the skills and techniques of badminton. In turn our girls also visited other schools for many other playdays and clinics.

The annual Mother-Daughter Reception brought the year to a successful close. After working very hard the whole year, the girls received their reward in the form of GAA pins, emblems, and K's.

Girls joined by mutual athletic zeal participated in year around sports in the Girls' Athletic Association.

Second Row: Del Sullivan, Sue Hall, Marjorie Wallsmith, Carol Helvig, Pat Schafer, Betty Hamilton, Beverly Pratt, Barbara White.

Third Row: Susan Pancoast, Delores Perkins, Jo Ellen Harrison, Sandy Fewell, Rita McEntee, Nancy Thurston, Sue Burnett.

FRIENDS

Bobby Baugher and Bob Ferguston illustrate the big differences that occur in the freshman class. But, even so, they have many problems in common. Here in the Dean of Boys' office they are talking to Carol Finley, one of the student assistants, who is trying to help them solve some of those weighty freshman problems.

SIGNS OF A NEW LOOK

Golly! It's so big! This was the freshmen's first thought. Even though they were in a daze the first few days, looking for right rooms, working locker combinations, hunting the right stairs, cafeteria, and oh, so many other things that one looks for in high school, they finally found where a FEW of the things were.

During the year they added many new things to their horizon, attended club meetings, Dramatic Club and Thespian Society plays, semi-formal dances, the Hullabaloo, and met new friends and teachers.

The freshman class was well represented this year. Their representatives to Girls' League were Bonnie Fawcett and Joellen Hardy. The representatives on the Boys' Legion Board of Directors were Bob Cameron, Gary Glover, and Ronnie Hughes. Those who went to the Student Council meetings were Barbara Allen, Robert Barlow, Bob Brinson, Jerry Chism, Sue Dahlquist, Joe Dunbar, Karen Frazer, Joellen Hardy, Bill Hillman, Jill Humphrey, Tim Knapp, Linda Miller, Rita Neher, Jody Russell, Robert Saunders, Vicky Smith, Ruth Trueblood, Ellen Wenger, and Prudy Wilkinson.

The freshmen had lots of fun this year, and we hope they will enjoy their remaining years at Kokomo High School. Best of luck to the class of "61."

Along with all the fun and laughter they experienced, the eager sophomores learned to open their minds to the challenge of knowledge in order to gain a wiser look. Kenny Summers, Jack Hcflin, and Tom Morr found that learning can be fun as they worked together to make their study hours more profitable.

SIGNS OF A WISER LOOK

After the bewilderment and thrills of their freshman year, the sophomores settled down to the routine of life at KHS. Their active days and nights were filled with vigorous studying, many dates, busy meetings, and loads of fun.

The school activities this year had many competent sophomore members displaying their fine abilities. The girls wisely chose Barbara Bitner and Barbara Carlson to represent them on the Girls' League Council.

The sophomore boys who endeavored to make this years Boys' Legion the most successful were Don Campbell, Steve Wood, and Jack Heflin.

The well qualified representatives to Student Council were Judy Aldridge, Jackie Bertram, Barbara Carlson, Wendall Covalt, Patricia Davis, Myra Fisher, Sharon Grist, Harry Huffman, Carole Johnson, Ray Klingensmith, Ginger Lewis, Bonnie Maxwell, Jayne Murray, Dick Payton, Tanya Reynolds, Merita Stevenson, Miriam Stoner, Sarah Wells, and Judy West.

The junior class chose David Long, president; Jane Miller, vice-president; Maureen Dalzell, secretary; and Sharon Wright, treasurer; to lead them through an active and exciting year.

SIGNS OF THE NEW LEADERS

With two happy years behind them the class of 1959 entered hopefully into their junior year. They were faced with new responsibilities and decisions. Among them were which class ring to choose, who would lead the class, what kind of theme to use for the Junior-Senior Reception, and when to try for those important driver's licenses.

To help guide them through the year the girls chose Sharon Wright and Carol King to represent them on the Girls' League Council; and the boys chose Ralph Herr, John Gillem, and Steve Overton to represent them on the Boys' Legion Board of Directors.

The juniors who attended the Student Council meetings this year were Ron Baber, Nellie Buckley, Barbara Clingenpeel, Connie Colter, Joyce Eisinger, Connie Garbert, Myron Henry, Robert Hudson, Carol King, Mike Maher, Jane Miller, David Peters, Sandy Robinson, Kay Scott, Paul Stanley, Marabeth Webb, and Sharon Wright.

The teachers who wisely advised the juniors this year were Mr. Robert Barngrover, Mr. Wilson Corn, Mrs. Mary Crook, Mrs. Louie Blanche Greenlee, Mrs. Jane Hall, Mr. Earl Hoover, Mrs. Jane Jones, Mr. Paul Kendall, Mr. Charles Klinger, Mrs. Audra Lindley, Mr. Ed Maddox, Mr. Allen Moore, Mrs. Geraldine Philapy, Mr. Ed Phillips, and Mr. David Reeve.

Throughout the year the juniors gained a great deal of KHS know-how. They have shown that they have an excellent ability to guide their class, and they are fully prepared to face their senior year and take over as the new leaders. The Class of 1959 is waiting with anticipation to prove themselves able leaders for next year.

Choosing name cards always takes a great deal of time. Here the senior class officers, Mike Hickman, president; Bill Stifle, vice-president; Vicky Carnes, secretary; and Linda Moss, treasurer; look over the large selection of name cards and choose the ones they like best.

SIGNS OF A HAPPY TOMORROW

Those carefree days have drawn to a close. The reminiscent seniors look back over their four colorful years in KHS and regret that they have had to leave its happy halls. The seniors will always look back with joyful hearts at those four years, but especially at their tremendous senior year.

To help make their last year so great, the senior girls chose Barbara Ehrman and Janet Fawcett to represent them on the Girls' League Council. The boys elected Lynn Davenport, Walt Ligon, and Fred Preston to sit in on the meetings of the Boys' Legion Board of Directors.

Those seniors who took their ideas to the Student Council meetings this year were Pat Adair, Sara Brown, Dick Chegar, Carol Coe, Ben Ervington, Sandy Gardineer, Mike Hickman, Nancy Maher, Roger Masquelette, Barbara Mitzelfelt, Fred Preston, Sara Shuss, Sue Stratford, Bill Trownsell, and Bob White.

With so many activities, it took a great deal of advice and supervision to carry the seniors through the year. Those teachers who gave their time and assistance were Mr. Charles Franklin, Miss Helen Kay, Mrs. Mildred Kern, Mr. Charles Lester, Mr. Fred Mustard, Miss Lyla Sill, and Mr. Earl Wilson.

As the Class of 1958 leaves the halls of KHS, it enters into a busy world. These seniors are ready to face the future and stand on their own two feet. A great deal depends on them, for they are the good citizens of tomorrow.

Convocations brought many important people before the KHS students this year. One of these distinguished guests was Senator Homer Capehart who described his recent trip to Russia. In an informal chat in the Social Studies lab after the program, Senator Capehart (center) answered some the the questions of Joe Phillips, Mrs. John Fell, Janet Hines, Bert Fridlin, Scott Thatcher, Jim Ayers, and Bob Philapy; and they became better acquainted with our own Indiana Congressman.

BROUGHT US DOWN TO EARTH AGAIN.

May I have one of your pictures? How about a name card? This chatter rang through the halls as seniors displayed smiling pictures and neat name cards. Marcia Winslow, Dick Allsing, Vicky Carnes, David Needham, and Ruth Ann Pine learned the rules of exchange as they traded pictures and name cards to add to their collections.
